

Yearly Meeting sending us 100 such names and addresses with $25.00, we shall send a copy to each for one year. If more than 100 be sent in one lot the same rate will be charged. Each lot should be confined to the one Yearly Meeting as far as possible. We hope all will recognize the advantages of this offer, and that many homes will be benefitted by it. What more worthy work can a Young Friends' Association engage in?

We will send the YOUNG FRIENDS' REVIEW for one year after date of marriage to any couple marrying in the order of our Society and furnish us with notice thereof.

MORE KIND WORDS.

From Chappaqua, N. Y.—“The new department in the YOUNG FRIENDS' REVIEW bids fair to be of special interest to Friends living near New York and Brooklyn. We think the little paper is struggling bravely toward a position of great value in the near future. It is certainly improving in interest, which should be an encouragement to those who have stood at the helm through critical times.”

From Pelham, Ont.—“I would be much pleased to see our valuable little paper have a broader circulation, for pure literature is, I am sorry to say, a thing very much needed in the majority of homes. I wish you every success in your pure and noble work.”

COLDSTREAM Y. F. A.

For the Young Friends' Review.

The Coldstream Young Friends' Association met 2nd mo. 23.

The History Section (on the subject of prison reform, with Elizabeth Fry as the central figure) gave the programme of the evening.

Seven new members were reported.

Among others was the report of the Current Topic Section, in which was mentioned the death of Frances E. Willard, which was regretted very sincerely. Samuel P. Zavitz then gave a reading, entitled, “Friends' as Pioneers in Philanthropic Labors,” which was followed by a paper, “Sketches from the Life of Elizabeth Fry,” by Ethel Zavitz. It was remarked how well Mrs. Fry followed the dictates of the Inner Light. Vincent Zavitz read a verse which was written in the fly-leaf of a book presented to Elizabeth Fry by Hannah More. Noble J. Zavitz gave a reading bearing on the subject of “Prison Reforms by Early Friends.” Georgia Zavitz read a paper on “Elizabeth Fry's Reforms in Newgate.” Lewis Morris' poem
