The Earthquake in Turkey-1,000 Lives Lost.

LONDON, July 23 .- The Standard's Constantinople correspondent says it has been conclusively established that more than 1,000 persons were killed by the recent earthquakes.

Attempted Murder in a Church. PARIS, July 22 .- During the funeral services of Leconte Delisle in the Church of St. Sulpice, yesterday, a man attempted to stab M. Dutaigny, who represented President Casimir Perier at the obsequies. The man was arrested, and is believed to be a lunatic.

Mr. Gladstone's Eye Worse. LONDON, July 22 .- Mr. Gladstone's return to London is due to the condition of his eye, which has become worse. Another operation will be necessary, and the ex-Premier's physicians say that the ultimate result is uncertain, though they are hopeful of effecting a permanent cure. Discount Rates.

LONDON, July 22 .- The rates of discount last week were a for three months and for 30 days. All imports of gold were taken quickly for the continent. Silver grew firmer during the week on the strength of the French purchases, but weakened evidently when the French demand was satisfied. Business on the Stock Exchange remains almost at a standstill.

140 Lives Lost. Opessa, July 22 .- It is now certain that 140 persons went down with the Italian steamer Columba which collided with the Russian steamer Vladimir in the Black Sea a few days ago. All the evidence badly inculpates the Russian seamen, who abandoned the Columba and her crew and passengers to their fate, although the vessel floated an hour and a quarter after the collision.

Battle Between Spaniards and Malays Paris, July 22 .- The Matin's Madrid correspondent says that the Governor of the Phillipine Islands has telegraphed to the Government an account of the fierce battle between Spanish troopsand natives in Mindana, The Spaniards were surprised, but they recovered speedily and drove the Malays from the field. They lost 14 killed, including an officer, and 47 wounded. The Malays left 27 dead on the field. Canadian Cattle Shut Out. London, July 22 .- Dr. Andrew Smith, of Toronto, has had several interviews with Mr. Gardner, president of the Board of Agriculture, concerning the restrictions imposed on trade in Canadian cattle. His opinion is that the Government will maintain these restrictions for the rest of the year at least. While not asserting that contagious pleuro-pneumonia exists among Canadian cattle the Government contends that suspicious cases enough to justify the restrictions have been found. The Evicted Tenants Bill.

LONDON, July 22 .- The debate on the Evicted Tenants Bill in the House of Commons on Friday night would have been Speaker, who has rarely so exercised his prerogative. The fact was not generally known at the time, but the Speaker prithat he would not give his assent to closure the measure which merited full and free have assented to an early division, and an anderstanding has been arrived at whereby a division will be taken on Monday. On entering the committee stage the bill will be fought line by line, and this process may occupy a month, notwithstanding the fact known persons. that Sir William Harcourt has allowed only a few days to carry the measure through to its final passage.

Women in the Wesleyan Conference. LONDON, July 22 .- The leading question before the Wesleyan Conference is that of the admission of women as delegates, it was foily to keep such a large armed which will be decided at the sitting on force around Pullman as long as the com-Monday. The leaders and more conservative delegates oppose the admission of women, holding that the innovation is illegal and against all precedent here or in the United States; but a very considerable section of the delegates favor the immediate recognition of the work and influence of women by their admission. The case of Miss Dawson will probably be referred to a committee. Princess Alix to Wed in September. LONDON, July 22 .- The wedding of the 'arewitch and Princess Alix of Hesse, has been definitely fixed to take place in September. The stories frequently told of late that Princess Alix is disinclined to embrace the faith of the Greek Church are characterized by persons authorized to speak on he subject as being wholly baseless. The London Massage Scandals. LONDON, July 22 .- In consequence of the massage scandals mentioned in these dispatches last week detectives have visited and warned the owners and managers of a number of places in the West End to close up their houses on the ground that they were employing assistants who were not in possession of proper certificates. The result was that many of these houses were summarily closed up. Officials of the Home Office state that of scores of so-called massage establishments visited by the detectives only about half a dozen were legitimate. The others were gorgeously furnished houses which charged enormous fees and employed double staffs of attendants, half male and half female. These establishments admitted so-called patients of both sexes, who were privileged to choose either a masseur or a masseuz. The Home Office inquiry into the matter has been conducted so as to lead to no public disclosures, but the condition of things was found to be as immoral as could be well

A Princess Converted to Catholicism. BERLIN, July 22 .- Much court gossip in the last few days has concerned the report that the Princess Frederick Charles has been converted suddenly to Catholicism. The change has not been so sudden as is supposed. The initial impulse to her change of creed was given several years ago. It came from Queen Marie of Bavaria, an ardent Catholic. She improved her friendship with the Princess to bring her into consultation with the royal confessor and Cardinal Hohenlohe. Immediately after the Queen's death in 1889 the Princess told her friends that she felt she must at once declare her conversion to the Catholic Church. Under the persuasion of her daughter, the Duchess of Connaught, and the insistence of the Emperor, however, she remained formally attached to the Protestant Evangelical Church. Eventually the conversion of two German princesses to the Greek Church for State reasons disarmed Emperor William's opposition. The Princess will pub-licly abjure the Evangelical creed very

The Corean Warcloud.

