THE GIANTS OF LILLIPUTANIA ARE HERE TODAY

The most remarkable, thrilling fairy tale and toy ever created. First there is the story of the Giants of Lilliputania, a book of hair-raising fairy tales. Then when you have finished the story, there is the city of Lilliputania for you to build. It is a tremendous city, although it will only cover the top of your table. Every building is there, skyscrapers and office buildings, stores and fire houses, postoffice and drug store and baker shop where Dave Dough, the baker, used to live. All the people are there too, Dave Dough, the Baker; Heave Ho, the Sailor; John Bull, the Butcher; Spaget, the Organ Grinder; Mary Dough, the Baker's Daughter, and Henry Bull, the Butcher's Son, they are all here. Everyone from Professor Plus to Police Chief Dulin and John Lung, the Laundryman. There are street cars on the streets and steam boats on the river. There are automobiles and fire departments. Even the street lamps and the trees in the park are here. All you have to do is to cut them out and build the most beautiful city that ever was dreamed of on a moonlight night. The Giants of Lilliputania

Is an animated, living fairy tale. First you read it and then you play with it and there are weeks and weeks of play in it.
