

The Copyright Act, 1911

The purpose of this Act is to amend the Copyright Act, 1911, in relation to the copyright in literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works, and to provide for the registration of such works.

The Minister of the Crown, in consultation with the Copyright Commission, may make regulations for the purposes of this Act.

The Minister of the Crown, in consultation with the Copyright Commission, may make regulations for the purposes of this Act.

1. The Copyright Act, 1911, is amended to read as follows:

1. The Copyright Act, 1911, is amended to read as follows:

2. The Copyright Commission shall be established as a body corporate, and shall be known as the Copyright Commission.

2. The Copyright Commission shall be established as a body corporate, and shall be known as the Copyright Commission.