

nated. Dinner at Mrs. Porter's—Anecdotes of Napoleon. Dinner at the French Ambassador's, Portland Place. Dinner at Mr. Trotter's. Prerogation of Parliament. Letter to Mr. Crawford, Secretary of the Treasury. Parliamentary Report on the Foreign Trade of England. Interview with Lord Castlereagh—Umpirage of the Emperor Alexander under the Treaty of Ghent. Correspondence between the Minister of State at Madrid and the British Ambassador, respecting the Florida Treaty. Party at Prince Esterhazy's.....	336
---	-----

CHAPTER XIX.

Party at the Russian Ambassador's—Certain duties of British Ambassadors and Ministers—Language of Official Diplomatic Notes. Levee at Carlton Palace—Special Audience of the King to deliver Autograph Letters from the President, on the Death of the Dutches of York, and recall of Sir Charles Bagot from his Mission to Washington. The Coronation. Dinner at the Marquis of Londonderry's, (late Lord Castlereagh.) Fête Champêtre at North Cray, given by the Marchioness of Londonderry in honor of the Coronation. Dinner at the King's. The Duke of Wellington gives a dinner in honor of the Coronation, at which the King is his guest. Ball given by the Duke de Grammont, Special Ambassador from France, in honor of the Coronation, which the King attends.. ..	368
--	-----

CHAPTER XX.

Death of the Marquis of Londonderry. The Foreign Ambassadors and Ministers attend his Funeral. Mr. Canning becomes Foreign Secretary of England. Instructions for opening an Extensive Negotiation with England. Interview with Mr. Canning on that subject. Conversation with him on the plans of France and the European Alliance, respecting Spanish America. Relationship of the United States to this subject. Dinner at Mr. Planta's—the Game of Twenty Questions.....	391
--	-----