vember 30, 1901

Corps showed he of the longs. He TT as ry Depart-amination was or-sory Department, alle, ordered that t back on the next t mer, the Etruria,

Saturday, November 30 1901

survive, and so very similar in the cumstances and the sameness of ex-

OBITUARY NOTICES.

mer, the bitruria, oblin, a lawyer, of ved in New York ad obtained writ He called upon Long Island Col-tere he is kept as ient. From his learned that there examination. Al-n, dated at four atternoon, told of examination, told of examination, told of examination, told of that specimens of not taken until six hort taken until six hort taken until six to taken until of argument when he past ten o'clock, tes Circuit Court, sect that his of approperly excluded aproperly excluded ress under which ded was passed on was designed to ountry idiots, in-aupers, criminals, become a public ons suffering from dangerous conta-

n," said Mr. To-that the majority lo not regard conlo not regard con-gious. I called A. Knopf, of this uthor of the art-sis in Twentieth He takes the po-nary tuberculosis Dr. Knopf told titally the same by such aminget the same h eminent by such eminent T. Mitchell Pru M. Biggs and Dr

ay." ay." ed for a few days Mission, at No, 7 then went to Phi-urned to this city ntion room at Elthe Commissioner was said that, un-ruling, there was e but to deport

IBALTH.

l Dangerous to the Very Trying hers.

es not look for-o the time when hing? At that bing? At that iss, feverish and quently there is the bowels and rilitle sufferer is first battles in pain, and if no vercome, helps the little she can, and the been most suc-ect have found ablets give just ablets give just the little one . Wright, Brock-we used Baby's frequently, and ith them. I find ith them. I find isfactory during have used them iting, in colic, in the disorders of owels usually ac-seness and fever. Tablets has al-could be desircould be desir-ets are a sweet, age that all chil-ily. They can be d in water and afety to even the aranteed to con-v of the poison-te the so-called pressed.

From time to time I have been requested by friends to write out par-agraphs for the press, descriptive of a wedding, or some other event of similar importance to the family; but more frequently has it fallen to involution of the other statistics, which would prove more irritating than soothing, and would tend more to stamp the some. To my mind there is nothing in all the range of journafism so difficult to satisfactorily compose as an obituary. This may sound strange to the person who has had but very rare occasions to lament the deaths of near and dear ones husband), or an idolized child; you are at once anxious to convey the appression of your sympathy to tell how you participate in the sorrow, to make your friend feel that your heart beats in harmony with his, or hers, under the cloud of bereave-ment that has arisen. It is very easy to take pen and paper, and sit down to write that letter. But how are you going to express your feel-ings? You do not want to intrude upon your friend's hour of sorrow but very rare occasions to lament the deaths of near and dear ones; but when one individual is obliged but when one individual is obliged to pen paragrophs about all man-ner of people, priests and laymen, prominent citizens and humble la-borers, old men whose lives 'have outnumbered the allotted years of man and young men whose feet have scarcely entered upon the avenue of life, mothers of whose children's children gather around other tiers in sorrow, and bright, promising girls whose young lives have been the cousolation and the hope of their ared parents, hushands who have ings? You do not want to intrude upon your friend's hour of sorrow with a long epistle, full of protest-ations of coholence-you know that the time is not suited for aught of the kind. On the other hand you fear that a short note would ap-pear too formal, and might cause your friend to rank you with ordi-nary acquaintances, whose words of sympathy are often a mere mat-ter of politeness, or courtey. Then the consolation and the hope of their aged parents, hustands who have been snatched away in their prime leaving widows and tiny children to mourn their loss, and wives, almost brides, who have been taken from their tender husbands and depend-ant infants,-when, week after week arise cases, so very different in de-tails, yet so very similar in the be-reavements, the lonelinesses, the heart-breaks caused to those who survive, and so very similar in the bors. of sympathy are often a mere mat-ter of politeness, or courtesy. Then again, if you are silent, and do not write at all, your friend might im-pute an entirely wrong motive to your course, and believe you indif-ferent and heartless. On the whole, you know, in your soul, that no maker what you write, your friend is aware that no words can convey your true sentiments. In presence of all these contingencies. I now ask you; 'how would write that letter survive, and so very similar in the one eternal routine of agony, de-parture, funeral, burial, and too frequently subsequent oblivion, it becomes a matter of the most ex-treme difficulty to avoid repeating the same comments, and yet suiting the tribute to the wishes and senti-ments of the immediately interest-ed. As I glance over the daily pa-pers and count the vast number of oblituaries that appear each week I am astonished at the variety of cir-cumstances and the sameness of exyou; "how would write that letter of condolence?" To say the least, of condolence?" To say the least, it would give you subject for seri-ous reflection, and if such is the case, when you have only an ordi-hary letter to a friend to write, how much more embarrassing must it not be when it is a tribute to be, read by thousands that has to be written ?

