QUEEN-STREET SUBWAY.

No. 6 Ward Ratepayers discuss the opening of Dufferin-street.

A lively meeting of the ratepayers of Ward 6 was held on Saturday night in St. Mark's Hall, Brockton, called by the Mayor in compliance with a requisition presented to him some days before to discuss the widening of the Queen-street subway and the opening of Dufferin-street.

About 300 had assembled in the hall when the Mayor took the chair. On the platform were: G. F. Marter, M.L.A., Ald. Gowanlock, Graham, Murray, Atkinson, Ex-Ald. Bell and Messrs. Brown, Christie, Maitland, Morgan, McLean and Westwood.

As soon as the Mayor called the meeting to order, Mr. John Brown moved, seconded by Mr. Christie:

"That the ratepayers of Ward 6 will not accept the No. 2 plan suggested by the City Engineer to the Board of Works in regard to the Queen-street subway and that they consider the proposed deviation of Dufferin-street will be worse than useless, and that they will not accept it in fulfillment of the city's bargain with the municipality of Parkdale."

Some strong language.

Mr. Brown made a strong speech in support of his motion, saying that the ratepayers were not assembled as a begging meeting, but were only asking for their rights. He compared the superior street facilities of No. 1 Ward with those of No. 6, and said that the people had been patient, hoping for something done in the way of improvement in the west. He went on to say that the Queen-street subway was a very important street, and that the city of Toronto, if not in law, in honor pledged to open up this street and widen the subway. They would not want the proposed deviation of the Dufferin-street, as it was a very important street, and that the city of Toronto, if not in law, in honor pledged to open up this street and widen the subway.

The second of the resolution, Mr. Christie, said that the history of the subway was not creditable to the city of Toronto. He went on to say that the city of Toronto, if not in law, in honor pledged to open up this street and widen the subway. They would not want the proposed deviation of the Dufferin-street, as it was a very important street, and that the city of Toronto, if not in law, in honor pledged to open up this street and widen the subway.

The council then adjourned to George Empringham's hotel, Little York, to meet in regard to the improvement of the line between York and Scarborough, which has occasioned more than the usual complexity this year. Both bodies were of the opinion that more money would have to be spent than the amounts decided upon.

It was finally settled that each municipality would increase the grants already made by $100, making for York $125 and for Scarborough $275, which will be employed in grading and graveling during the present season.

Manager Dingman and Warden Stephenson, president of the Toronto and Scarborough Electric Railway Company, took this opportunity of showing the members of the Council the proposed route of their railway extension to Little York, for which they are asking the council to grant an extension of one year in which to complete the road.

An agreement between the township and the company for the proper building of the road was presented, and was referred to the council for their approval.

It is believed that the company will be granted the extension of time asked for, as some of the members of the council opposed the request.

The council took a trip over that part of the road already completed and were very much pleased with the facilities provided. The president and manager of the company complimented on the very comfortable cars provided.

In answer to a request of the ratepayers of section 25 (Braceville) the council will meet at Branceville on Saturday, April 14, to consider the proposed extension of the railway to the location of the school. It seems some of the ratepayers of the present school moved, while others are anxious to have it remain where it is. The council will endeavor to arrive at a compromise.

Communication from Robert Plunkett, Woodbridge, re the bad condition of the seventh concession was laid over until the general inspection of the roads is made.
