An Impending Storm.

Berlin, July 7.—There are growing signs of an impending storm in the Balkans. The situation is so grave that the holiday vacations of the leading officials of the Foreign Office have been stopped. Sir W. A. White, the British ambassador to the Porte, who was just beginning at Gartien a furlough to last several months, hurried back to Constantinople after having a long interview with the Emperor of Austria. The Czar hav also countermanded the conge of M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador. A momentous change appears to have occurred in Germany's policy in the Balkans. Instead of pursuing the semineutral diplomacy of Prince Bismarck, the Emperor has directed Herr Radowitz to take the initiative in advising the Porte how to mget the contending claims of Bulgaria. The Emperor's scheme of settlement, according to the accepted report in diplomatic circles, involves the displacing of Prince Ferdinand and the substitution of Prince Karl of Sweden as ruler of Bulgaria in his stead, and also an arrangement of the Russian indemnity by capitalizing the amount through the International Council of Administration which now controls the Turkish loans. A general explosion in the Balkans may occur before the powers have time to consider Emperor William's proposal. Greece and Servia have added to the general embroglio by each presenting notes to the Porte stating that any concessions to Bulgaria would require similar concessions to the Greek and Servian nationalities.