SHANGHAI, July 22 .- The report that war has been declared between China and Japan is not yet confirmed, but China is preparing for war.

LONDON, July 22 .- A dispatch received this evening from Yokohama says it is stated that Corea demands the withdrawal of Japanese troops from the peninsula considering the reforms propose by Japan. The Japanese Government is much surprised by this demand, which is regarded as proof that she has been influenced by China to defy openly Japan's wishes. Negotiations have been in progress | be transmitted from this House congratufor several days between Tokio and Pekin, but their tendency is not generally known. The Chinese legation here has heard nothing from Pekin since Saturday morning. Everybody there discredits the rumor that war has been declared as well as the report that 10,000 soldiers have started for Corea. The officials at the Japanese legation also discredit the war rumors of the last two days and express much surprise that war has been regarded here as imminent. The British Foreign Office denies all knowledge of war or final preparations for war between China and Japan.

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

The Strike at Sacramento Has Been Declared Off.

Pullman Shops Must Open at Once or be Closed for a Stated Ported, SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 22 .- The strike was declared off at 5:15 p.m. yesterday. CHICAGO, July 22 .- Roy Goodwin, W. E. Burns, M. J. Eiliott and other directors of the American Railway Union, and L. P. Benedict, stenographer, were arrested yesterday. John F. McVean is now the only director of the A. R. U. who has not been arrested. A warrant is out for him. PULLMAN, Ill., July 22.-The Pullman strikers continue to wage war on the men closured but for the intervention of the and girls at work in the laundry and car wheel shop. A detachment of police was sent from Kensington to Roseland to escort the girls from their homes there to the vately informed Sir William Harcourt shops. Only a few of those who went to work were willing to brave a second enin view of the important issues raised by counter with the angry women and men at Pullman. When the girls, accompanied by discussion. The leaders of the Opposition a wagon load of police, arrived at a point near the railroad station several bundred women met them and began throwing mud at the girls and using abusive language. The pickets at the Pallman oil tanks were fired on early yesterday morning by un-

> CHICAGO, July 22 .- The strike at Pullmap will be brought to a focus this week, Notice has been served on managers of the car works that unless they make an effort to open their shops all the troops in the vicinity will be withdrawn. Assistant Adjt .- Gen. Bayle came to the conclusion that pany was not making any effort to start its shops. He was ready to concede that a riot would probably follow any effort to become sooner or later and that troops would have to put it down, told the officials they might as well fight it out first as last. Sir John Thompson Announces the Conclusion of Business.

The Iron Bounty Bill and the Emascu latea Franchise Bill Dealt With-Several Measures Shelved.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.)

OTTAWA, July 22.-Barely a quorum attended the opening of the House yester-day morning. Sir John Thompson, who had recovered from his indisposition, was present. Mr. Davin called attention to the advertisement stating that binder twine made at Kingston Penitentiary would be sold as far west as Owen Sound for 61 and 7 cents a pound. He asked Sir John Thompson if he would extend that to the Northwest, and send twine there free of freight.

Sir John Thompson said that they complied with the usage of business in paying freight as far as Owen Sound, but they would not be able to send it free of freight to the Northwest. They were not selling binder twine under cost. They Corbett, who pride themselves upon the allowed for the cost of convict labor 50 cents a day. The price was the same as for twine sold by the Consumers' Cordage Company, although no arrangement had been entered into with them. Sir John Thompson stated that the site for the new Dominion reformatory had not yet been selected.

Mr. McLennan urged the county Glengarry, Ont. Mr. Haggart's bill authorizing the pay ment of railway subsidies was read a third

On the second reading of the emasculated Franchise Bill, Sir John Thompson promised to present the bill as originally brought down at next session. Revision of the voters' lists under the present law begins June 1 and ends Dec. 31, but in committee this morning the revision was fixed to begin Sept. 1, 1894, and be finally completed Feb. 28. The bill was read a third time after Mr. Laurier had objected to delay in revision which would force members to go to work at once on revision.

The House agreed to an amendment of the Senate to the Northwest Act providing for filling a vacancy on the executive committee in case of death or resignation.

BATHERS DROWNED.

One Young Man at Toronto and Another Near Thamsaville.

TORONTO, July 22 .- Anthony Williams, aged 25, living with his sister on Duchess street, and unmarried, was drowned today off Conger's coal wharf at the foot of Church street while in bathing. THAMESVILLE, Ont., July 22 .- News was received here this evening of a sad accident which happened about two miles west of Morpeth dock. Mr. Chas. E. Buller, son of Henry Buller, of this village, with some friends, went out on Lake Erie to spend the day, and while bathing about 2:30 this afternoon was drowned. He leaves a wife and one child.

