

NEWS FROM IRELAND.

Dublin.
George Bolton's reinstatement, it appears, is merely nominal. On November 10th, in answer to a question in the House of Commons, Mr. Campbell-Bannerman conveyed the information that Bolton will no longer be specially employed under the Coercion Act.

We deeply regret to announce the death of Rev. T. A. Foran, O. P., which took place at St. Saviour's, Dominick street, Dublin, on November 12th. The reverend gentleman's demise was very sudden, he having been actively engaged in his clerical duties up to the previous evening. Father Foran was only 41 years of age, and was one of the most popular and beloved of the Dominican community.

On Nov. 12, the erection of the pedestal for the statue of Richard Lalor Shiel was commenced in the hall of the Four Courts, Dublin, and it is quite fitting that the fine circular area should be graced by the effigy of another of Ireland's famous orators. The site granted is the space on the right of the Court of Common Pleas, opposite the figure of Plunkett, with which that of Shiel will correspond in size.

A lively meeting was held on November 10th at Allentown, county Dublin, under the auspices of the Tallagh branch of the National League. A district inspector and a Government note-taker came to the place from afar, but they had to stay idly on the road with the general body of police, because the meeting was held in and around the residence of Mr. Joseph Muldoon, and that gentleman issued no invitations of entrance to the woe-begone officials. The chair was occupied by Mr. P. J. Donaghy, P. L. G., president of the branch. The meeting was addressed by the chairman, Messrs. Flannigan, Sherlock, Cully, Dunne, P. L. G., J. Clancy, M. A., and others. Special reference was made to the good work done by the County Dublin National Registration Association, and the meeting pledged itself by resolution to support two National candidates for the county when the next election comes round. The true position of the laborers' question, and the duty of the farmers in relation thereto were also happily dealt with by the various speakers. A very significant and useful hint was given by Mr. Clancy regarding the possible consequences likely to accrue to these gentlemen of the county, who have endeavored to utilize their position as landlords to intimidate their tenants from putting themselves on the register. The Parliamentary Party were strong enough, he believed, to drag these gentlemen into light; and not even their gentility can save them from the plank-bed, if they be found guilty under the Ballot Act.

Kildare.
A laborer, named John Maher, and his wife, both very aged, were evicted, on November 8th, from a cottage, which they held as weekly tenants, at Inchequary. Much sympathy being felt for the evicted parties, on the same night about one hundred persons assembled and built a hut for them, a site for which was kindly given by a local farmer. Maher is a member of the Narraghmore Branch of the National League, which has his case under consideration.

King's County.
At the last meeting of the Lorrha and Dorrha Branch of the National League, about one hundred members presented themselves for enrolment. The following resolution was also passed:—"That we the members of this branch of the Irish National League, regard land grabbing as one of the greatest crimes to the country, and that we will use every legal means in our power to prevent any farm which has been the scene of an unjust eviction from falling into the possession of any land-grabber."

Wicklow.
Mr. Parnell is proceeding rapidly with the arrangements for establishing the peasant proprietary system on his Irish estates. Mr. John Parnell, of Georgia, a brother of the Irish leader, is superintending the arrangements.

Carlow.
The Carlow, Tinryland, and Bennekerry Branch of the National League, at their meeting on Sunday, November 9, passed a resolution declaring that they would not allow fox-hunting over their lands. They also adopted a resolution of condolence with the family of the late A. M. Sullivan, and opened a subscription in aid of the National tribute.

Cork.
Flushed with victory over the recent cleverly fought struggles at the Cork municipal revision the National party are determined to make things hot and unpleasant for the opposing party. The National League is also making a strong case for the National League, and before the dawn of nationalism all the objectionable refuse or rubbish must be swept away. Some of the mucky seeders and poor-souled coalitionists are already folding up their tents to march into deserved obscurity, while a drying effort is being pitilessly made to induce a few vainglorious "notabilities" to come to the front. The saponaceous Commendatore Delaney (who lately got the J. P.-ship for his political behavior) has the honor to be tried by his luck, and a war-whoop is raised for the Alpha-betrical Knight (Sir Dan O'Sullivan, Plunkett), without success, owing, doubtless, to a lively recollection of the awful mauling he lately got from the gallant and talented Hooper.