BY OUR CURBSTONE OBSERVER.

Allow me to relate an incident that took place several years ago. An old man, a real pioneer, a pa-triot of the stormy days of '37 and '38. died at the age of 92, in a vil-lage not far from Montreal. His wife, now 88 years of age, still sur-vives him. His sons are men ad-vanced in life and prominent in busi-mess circles. One is a rich merchant, or store-keeper in Montreal; the other, a highly educated man, who once intended to become a priest, felt it a duty to look after his aged parents, and to them he consecrat-ed his life. On the death"of the old gentleman I took the liberty of writing a somewhat elaborate obi-tuary, to which I added some verses of an "In memoriam" character. Before sending this notice, or sketch to the press, I allowed the son to loo' over it, expecting that he might find some deta's of facts to correct, or amend. The next day he came to me and said : "If you please One can readily conceive how in each particular case, the immediate relatives of the lamented deceased could tell exactly what would be most acceptable as a tribute to his or her memory. But it is entirely different when it comes to an entire stranger attempting to give fitting expression to scatiments entertained expression to sentiments entertained by those who were, in life, most closely attached to the one departclosely attached to the one depart-ed. A writer may possess the envi-able faculty of entering into the spirit of others and placing himself, for the time being, in their position, feel, as it were, all that they natu-rally experience. But even that uni-versality of sentiment falls short of the required intensity when applied in a special case. I can fully appre-ciate the sorrow of a young family for a beloved and cherished mother: but I cannot be expected, in each infor a beloved and cherished mother; but I cannot be expected, in each in-dividual at istance, especially when I never knew the deceased personal-ly, to have that intense grief which alone can suggest expressions in ac-cord with the bereavement of those children. Yet, I am expected "to do justice," as the saying goes, to the subject; and to write an obituary paragraph, or column, as the case may be, which will contain every-thing that the members of that same family would wish to have ex-pressed. correct, or amend. The next day he came to me and said : "If you please came to me and said ."If you please we will keep this obituary as a sou-venir of our good father; we 'will treasure it in our family archives. But we prefer not to have it pub-lished."I asked him why. He said: "It is too good for the circum-stances. Of course, it is all very true; but our father's position in life was too humble to allow of such a biographical sketch. Had he been known in the great world of poli-conferring on him the gift of mir-acles. He died while hearing Mass. At the Gloria in excelsis he was seen to structh out his arms in the form of a cross; in this attitude he calmly expired.—Cathelic Record, Louisville.

THE TRUE WITNESS AND CATE ILIC CHRUNICLE

CATHOLICITY IN THE AUSTRALIAN COLONIES.

A correspondent writing from New Zealand to several American Catholic newspapers gives the following interesting sketch of Catholic progress made in the Australian Col-onies during the last half of the past century. "True indeed," he says, "it had been a hard struggle during many years for the pricets and people. The Catholics were, comparatively speaking, the poorest section of the community and whilst many of the non-Catholic denomin-ations, with the encouragement of governors and government officials when the various states which now comprise the Commonwealth of Aus-tralia were Crown Colonies were gress made in the Australian coltralia were Crown Colonies were able to secure ample endowments of able to secure ample endowments of land for church and schoal purposes, the Catholic body had practically to commence at the very beginning and purchase sites for churches and schools, build these and then pay for the education of their own chil-dren, while at the same time they had to contribute through the me-dium of general taxation to the dium of general taxation to the education of the children of their more wealthy non-Catholic neigh-