A DARING DEED!

At Ottawa-The Postmaster Stunned, Gagged and Robbed.

OTTAWA, July 23 .- Last evening about 10 o'clock James A. Gouin, city postmaster, while walking along Elgin street, near Cooper, was attacked by two men who struck him a heavy blow on the head, rendering him unconscious and then gagged and robbed him. They secured a gold watch and chain valued at several hundred dollars. When the men committed the robbery some people were still sitting on their doorsteps a short distance away. It was the most daring deed ever perpetrated in the capital.

Some Pulpit References to the Late

Labor Troubles

Unlaw ully-The Might Dundas Street Methodist Church was filled last evening by an audience who listened attentively and with profit to the pastor, Rev. E. B. Lanceley, who delivered an excellent discourse from II. Timothy, ii., 5: "And if a man also strive for masteries, yet he is not crowned except he strive lawfully." Said the preacher:

"On the crowded streets of our city one is naturally led to ask: 'What are the motives which animate the people as they journey to and fro?' Comparatively few struggle for a mere bare existence. Some struggle for affection's sake, to relieve dependent parents or helpless children. A large amount of activity issues from a desire for some kind of notoriety. This is one of the deepest and most subtle motives of the human heart. Its grossest expression is seen in the desire for physical supremacy, as in the case of Sullivan and possession of qualities similar to a mastifi when they will stand up and batter one another into a mass of blood and bruises. It was also seen in the recent labor difficulties across the border. Debs and Sovereign were striving for supremacy. They fought for the throne of the empire of labor. They would have all the working men bow beneath their scepter and obey their unjust mandate. They strove for the mastery, but were not crowned because they did not strive lawfully. Their plan of operation was a violation of the laws of the nation, a violation of the laws which lie at the basis of the brotherhood of man, the greatest good to the greatest number, and it was a violation of the law of God. In its practical effect it was a war on labor. Millions of innocent, honest, law-abiding workingmen throughout the country in all branches of industry were made to suffer by reason of unlawful, violent, widespread interference with interstate commerce, Numberless industrial establishments of all sorts, lines of business in nearly every community, all giving employment to labor are suddenly benumbed by trade paralysis, brought on by the efforts of these men and their associates to force a private manufacturing establishment to yield to the wages demand of its employes. If there are to be similar difficulties in the inture, every time there is a local conflict between manufacturing companies and their employes there can never he any such thing as industrial peace. Innumerable Thompson, seconded by Hon. Wilfrid enterprises will languish or be abandoned Laurier and carried. His Excellency was forever. Men of means desirous of venturing into new undertakings will hesitate. John Thompson then moved that a message | Capital will be withdrawn from activity, and more than all others workingmen will suffer from the unwise conduct of those Hon. David Mills-Do you draw the line Debs & Co. failed because their cause was who assume to represent their interests. unjust and their methods incone, and if a man strive for masteries he will not be crowned except he strive lawfully. "The same ingredients are to be found in the heart of the conqueror on the battle field everywhere the spirit is manifest. In the market, on the street, in the etiquette of the drawing room, and in the spurious patriotism of politicians who would sacrifice a profound principle for a party plum. It ofttimes saturates the plan of the philanthropist, and even the sanetuary of God is not exempted from its influence. appearance of good conduct to the meanest possible motive. It is better for to regard all men honest until you find them out rogues than vice versa. There is less misery in being cheated than in that kind of wisdom which thinks it perceives that all mankind are cheats. Neither extreme is safe to assume, yet large scope must be allowed for the influence of this spirit of desire for supremacy. We boast in this country of the equality of our institutions. and then try our best to break up the social level. Here, where everybody says all men are equal and everybody is afraid they will be, people are as exclusive as possible.

The man who possesses blue blood and delights to be accounted one of the aristocracy has no legitimate ground for supremacy. It is purely accidental. Misers. they who leve money for money's sake, are scarce, and yet with many the most persistent desire is for the supremacy which attends the possession of wealth. The power of money is the mightiest power of the present age. The man of money casts midnight or joy over the world of traffic. It is not the Russian Czar, the German Kaiser, the Turkish Sultan, or the French President, but the capitalist that makes war or preserves peace. The destinies of nations are not fixed in congresses or par liaments, but in the Bank of England, Wall street, New York, or Board of Trade. Chicago. Wealth hides meanness of birth and paints over the stains and flaws in men's characters and to many men it is the most feasible way to destruction. A man may be unable to write his own name. yet if he has money he requires no other passport into the best society of earth. "There is no substantial ground for supremacy in anything that is merely outside of man. The true ground upon which to base a just estimate is what a man 'is.' not merely what a man 'has'-not in outward possessions, but in uses.

"The service before the Christian Church is a noble and elevating one. The work of Jesus Christ was the cutcome of his own pure inner life. Men should strive to imitate him. Be good and you will do good, and doing good is better than getting