In Cork the Freeman party are making a desperate struggle for dominance in the Council, and are using as their tools such Whig Catholics as the wretched Mayor, B. Sheehan; Sir Danno, Mr. M. D. Daily, J. P., and Commendatore Delaney. These estimable Catholics play entirely into the hands of Mr. Sheehan, who showed his sense of the duties of his position as Mayor by offering to the Bishop of Cork the insult of leaving the city before his arrival in order that he might not have to assist at his entry into his diocese. As the would-be Sir Barry would, therefore, not be invited to preside at the meeting of any Catholic institution, public interests, of course, suffer by the Freeman alliance, and it remains to be seen whether the priests and people of Cork will submit to another year's municipal rule by this contemptible combination of Catholic and Whig Catholics and Freemanism. Whatever may be the views moderate men may hold there, they would be reduced to a very wretched condition, indeed, if they did not resent at the polls this attempt to bring their city under the subjection of the Lodges.

Kerry.
A signal and pleasing incident in the burial of old enemies in Irish National politics occurred on November 10 at the A. M. Sullivan Tribute meeting at Tralee. Two members of that section of the National Party who had been for long years at arm's length with Mr. Sullivan, attended the meeting, and explained that, though they believed that Mr. Sullivan had made mistakes, yet they and their party now believed he was honest, and took a pleasure in helping forward a tribute to his memory.

Limerick.
Copies of an existing order against land playing after dark in Limerick were ordered to be served on the different city bands, on November 11.

Boldly and firmly are the men of Limerick resisting the imposition of the police tax. A special meeting of the Corporation was held on November 12, to consider what steps should be taken in regard to the unjust impost. The attendance of members was very large. Mr. John Dundon, solicitor, proposed that the town clerk be directed to return the same answer to the writ of mandamus as the one previously sent. This resolution was seconded by Mr. J. F. Power, and supported by Mr. Ambrose Hall, J. P.; Mr. John Bernal, and Mr. Robert McDonnell, J. P. On a division the resolution was carried by a vote of 22 against 3. It rests now with the Castle authorities to take the next step.

Ince.
The death is announced of Mr. Patrick Henchy, of Kilrush, a true-hearted Nationalist, which has caused deep regret to those who knew his worth, which the immense funeral procession from the house of mourning to the grave was ample testimony to the high character of the deceased.

The Rev. Joseph Meade, P. P., Feakle, died on Nov. 12, at his residence, Churchtown, Co. Clare.

Tipperary.
On Nov. 7th, the centry of the 21st Hussars, stationed at the Cahir Military Barracks, heard a rumbling sound near him, which resembled that of an earthquake. He was in his sentry box at the time, and immediately about sixty feet in circumference of the ground, from two feet before him, sank to a depth of 60 feet. It turned out that a well was sunk there about 90 years before, which had been arched over.

On Nov. 8th, "Colonel" Maguire, an old man, well known to every member of the Royal Irish Constabulary, from the first start of till the present day, died in Cahir, at the advanced age of 106 years.

He was admitted to all the constabulary stations from the depot in Dublin—where he was accustomed to lecture recruits on their duties—to every station in every district in Ireland. When visiting each station he would unfold his "dilettante's" containing copies of inspection of the several stations in Ireland. On the day before his death he "inspected" the constabulary barracks in Cahir. Even then he had some choice "blackthorns" as messages to some relatives on the force. He was buried in Cahir Abbey Graveyard, where some members of the local constabulary paid him the last tokens of respect for a body to which he was attached for more than half a century.

Armagh.
The trials of the Orange rabble of Ulster for their "loyal" conduct on the night of the 22nd of October at Portadown have been a mere farce. The decisions of the magistrates on November 8, have placed this beyond doubt before the eyes of the public. It was pretty well known among the three different sections that the judgments of the Portadown bench on the loyal brethren would end in a bottle of smoke. Such has eventually proved true. If the Northern magistrates had a Nationalist party to deal with for the memorable riots, then the full strength of the Crime & Act would have been tested. If such had been the case the Nationalist would not have been discharged without a stain on their character. The rebels would have to be punished and punished in a manner which would have placed them beyond all harm's way for at least a couple of years.

Tyrone.
The Sheepbridge National League have, it would appear, resolved that hunting in that locality must be decisively put down. At their last meeting, held on Nov. 9th, the following resolution was unanimously carried:—"That we hereby agree to prohibit hunting at Sheepbridge and surrounding districts so long as cover exists in this country." This is only another instance of that thoroughness which characterizes the national revival of Ulster.