Last year there were in these col-onies nearly 800 Catholic primary schools, with an attendance of about 112 000 shild an Near of it control schools, with an attendance of about 113,000 children. Now as it costs the state close on $25 per head to educate children in the public schools, it will be seen at a glance that the Catholic body saves the taxpayers of the Australian Colôn-ies over half a million sterling per annum by educating their own chil-dren. But this is only a tithe af what our co-religionists are doing for the cause of education. They have 130 boarding schools for girls, 160 superior day schools, in addi-160 superior day schools, in addi-tion to orphanages of various kinds where the waifs and strays and the where the waifs and strays and the homeless and neglected are trained to be useful members of society. The charitable institutions of all kinds, including Magdalen homes, hospitals, hospices for incurables, asylums for the deaf and dumb and foundling homes number seventy. foundling homes, number seventy-five. Higher education is also well provided for, each of the ecclesiasprovided for, each of the ecclesias-tical provinces having two or more of such institutions within its bord-ers. Sydney has 8, Melbourne 5, Adelaide 2, Queensland 3, and New Zealand 2. In addition to these there are seminaries and ecclesiasti-cal colleges in various centres where those who are blessed with a voca-tion are educated for the priest-hood. St. Patrick's ecclesiastical college in the archdiocese of Sydney has been built and equipped at a cost of close on $350,000.

In judging of our progress in these colonies the fact should not be lost sight of that what we have done is the work of the past fifty years or so. Until then the Church might be said to have been, figuratively s eak-ing, in the catacombs. Until the middle of the last century, that is within the memory of many of our old settlers, it was practically a old settlers, it was practically a struggle for existence outside one or struggle for existence outsice ore or two of the principal centres. Had we, like the other denominations, sacrificed our conscientious convic-tions and sent our children to the public schools, what immense sures of money would have been available for church building all over the col-onies. During the last fifty years we must have spent many millions in the building and maintenance of our primary schools. In one arch-

not confined to building churches and schools, for on all sides we see hospitals, homes and asylums con-ducted by devoted religious for the reception of those who stand in need of corporal or spiritual minis-tration. Take the archdiocese of Sydney with its Catholic population of 150,000 and see what has been done there in half a century by way of works of charity. There are six byphanages, one reformatory, two industrial schools and homes for isarning trades, fever hospitals, one of which, has accommodation for over 220 patients, one sanatorium, one hospice for the dying, one foundling hospital, one home for the aged poor, one home for the blind, two Magdalen retreats, one servants' home, one home for men-tal invalids, one night refuge, and a home for aged and infirm priests. Similar work is being done in other centres, those afflicted in hody or mind, those who have strayed from the paths of virtue, those who have heen dealt with unkindly by f-rune in their declining years, are tonded and cared for and nursed by comconfined to building churches schools, for on all sides we see been dealt with unkindly by f-rtune in their declining years, are tended and cared for and nursed by com-munities of religious who inve been very aptly styled "God's Army of Charity." During the arst three years of the episcopate of Cardinal Moran eight religious ord-rs, yere introduced and nearly $1,500,000 expended in religious and rate, years in the archdiocze of Sydney, and this, too, in a period of financial depression.

NOTES FOR THE HOUSEHOLD

DOMESTIC TRAINING -Accord ing to the Detroit "News-Tribune." the establishment of housekeeping schools throughout the cities and towns is beginning to show good retowns is beginning to show good re-sults. Teaching of housework has become a branch of many education-al institutions, and especially is this favored by girls who know that they will take up this work for a living, and wish to be able to do it well. Many a woman who is the wife of a workingman sees the folly of not having thoroughly learned the intricacies of housework in girl-hood, and glad is she to have her daughter escape some of the pit-falls which has best her way in the home. One great trouble in our homes i

