CUT UP CORPSE.

Refuses to Pay Her Mother's Funeral Expenses. Undertaker Threatens to Send Body to Medical College.

(Special Despatch to Times.) London, Ont., April 17.—A merry row is expected to develop over the refusal of Mrs. Nutkins, wife of Ex-alderman Nutkins, to pay the funeral expenses of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Bayley, who died in the Age's People's Home on September 27 of last year.

John Ferguson, undertaker, stated at a meeting of the Finance Committee of the City Council that if the money is not paid at once he will exhume the body and send it to the Medical School and have it cut up. This threat has so far had no effect on Mrs. Nutkins, who is the wife of a well-to-do contractor.

STRIKE COMING.

The Troubles of the Mariners Coming to a Head.

Cleveland, O., April 17.—Lake labor troubles have reached such a point that a general strike on the boats of the Lake Carriers' Association, it is believed, cannot be averted. Action by all the unions is expected to be taken before night.

The order was sent out by J. M. Seel, of Buffalo, general secretary of the cooks' organization. Secretary Seel, in his letter, states that a general strike of the organization will not be permitted to work with non-union men.

LOST NO TIME IN PAWNING WATCH.

The bartender and asked to arrest Murphy, who was lying on the floor, very drunk. He looked him up. Constable Stewart was on duty at the police station when Murphy was brought in, and he said that Murphy admitted being drunk then.

No defence was put in, and the case was laid over for further hearing with the rest of the charges on Monday.

Some time after his arrest he was released on bail and went at once with his brother, Thomas Murphy, to Magistrate Jelfs' office. He applied for a summons for Walter Obernesser on a charge of assault, and at the time told his worship that he was unconscious as a result of the fight and not drunk when he was found by the officer on the bar-room floor.

The summons was granted and served on Obernesser. A short time after it was served Obernesser went to Magistrate Jelfs and explained his side of the story. He said that Murphy was in the bar very drunk, and that when he, the bartender, was walking through the bar with a tray on which were glasses and money Murphy threw a glass at him, it grazed his nose and smashed against the wall. He called the police, and then, as Murphy was looking for a fight, he accompanied him. They said Murphy was drunk, not unconscious, when arrested.

The case will all be heard on Monday morning, and will help make up a long court, at which John Neville will be tried and Alex. Findlay, housebreaker, sentenced.

"She's not the head of the house," argued Harry Carpenter, in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Edwards, 232 James street north, charged with disorderly conduct, when the court was trying to fix the blame for the disorderly conduct which had disturbed the neighbors.

"Nine chances to one that she is," said his worship.

"Well, I presume that she is not, even in these days of suffragettes," said Mr. Carpenter, clinging to his point.

"You can't call on that presumption any longer, but I am willing to presume he is for the sake of fixing the blame for the disgraceful conduct in this place," was his Worship's reply. The case was a peculiar one. Edwards and his wife keep a tobacco store, and next door to them is a fruit store, of which Macour is proprietor.

Macour charged them with being disorderly at all hours of the day and night, and said he and his family could never get to sleep. He said that booze was consumed day and night at the tobacco store, and dancing and singing kept up all the time, and he considered the place very disorderly. His two sons corroborated this.

Edwards and his wife were put on the stand by Mr. Carpenter, and said they drank a little and had "sing-songs" once in a while. Several other witnesses helped them deeper in the mire by admitting that they got drunk in the store. Magistrate Jelfs said there was plenty of evidence to show that there had been disorderly conduct such as would disturb the neighbors, and that they had a right to live in peace. He fined the husband $20, and warned him that the next time it would be $40. Edwards was fined $10 at the beginning of the week for selling tobacco on Sunday.

THE WEATHER.

FORECASTS—Light winds, fair. Sunday southeast winds, fair and a little warmer, showery by night.

WATER NOTES. A very shallow depression which passed across the great lakes yesterday caused showers throughout Ontario. The weather continues quite cool in the western Provinces, but the general indications now appear more favorable or higher temperature everywhere.

Lower Lakes and George Bay—Light to moderate winds, a few local showers, but mostly fair or stationary or higher temperature.

Washington, April 17.—Eastern States and Northern New York—Local showers to-night; cooler to-night in interior; Sunday generally fair, cooler in extreme south portions; variable winds.

Western New York—Partly cloudy and cooler to-night; Sunday partly cloudy.

Lakes Erie and Ontario—Light to moderate variable winds, partly cloudy to-night and Sunday, cooler to-night.

ENICED AWAY. The police are endeavoring to locate Frank Green, a thirteen-year-old boy, who disappeared from his home here several days ago. His mother received a letter dated from Tansley, signed by her son, saying he was with an umbrella repairer, and intended going to the Falls. The authorities communicated with the police there, but got no trace of the boy. Mrs. Green accuses the man of enticing the boy away.

ICE BROKE UP.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., April 17.—The ice in the Niagara River below the Falls broke up this morning at the whirlpool and also in the vicinity of Lewiston, Queenstown and Youngstown. Considerable damage has been done at Queenstown, the dock being carried away.

BURGLARY BY TRAMPS.

The home of Alex. Stuart, of the city treasurer's office, 14 Elgin street, was entered by burglars last night, and four coats and one hat taken; also a dozen and a half eggs and a quart of milk. It looks uncommonly like the work of tramps, say the police. The house was entered by a rear window, and the milk and eggs were consumed outside on the lawn, and the coats and hat were apparently put on by the night prowlers.