Monaghan.
Lord Rossmore has triumphed in the legal contest with the Monaghan Town Commissioners. The market-house has been surrendered, with its sole and responsible management, to the "noble" feudal lord. Lord Rossmore may levy taxes, or shut up the market, just as he pleases. It is "his own," and no matter about the people whose interests are at stake.

Galway.
His Grace the Archbishop of Tuam, the Most Rev. Dr. McEvilly, hearing of the wretched state of the poor creatures, recently evicted from their homes, in Clare Island, generously sent £15 to aid them in their unequal struggle with landlordism. The Administrator on the island, the Rev. James Quinn, writing on the unfortunate condition of the inhabitants, says that two-thirds of the potato crop, which some months ago looked very promising, have rotted on account of the holdings; and, owing to the unsettled state of the weather and sea, the men could not venture to ferry their cattle to the mainland, in order to attend the Westport fair. When we are aware that potatoes form their staple article of food, and that the prices of stock are now greatly reduced, we can but faintly imagine the condition of these victims of landlord tyranny in Clare Island.

Mayo.
Complaint has been made of the outrageous proceedings on the part of some of the police stationed at Cahir, Ballaclete. It seems that in their zealous search for stiffs and wrens, these individuals think little of bursting into a peasant's cabin, and even intruding into the room where his sick wife lies, their rough presence occasioning no small element to the timid patient. In a wild and remote district such conduct as this may be often practised with impunity on the poor and helpless people, on which account it is all the more gross and unmanly. The blighting hand of the evictor has been busy in Galway. In the parish of Killasno, on November 6th and 8th, eight families were turned out of doors on the estates of Mr. Roger McCarrick, of Killglass, county Sligo, and Mr. Henry Lyons, Ballina, the agent on the property being the brother-in-law of the latter, viz., Mr. M. Scott. The evictions have been carried out under very painful circumstances, and with stern and unrelenting rigor.

"GOING DOWN HILL."

HOW A VENERABLE IOWAN EVASDED THE GREATEST DIFFICULTY WHICH BESETS THE AGED.

Burlington, Ia., Hawkeye.
An account is going the rounds of the press of a woman who was so afflicted with rheumatism for fifteen years that her limbs were so stiff that she was unable to get up for a long time. She was kept alive by gruel forced between her teeth.

A prominent New York physician was once asked what rheumatism was. He replied, "God only knows." He was undoubtedly right, because rheumatism seems to spring from a different cause in every individual case. If its origin is a mystery, its effects are too well and too widely known, for there is scarcely a season of the year when some persons are not more or less affected by it. In general, however, it prevails mostly among the aged, making their last days hard to bear. A prominent physician once remarked in our hearing, "If the aged could escape the torture of rheumatism, their last years as a rule would be quiet, peaceful and painless."

Propos of the above, Mr. W. DeGens, of Pella, Ia., sends us a communication, which ordinarily we would not publish except at so much a line. But his experience has been so remarkable that we think we are justified in giving place to it. He says:

"Dear Sir:—I am 78 years of age. My life has always been active. I am well known in this town, and what I say I do not think will be doubted by any one who knows me. Up to a year or two ago, I was the possessor of splendid health, and I should have said my life gradually and gracefully. Two years ago, however, I was overcome with that curse of old age, rheumatism. When it first started me the pain was so acute I thought it was neuralgia, which medical authorities tell me indicates a low state of the system."

I fancied that this attack was the beginning of the end. I sent for a good doctor, who treated me with electrical and other agencies, but I grew worse. He finally said my case was a serious rheumatism. For six months I could not use my limbs at all, and was handled by three strong persons, like a helpless child. Then came a period of better feelings, but reaction followed, and for six long months of painful suffering I was confined to the bed. For over a year I groaned in agony. I tried every reputable lotion, liniment, plaster and preparation, in vain. At this stage, my friend Elder Overcamp came to see me, and upon his urgent recommendation I began to use Warner's safe rheumatic cure, a few bottles of which gave back to me the use of my limbs. I am now sleeping without pain, eating without distress, and feel as spry as I did when I was 60 years of age. I cordially recommend that preparation to all persons afflicted as I was, and especially to the thousands of aged men and women whose last days are embittered by this affliction."

Mr. DeGens's letter is endorsed by Elder Overcamp, who says he is a member of his church, and his case to him is surprising and marvelous. Mr. F. W. Brinkhoff also endorses the statement in similar terms.