One great trouble in our homes is that we put untrained girls into the kitchen and expect them to accom-plish first-class work, and cook our food in a first-class manner. It has been said again and again, that in no other profession does the em-ployer expect his employees to do good work without first learning. Of course if a cirl has a mother Of course, if a girl has a mother who is an excellent housekeeper, she who is an excellent housekeeper, she may begin her education at so early an age, that she hardly knows when it commences, and is thus doubly fortunate in her education and in the vital interest taken in her pro-gress by her teacher. Then again, many women seem to expect a maid to know everything, while at the same time she is not able to direct the work because of her own ignorance regarding house-

able to direct the work because of her own ignorance regarding house-keeping. This is a deplorable situ-ation. Every woman who enters a home of her own should know how to govern and direct that home. She should understand every branch of housework and be quite capable of teaching a maid how to do the work, from the cooking of a potato to the ironing of the finest bit of lingerie. If there were more good housekeepers among mistress three housekeepers among mistresses there would be less trouble with domestic help, and housekeeping schools are moving the situation in the right direction.

PERSONAL NEATNESS. - If girls could once fully appreciate the almost dazzling enhancement their natural charm which is produced by radiant, fragmat neat-ness, they would fairly walk with peas in their shoes to sceure it, if it could not be obtained in any other way, is the excellent sugges-tion offered by a friend of young women, and which is quite applica-

FREE BOOK ON STOMACH TROUBLES.

The reason Ir. Sproule's book is plain is because he understands his subject thoroughly. It is his spe-cialty. The book is the result of eighteen years of experience and of hearly 38,000 successfully treated cases. His repeated successes in cases where all other doctors had failed have proved that his method of treatment is the only one suit-able for long-standing and stubborn troubles of the stoimach, or digest-ive apparatus. ive apparatus.

In his book this famous Specialist

In his book this famous Specialist and great hearted philanthropist gives you the benefit of all his years of toil and research. He realizes how much dreadful suffering of mind as well as boly are caused by these and more painful and spreads until it affects the liver and bowels also, weakens the blood and poisons and irritates the nerves. He describes the dreadful gnawing sensation that so often comes, the musea, the increasing weakness, the irregularities of the bowels, the poor skin, bad blood, weak nerves, the tired, exhausted feelings, mental depres-pression, pain and palpitation of the heart; any one or all of which are likely to appear as the result of neglected or wrongly treated disease of the stomach.

It explains so any one can understand why ordinary treatments are so often followed by failure, and how simple and easy is the right method. If you or any friend of yours are suffering from

DISEASE OF THE STOMACH Dr. Sproule Will Send You This Book Free.

This book was written for you. It is fully illustrated at great ex-pense, so that you cannot fail to understand. Nothing has been spared to make this book a real help to discouraged humanity. Dr. Sproule's deep love and thorough sympathy with all who suffer have made him gladly give up not only money and his spare minutes during the day, but often his much needed rest at night. For years he has had this book in mind, planning how he could most clearly teach the people of this great continent the truths they so much needed to know and which no one else could tell them. And now he offer you this book with the earnest wish that it may be the me ans of bringing help and encourage-ment to many among his poor, down-hearted, almost hopeless fellow beings.

beings. If you have any trouble with your digestion, any pains, bloating, belching or variable appetite, don't neglect yourself. Send for this book. It will explain your trouble and prove the means of leading you back to PERFECT HEALTH.

Address Catarrh Specialist Sproule, 7 to 13 Doane Street, Rostor

SOCIETY DIRECTORY.

A.O.H. LADIES' AUXILIARY, DI- |ST. ANN'S YOUNG MEN'S SOCIE-A.O.H. LADIES' AUXILIART, Di-vision No. 5. Organized Oct. 10th, 1901. Meeting are held on 1st Sunday of every month, at 4 p.m.; and 3rd Thuraday, at 8 p.m. Miss Annie Donovan, president; Mrs. Sarah Allen, vice-president; Miss Nora Kavanaugh, recording-secre-tary, 155 Inspector street; Miss Emma Doyle, financial-secretary; Miss Charlotte Sparks, treasurer. Rev. Father McGrath, chaplain.

