

- The International Development Research Centre is supporting three research activities in Nicaragua related to the management of natural resources and biodiversity, with a total grant of $340,000.
- Total Canadian overseas development aid for 1994-95 through all channels, including multilateral agencies and international financial institutions, is estimated at $15.51 million.