There is no doubt that this is a true recital of the case, and Mr. DeGens's experience should be an encouragement to all others suffering as he did, to use the means he so successfully employed, for nothing better, if indeed, as good, can be had in the market.

Few are the remedies whose beneficial qualities and real merits have made them so popular with the public, and increased from year to year their consumption, which, whilst possessing the most valuable remedial properties, are yet so simple in their composition, and so easy to take, as the Quinine Wine, prepared by Northrop & Lyman of Toronto. This article is prepared from the pure sulphate of Quinine, combined with fine Sherry Wine, and choice aromatics, which relieves the Quinine of its bitter taste, and does not impair in the least degree the efficacy of its action upon the patient; while small doses, frequently repeated, strengthen the pulse, increase muscular force, and invigorate the tone of the nervous system, and thus, by the general vigor which it imparts, creates an appetite, gives to the stomach tone and energy, and fortifies the system against all infectious diseases. Ask for Northrop & Lyman's Quinine Wine. Sold by all druggists.

Once upon a time a hog drank from a trough into which a barrel of beer had been emptied. He became very much intoxicated. When he came to himself, he was very much ashamed of his conduct. He was truly penitent, and said to his friends: "I have always been a beast until this unlucky day, and I promise you I'll never make a man of myself again."—Boston Transcript.

"Yes," said the Vermont deacon, "I always go down to the camp-meeting, and always come back feeling good. Do you see that magnificent horse there in the field?" "Well, you ought to have seen the old plug I took down."—Christian Register.

A Plant of Rare Virtues.

Is the common and well-known Burdock. It is one of the best blood purifiers and kidney regulators in the vegetable world, and the compound known as Burdock Blood Bitters possesses wonderful power in diseases of the blood, liver, kidneys and stomach.

What is this Disease that is Coming Upon Us?

Like a thief at night it steals in upon us unawares. Many persons have pains about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back. They feel dull and sleepy; the mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning. A sort of sticky slime collects about the teeth. The appetite is poor. There is a feeling like a heavy load on the stomach; sometimes a faint all-gone sensation at the pit of the stomach which food does not satisfy. The eyes are sunken, the hands and feet become cold and feel clammy. After a while a cough sets in at first dry, but after a few months it is attended with a greenish colored expectoration. The afflicted one feels tired all the while, and sleep does not seem to afford any rest. After a time he becomes nervous, irritable, and gloomy, and has evil forebodings. There is a feeling of whirling; sensation in the head when rising up suddenly. The bowels become constive; the skin is dry and hot at times; the blood becomes thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes become tinged with yellow, the urine is scanty and high-colored, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of the food, sometimes with a sour taste, and sometimes with a sweetish taste; this is frequently attended with palpitation of the heart; the vision becomes impaired with spots before the eyes; the patient is prostrated and weakens. All of these symptoms are in present time. It is thought that nearly one-third of our population has this disease in some of its varied forms. It has been found that medical men have mistaken the nature of this disease. Some have treated it for a liver complaint, others for kidney disease, etc., but none of the various kinds of treatment have been attended with success, because the remedy should be such as to act harmoniously upon each one of these organs, and to reach the stomach as well as for in Dyspepsia (for this is really what the disease is) all of these organs partake of the disease and require a remedy that will act upon all at the same time. Seigel's Curative Syrup acts like a charm in this class of complaints, giving almost immediate relief. The following letters from chemists of standing in the community where they live show in what estimation the article is held.

John Archer, Hartill, near Sheffield:—"I can confidently recommend it to all who may be suffering from liver or stomach complaints. I have used it for many years, and it has cured me of many ailments, who have derived great benefit from the Syrup and Pills. The sale is increasing wonderfully."

Geo. A. Webb, 141 York Street, Belfast:—"I have sold a large quantity, and the parties have testified to its being what you represent it."

J. S. Metcalfe, 55, Highgate, Kendal:—"I have always great pleasure in recommending the Curative Syrup, for I have never known a case in which it has not relieved or cured, and I have sold many bottles."

Robt. G. Gould, 27, High Street, Andover:—"I have always taken a great interest in your medicines and I have recommended them, as I have found numerous cases of cure from their use."

Thomas Chapman, West Auckland:—"I find that the trade steadily increases. I sell more of your medicines than any other kind."