ST. PATRICK'S SOCIETY.-Estab-lished March 6th, 1856, incorpor-ated 1863, revised 1864. Meets in St. Patrick's Hall, 92 St. Alexander street, first Monday of the month. Committee meets last Wee nesday. Officers : Rev. Director Rev. J. Quinlivan, P.P. President Rev. J. Guinivan, P.J. President Wm. E. Doran; Ist Vic?, T. J O'Neill; 2nd Vice, F. Casey; Treasurer, John O'Leary: Corresponding Secretary, F. J. Curran B, C.L.; Recording-Secretary, T. P Tangari, T. P. Tansey

A O.H., DIVISION NO. 8, meets on the first and third Wednesday the first and third Wednesday of each month, at 1863 Notre Dame street, near McGill. Officers : Al-derman D. Gallery, M.P., Presi-dent; M. McCarthy, Vice-President; Fred. J. Devlin. Rcc-Secretary. 1528F Ontario street, L. Brophy Treasurer; John Hughes, Financial Secretary, 65 Young street; M. Fennel, Chairman Standing Com-mittee; John O'Donnell, Marshal.

ST. ANN'S T. A. & B. SOCIETY. established 1863.—Rev. Director, Rev. Father Flynn. President, D. Gallery, M.P.; Sec., J. F. Quinn, 625 St. Dominique street: M. J. Ryan, treasurer 18 St. Augustin street. Meets on the second Sunday of every month, in St. Ann's

TY organized 1885.—Meets in its hall, 157 Ottawa street. on the first Sunday of each month, at 2.30 p.m. Spiritual Adviser, Rev. E. Strubbe, C.S.S.R.; President, D. J. O'Neill; Secretary, J. Murrav; Delegates to St. Patrick's Leagues J. Whitty, D. J. O'Neill and M.

T. ANTHONY'S COURT, C. O. F., meets on the second and fourth Friday of every month in their hall, corner Seigneurs and Notre Dame streets. A. T. O'Connell, C., R., T. W. Kane, secretary.

ST. PATRICK'S T. A. & B. SO-CLETY.-Meets on the second Sun-day of every month in St. Pat-rick's Hall, 92 St. Alexander St., immediately after Vespers. Com-mittee of Management meets in same hall the first Tuesday of every month at S Dm. Rev. Father Memonth at 8 p.m. Rev. Father Mo-Grath, Rev. President ; James J. Costigan, 1st Vice-President; Jno. P. Gunning, Secretary, 716 St. An-toine street, St, Henri.

C.M.B.A. of CANADA, BRANCH 26,-(Organized, 13th November. 1883.-Branch 26 meets at St. Patrick's Hall, 92 St. Alexander St., on every Monday of each month. The regular meetings for the transaction of business are held on the 2nd and 4th Mondays of each month, at 8 p.m. Applicants for membership or any one desired to a information regarding the Branch may communicate with the follow, ing officers : Frank J. Curran, B. C.L., President: P. J. McDonash, Becording Secretary, Boht Was, dangerous to litnot find Baby's your druggist's, be Dr. Williams' wille, Ont., and ou by mail post-

-To be healthy and disease is, of ten, our pun-discretion or exe ill it is part buth which we overy, whether neumonia, is ac-tenuous effort of arefore, a waste ife. avoid illness is simply, with a d persons alone eccentric. every twenty-

every twenty-

you work and people, even think they are deas, have any nat ventilation my voice was in the world I ow wide open. r, and never way. into your list , have the good either pleasure f what you re-that line, and life-simplify it brings worry, main enemy of -the one field-es more to de-d happiness of ther. plensant place, within your it People.

nantle of our one else, how

There same shory that is to be drawn, the same project of the same sympathy to be drawn, the same prayers to be offered, the same sympathy to be tracificat. Multiply explaining the life out of the same story that is to the total and the same of the detail. There is the same brayers to be offered, the same prayers to be offered. Hence, I repeat, the data to the triumph of Oatholicity is the total value is and value offered. Hence, I repeat, the cologizing Catholic Details of the same story that is to the total value offered. Hence, I repeat, the total total to the same of the details to the total value is and value offered. Multiply explaining the life out of the same story that is to the total value offered. Multiply explained to the triumph of Oatholicity is the the advance of the offered. Hence, I repeat, the cologizing Catholic Details offered the work offered the value offered the is always minimizing Catholic truth and explaining the life out of it to fit the ideas of Protestants or good-for-nothing Catholics like himself.— Catholic Universe.

