A Washington Farmer's Good Roads Endorsement

MR. FRANK TERRACE, ADDRESSING THE Good Roads Convention at Tacoma, Washington, gave the following enthusiastic testimony in favor of good roads:

"I am a cabbage grower. I haul my produce to the sauerkraut factory at South Seattle. Before the road over which I travel was built, I had to get up at 4 o'clock in the morning to start on my journey. The limit of the load I could haul with a team of 1800 pound horses was 2500 pounds, and after visiting the factory I would arrive back at my home late in the evening. But look at the difference now that a permanent hard surface has been laid down. I start on my trip about 8 o'clock and need only a team weighing 1400 pounds to haul a load of 5000 pounds of cabbage, which is double my previous capacity. And, best of all, I find on my return to the house early in the afternoon, that I have finished the day's work without the horses having turned a hair."

Concrete Roads Mean Road Economy

They prevent your road taxes being spent in patching up roads that never will be good roads.

They are the cheapest kind of roads at the end of ten, fifteen or twenty years because they practically eliminate the cost of upkeep. They enable you to haul bigger loads with less effort and less wear and tear on horses and vehicles. They increase land values, better conditions generally, and decrease the cost of living.

Write for, free, Good Roads literature, and learn how good roads will benefit you.

Weak Heart

Many people suffer from weak hearts. They may experience shortness of breath on exertion, pain over the heart, or dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals or their eyes become blurred, the heart is not sufficiently strong to pump blood to the extremities, and they have cold hands and feet, or poor appetite because of weakened blood supply to the stomach. A heart tonic and alterative should be taken which has no bad after-effect. Such is

FOR THE ELDERLY WOMAN.

Black and White Fabrics Make Suitable and Stylish Summer Gowns.

After all its riot of color Paris is showing a marked tendency to return to black and white, always a favorite color combination with Parisiennes. Gowns seen at the races and various outdoor fetes show a distinct preference for this combination.

A fine linen is the most satisfactory material for the lingerie frock that is to endure tubbing, and it will pay to obtain an excellent quality. The balistes and mulls are softer and launder well if carefully handled, but the linen will outwear them every time.

Various other sheer cottons have come into popularity. Swiss and organdie are, of course, old favorites, but their crispness, once their chief merit, has made them yield place somewhat to the softer mulls and batistes and linsens, though they are still liked. The cotton nets, volles and crapes are more recent arrivals and have achieved decided popularity.

These launder well, are easily handled and are very soft, graceful and durable despite their sheerness, and they lend themselves admirably to simple forms of trimming, although they may be made very elaborate with hand embroidery.

The cotton nets come in varying meshes, in wide widths and are not extremely expensive. Frequently one sees a frock made entirely of the net and quite devoid of trimming save for scalloped or picot edges or edges hem-stitched.

The fashions of the moment are of a character that make it difficult to select for elderly women costumes that will be both fashionable and dignified. For the woman whose figure is more than a little plump the gown illustrated here is both becoming and smart. This tub frock is carried out in white cotton crape trimmed with venise lace. The long front line, the gore over the hips and the long points in the blouse give a cleverly contrived effect of slenderness. The gown fastens invisibly down the front by means of closely set snappers. A touch of black is given to the blouse by means of the black velvet ribbon girdle and the band of black velvet ribbon across the vestee. Crochet ornaments and crochet buttons decorate the garment.

TOWELING APRONS.

They Are Useful In Many Household Emergencies.

The newest idea for an apron is one made of toweling. The kind that can be purchased by the yard, with stripes or wide stripes at each side, is used. The blue barred toweling also can be turned into attractive aprons.

These toweling aprons are usually made with a bib and can be used for sewing, housework or chafing dish aprons. Of course they have one or two large pockets, a necessary adjunct to all serviceable aprons.

The edge is sometimes fringed, which makes a very good finish, or it is simply hemmed, using the French method, which makes the stitches invisible.

The use of Turkish toweling made into aprons has been discovered by young mothers, as it is just the thing to wear when giving baby his bath.

Eliminating Insect Pests.

To get rid of roaches try the following: To one part of sulphur add an equal amount of ground red pepper and five parts of borax. Mix well and dust into their runways, resting places and breeding places with a bellows.

Some housewives use with good results a mixture of borax and red pepper. The addition of sulphur to this is to be recommended. It fumigates the haunts of the marauders, besides being disagreeable to them when they are alive.

SURPRISED THE CAPTIVE.

An Incident That Aroused Varied Emotions All Around.

In his "Reminiscences" General Basil W. Duke of the Confederate army tells of an incident he witnessed just after the close of the war:

"One morning about 9 o'clock I was sitting on the platform of a station waiting for my train when my attention was attracted to a squad of Federal soldiers who had evidently been on guard during the night, but were now getting their breakfast. They were well supplied with rations and seemed in high spirits.

"Just then I caught sight of a lank, hungry looking fellow who was unmistakably an ex-Confederate. He wore a ragged, faded gray jacket, with the buttons cut off, a pair of most dilapidated blue trousers and an old canvas haversack, as empty as extra-sidereal space, hung around his neck. If he had eaten a square meal within six months appearances were deceitful. He was partially hidden behind a cotton bale, whence he watched the Yankees spread with eyes that threatened to protrude across the intervening distance.

"About the time I saw him the 'Yanks' also caught sight of him. They held a short consultation; then one of them sprang up, started toward him and shouted out:

"'Hello, reb! Come this way; we want you!'

"For some reason—perhaps because I was sick and peevish—I conceived the idea that they wanted to arrest him, and my blood boiled with indignation at so totally an unprovoked act of oppression.

"The 'Johnnie' evidently entertained the same opinion, for he began a rather rapid retreat. A fresh summons, however, re-enforced by a volley of threats, induced him to turn and approach the party, with an attempted dignity of demeanor that was ludicrous compared with his hasty retrograde movement.

"When he reached the spot where the 'grub' was the Yanks seized him, made him sit down and began to exert themselves to appease his manifest hunger. I have known some extraordinary feeders, but I honestly believe I have never seen any other two men eat as much as that fellow did. He kept at it steadily for not less than an hour, while the Yanks added and encouraged him to the utmost. He drank six tin cups of coffee. He swelled visibly, and I wondered how his frail garments stood the tension.

"When at length he finished his capacious crammed his weatherbeaten old haversack full of hard tack and bacon and sent him on his way rejoicing.

"It is scarcely necessary to say that my own feelings in regard to the incident had very materially changed during its progress."

The Gallery's Verdict.

In the old days the proprietor of a music hall always used to walk up and down the center gangway during the performances and restrain the exuberance of his patrons. One night a lady singer began a doleful ballad in a still more doleful voice, and at once received "the bird" from the gallery. "That'll do, boys," said the proprietor. "Order, please! Give the artists a chance." But when the performance was finished he took off his hat, bowed to the gallery and remarked, "I beg pardon, you were quite right"—London Express.

Life.

In certain of its essential respects, a midhouse; in others, a pageant; in still others, a commonplace succession of humdrum incidents. At times you are quite sure it is all a gray monotony; again it begins to arise and spread itself like an Arabian night. And the unexpected breaks loose—a series of strange encounters, flashes of vivid color, bright eager personalities jostling and strutting in excess of vitality. —Harper's Weekly.

Miller's Worm Powders act mildly and without injury to the child, and there can be no doubt of their deadly effect upon worms. They have been in successful use for a long time and are recognized as a leading preparation for the purpose. They have proved their power in numberless cases and have given relief to thousands of children, who, but for the good offices of this superior compound, would have continued weak and enfeebled.
