In court today it was explained that this rule was a very important one, and the record was pointed out show-ing that the only suffragettes who had been caught were captured red-handed, while the others went scot-free. This, it was said, indicated that the perpetrators of militant acts, while glorying in their jail records, did not talk about their specific deeds.

In reciting these facts, which she claimed were proven by a sheaf of clippings from American papers which she waved aloft, "General" Drummond unced the American woman as a

When told of the charges brought against her, Mrs. Mary Ford declared she knew nothing of them and that she believed herself to be on the most friendly terms with the organization, which she had been assisting by voluntary work in its press bureau.

Mrs. Ford ridiculed the second charge, stating that she had not informed and one of such a plot, which she herself was unaware existed. Today's affair is considered as important, all the "cabinet" of the Women's Social and Political Union, now out of jail, being present.

Passages Under Notre Dame More interesting revelations are an ticipated when the workmen tackle the building still facing on Notre Dame street near the corner of St Jean Baptiste. There, it is expected that another series of underground passages will be discovered running far below the surface of Notre Dame street. It is known that old vaults exist under Place d'Armes and this is one reason for not building on that site, in addition to the desire for keeping that tract of land as a down-town breathing space.

tion that is agitating the minds of a number of loyal Britishers in Calgary who are incensed at the display of a big Union Jack over a Ninth avenue jewelry store, which is shortly to be opened under the name of the Union Jack Jewelry Store.

The sign is a huge one, hearing a representation of the flag, across part of which several of the letters of the advertisement of the store appear, and among military men, members of the Daughters of the Empire and other loyal organizations it has caused no little discussion. The general opinion is that the flag should met be cheapened by being used for such purposes, and the matter is being taken up with the authorities to see if there is any law against its use. According to some authorities there is such a law, and it will be invoked in this instance. The proprietors of the store could not be seen last night regarding the matter, and at the police station the officers on duty had not been approached by any of those to whom the use of the Union Jack in this instance has caused no little annovance and disapproval.