Then comes in the question of function of the shighly appropriate in one of the ordinary, every day lad the ordinary, every day lad the ordinary, every day lad the son of a very provide the ordinary, every day lad the son of a very provide the ordinary, every day lad the son of a very provide the son of a very son the son of a very provide the son of a very provide the son of a very son the son of a very son the son of a very son the son the son of the vertex would have the son of a very son of the son of the very son of the son o

BUSINESS MEN'S PATRON SAINT.

Our Catholic business men should nave a particular devotion to St. Homobonus, the merchant. The saint's name signifies the Good Man. He was engaged in business in Man. He was engaged in business in Lombardy in the twelfth century. He looked upon his business as an employment given him by God; he regulated all his transactions ec-cording to His haws he abhorred the very shadow of a commercial untruth, injustice or double-dealing. By his great probity he attained to high sanctify. God recompensed him with great success in his business, rewarding his charities by multiply-ing his stock of goods, and even to hand : The results of the New South Wales University Junior Examina-indication of the 690 old passes, height of the 690 old passes, height of the 690 old passes, height of the first of the 690 old passes, height of the first of the 600 old passes, height of the first of the 600 old passes, height of the first of the 600 old passes, height of the first of the 600 old passes, height of the first of the first of the first height of the first of the first of the first height of the first of the first of the first height of the first of the first of the first height of the first of the first of the first height of the first of the first of the first height of the first height of the first of th women, and which is quite applica-ble in its general meaning to all who desire to please. But if neat-ness is admirable in any one, to the young woman it is indispensable. The fairness of youth, particularly feminine youth attraction young woman it is indispensable. The fairness of youth, particularly feminine youth, attracts every eye. When dimmed by mussy har, uncar-defor tech or nails, a skin that shows that 10 minutes in the bath is not a part of the weekly routine, it is as if the perfection of a fine identified of the weekly routine, it is as if the perfection of a fine identified of the weekly routine, it is as if the perfection of a fine identified of the weekly routine, it is as if the perfection of a fine identified of the weekly routine, it is as if the perfection of a fine identified of the weekly routine, it is as if the perfection of a fine identified of the weekly routine, it is as if the perfection of a fine identified of the weekly routine, it is and the hair, constant care of the nails and teeth, and after that, clean, carefully brushed and often renewed clothes. A sitfall of the moment to carefield of the protect delicate ribbous and child protect delicate ribbous and child in the neckbands now enjoy-ing such wide vague. They were to protect delicate ribbous and child from too soon soilling. It is eme tikely that something will have the be devised to protect these, in turn, from too long wearing Missy, rumpled ties, vest fronts, bodires and finery of an / surf, are an abo-mination and should not be format-ness should exturd to this care of bolongings as woll as to their wear-er.

Prayer is the wing wherewith the soul flies to Heaven and meditation the eye with which we see God. -----

The secret of life is not to do what one likes, but to try to like that which one has to do, and one does come to like it—in time.

Many build as cathedrals were built, the part nearest the ground insided, but that part which soars towards Heaven, the turrets and spires, forever incomplete.

Neglect mending a small fault, and t will soon be a great one. The best thing to do is to do well whatever God gives us to do. An evil intention perverts the best actions and makes them sins. and the second second second

An evil intention perverts the best actions, and makes them sins. Before every decisive resolution the dice of death must be thrown. When God leads into deep waters, it is that we may learn to cling to this hand.

Bolfast Ginger Ale, Roda Water, Apple Nettar, Kola, Croam Soda, efe. Note our Trade Mark, the "Banks rock," on every bottle, Ag-ms and Bottlers of the "Beaver Brand" Catedonia Water. ROWAN BROS. & CO., Phone, Main 718. 38; Vollee Stre FRANK J. CURRAN. B. A., B.C.L. ADVOCATE, SAVINGS BANK CHARM 1 50 51. James Street, MONTEBAL.