N. Darrell, Clun, Salop:—"All who buy it are pleased, and recommend it."

CONSUMPTION CURED.
An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India agent, a bottle of a simple and humane remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh of Throat and Lung, Asthma, Pleurisy, and other pulmonary affections, also a positive and radical cure of the most distressing form of Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has decided to put it to the test of the public. Actuated by this motive and by the desire to make it known to his suffering fellow-men, he has decided to send free of charge, to all who desire it, this simple and humane remedy, in the form of a small book, in German, French or English, with full directions for its use. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, to the proprietor, Messrs. J. C. F. & Co., 10, Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

The poor woman had stepped upon an overturned tack, and her condition grew serious until a physician was consulted. He was explaining to her husband, who said, "Ask your third doctor, and you will have the lockjaw!" "I'm afraid so, my man." "Thank you, sir; thank you. Those are the first encouraging words I've had."

The History of Hunderds.
Mr. John Morrison, of St. Ann's, N. S., was so seriously afflicted with a disease of the kidneys that dropsy was developing, and his life was despaired of. Two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him after physicians had failed.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, for Pulmonary Affections and Scrophulous Diseases. Dr. Ira M. Lusk, New York, says: "I am greatly pleased with your Emulsion. I have found it very serviceable in Scrophulous diseases and Pulmonary affections."

"Can you tell me how the word salmon is spelt?" was asked a cockney. "Certainly," said the Londoner, with a look of triumph. There's a hess, a hay, and a hell and two does, and then—

QUICK TRANSIT from a state of feebleness, bodily languor, and nervous irritability—induced by dyspepsia—to a condition of vigor and physical comfort, follows the use of the standard regulating tonic and stomachic, Northrop & Lyman's "Vegetable Compound," which specifically conquers Indigestion, Constipation, Bilious Complaints, and Female Complaints, purifies the Blood, and reinforces the vital energy. Sold by Harkness & Co., Druggists, Dundas St.

"Will you please give me an almanac, sir?" asked a six year old at the door of a grocer's shop. "Does your mother buy her tea here?" was the proprietor's cautious reply. "No, but she sometimes borrows your handcart."

Thomas Robinson, Farnham Centre, E. G., writes: "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief. I got a bottle of Dr. Thomas's Electric Oil, and found it gave instant relief, and since then have had no attack. I would recommend it to all."

The Best Combination.
The best combination of blood cleansing, regulating, health giving herbs, roots and barks enter into Burdock Blood Bitters, a purely vegetable remedy that cures diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys.

Loss and Gain.
CHAPTER I.
"I was taken sick a year ago With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I could not move! From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles, I am not only as sound as a sovereign, but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

Dublin, June 6, '81.

CHAPTER II.
"Malden, Mass., Feb. 1, 1880. Gentlemen—suffered with attacks of sick headache."

Neuralgia, female trouble, for years in the most terrible and excruciating manner. No medicine or doctor could give me relief or cure, until I used Hop Bitters. "The first bottle was a great cure."

The second made me as well and strong as when a child. "And I have been so to this day." My husband was an invalid for twenty years with a serious "Kidney, liver and urinary complaint," pronounced by Boston's best physicians.

"Incurable." Seven bottles of your Bitters cured him and I know of "Lives of eight persons" In my neighborhood that have been saved by your Bitters. And many more are using them with great benefit.

"They almost Do miracles!" —Mrs. E. D. Stock.

How to Get Sick—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

Be genuine without a bunch of green Hops on the white label. Shun all the vile, poisonous stuff with "Hops" or "Hops" in their name.

A HOME DRUGGIST TESTIFIES.

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but we point proudly to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approval in its own city, state, and country, and among all people, as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best-known Massachusetts Druggists should be of interest to every sufferer.

RHEUMATISM. "Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism, so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles which I was completely cured. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public."

E. F. HARRIS, River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

SALT RHEUM. GEORGE ANDREWS, professor in the Lowell Carpet Company, was for over twenty years before his removal to Lowell afflicted with Salt Rheum in its worst form. His ulcers actually covered his face, and he was unable to work or move. He was entirely cured by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1883.

PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists; $1.50 per bottle for $5.

Many persons, owing to the pressing calls of business, or other cares, have not the inclination or time to read large works about religion, while a brief statement of Catholic Doctrine would be read or listened to, with interest by all who love the truth and long to find it. Here is a short and simple exposition of what Catholics really believe, which must carry conviction to the minds of those who will place themselves in a state of impartiality and lay aside that misled feeling of self-conceit which leads them to take it for granted that their own opinions must be in the wrong. Over 80,000 copies of the book have been sold, and it has been the means of bringing very many into the Church.
