GUIDE-ADVOCATE, WATFORD, FEBRUARY 21, 1913

AN ARCTIC ADVENTURE.

Nansen's Daring and Perilous Swim For His Drifting Boats.

Among the perilous adventures the Nansen arctic expedition was the narrow escape of Nansen and Johan-sen on their return trip to the Fram after their unsuccessful dash for the pole. After many months of hardship a narrow channel opened in the ice, and they launched the two light kalaks that they had carried on their sledges for more than a year. A few days afterward disaster nearly put an end to the expedition. The incident is related "The Siege and Conquest of the North Pole," by Mr. George Bryce. In the evening their legs felt stiff with sitting in the kaiaks all day, and they landed on the edge of the ice so that they might stretch them a little. After the kalaks, which were lashed together, had been moored by means of one of the braces they ascended a hummock close by and had been standing there only a moment when Johan sen raised the cry that the kaiaks were adrift.

They ran to the edge of the ice, but the boats were already a little way off and were drifting quickly. The position was a terrible one, for all they possessed was on board. Nansen at once threw off some of his clothing, handed his watch to Johansen and sprang into the icy water. He knew that if the boats were lost it meant death to him and his companion. At first it seemed more than doubtful whether he could manage to regain When he got tired he turned them. over and swam on his back. At length he gained a little and redoubled his exertions. By this time Nansen felt his limbs stiffening and losing all feeling. His strokes became more and more feeble, but the distance from the kaiaks be came shorter, and at last he was able to grasp a snowshoe that lay across the sterns. He now tried to pull himself up, but his body was so stiff with cold that he could not do so. After a little he managed to swing one leg up to the edge of the sledge that was lashed to the deck and then raised the rest of his body. They were saved! With some difficulty he paddled the kaiaks back to Johansen, who admitted that these were the worst moments he had ever lived through. Johansen now pulled off Nansen's wet clothes, put on the few dry ones they had in reserve, spread the sleeping bag upon the ice and covered Nansen with the sail and everything he could find to keep out the cold. The next day Nansen was all right again, and in the evening they pressed forward once more on the march that finally brought them out of the arctic.

A Chilly Forecast.

Knew the Symptoms, "Doctor, my husband is losing his mind, I fear. He continually mumbles and mutters to himself." "Is it possible?"

"Yes; he mutters to himself, and when you speak to him he stares at you blankly." "I know what the trouble is," said the doctor, smiling. "He is memorizing some lodge work. I belong to the same odge."-Louisville Courier-Journal.

Unnecessary Instructions. "Now, Tommy," stild bis mother, giv-ing her final instructions before he left for the party. "remember, if you're asked to have something you want you must say. 'Yes, thank you,' and if you don't want it".-Tommy raised his hand. "That's all right, ma," he said; "you needn't both-er about that part of it."

Evolution of the Mortgage. "Farming methods have changed, haven't they?" "Yep," replied Farmer Cornton 'Now a man thinks he's unlucky if be has to borrow money on his place. He used to think he was lucky if he was able to."-Washington Star.

WHAT FULLOWED A CUT Magistrate's Wonderful Experience With Zam-Buk.

Mr. J. E. Arsenault, a Justice of the Peace, and station master at Wellington, on the Prince Edward Island Ry., has had a wonderful proof of the healing power of Zam-Buk. He says : "Four years ago I had an accident. I slipped in the station and fell on a freight track containing a bad cut on the front

"Four years ago I had an accuent." slipped in the station and fell on a freight trnck, sustaining a bad cut on the front of my leg. I thought this would heal, but instead of doing so it developed into a bad ulcer and later into the form of eczema which spread very rapidly and also started on the other leg. Both legs became so swollen and sore that I could only go about my work by having them bandaged. My doctor said I must stop work and lay up. "After six months of this trouble I consulted another doctor, but with no better result. I tried all the salves, limi-ments and lotions I heard of, but instead of getting better I got worse. "This was my condition when I got my first box of Zam Buk. Greatly to my delight that first box gave me relief. I continued to apply it to"the sores, and day by day they got better. I could see that at last I had got hold of something which would cure me, and in the end it did. "It is now over a year since Zam-Buk

"It is now over a year since Zam-Buk worked a cure in my case, and there has been no return of the eczema or any trace of it."
