

Georgia's champion corn grower, Lee Mallard (at left), winner of $400 university scholarship for the best acre of corn

First of the dead recovered by divers from the wrecked United States submarine S-51, brought to the deck of the United States ship Camden

Betty Blythe, the screen actress, exercising on a rowing machine

Lola Todd, screen star, wearing a smart new riding costume

Even Job Brown, in his grave nearly 100 years old at Orange, N. J., can't escape jazz music

Hon. Marion Stanley, daughter of Lord Ashfield, chairman of the Underground Electric Railways in London, Eng.

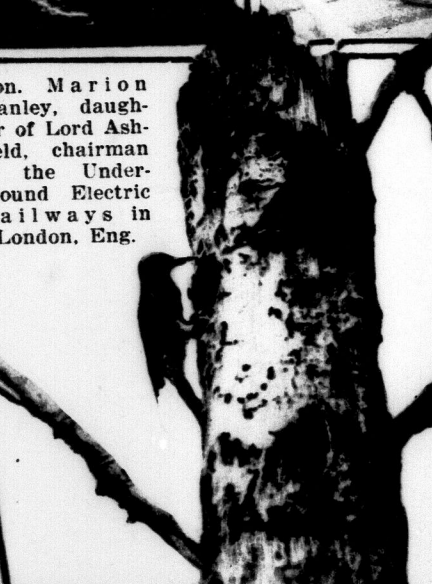

Orr with his regiment, the Green Howards (Yorkshire) from England for service in the West Indies, taking his dog along

One of many girls in old London who have grown fine garden crops under the L. C. C. botany plan

The club house and grounds of the Summit Golf Club, near Richmond Hill, one of the prettiest of the many golf courses in the Toronto metropolitan area

The flicker chooses a dead stump in which to chisel her home

One of Turkey's 20,000 dancing and howling Dervishes, who may disappear because of an order closing the Moslem monasteries in that country

A morning shoot of a duck hunting party near Ottawa

A beauty spot in Muskoka