COLD BLASTS DO NOT STOP

Contractors Have Work Systemized and Structures Are Going Up All Over the City.

The World referred the other day to the revolution that cement and steel effecting in our building material. There is also another revolution under y-that of building in winter. True, this is a mild winter; but were it not,

Trade Normal. Architect J. Francis Brown, review ing the building situation, was inclined to believe that trade conditions were only normal. Contracts entered upon anics could work with greater comfort and ensure better progress. A feature of last year's work was a great increase in bank buildings erected. Looking into future Mr. Brown said that the four large works in contemplation, to wit, the new union station, public library, general hospital and central postoffice, could scarcely be expected to materialize in 1906. Incidentally the chitect remarked that the plan adopto evoke a spirited competition. The cost of preparing the necessary plans

Annual Elections of the Toronto

The Toronto Horticultural Society held its annual meeting in St. George's Hall Wednesday night and elected its officers The builders now warm the cement, the water, the gravel, the crushed stone; board in the cement, and taking other precautions, they are enabled to do as good cement work in cold January weather as in September. The plasterers put in temporary windows and carry on their operations inside all winter with the aid of fires or steam; some even have the hot water heating going. Masons are laying granite on the branch postoffice with a stand of hot coals near them. Bricklaying is no trouble to the men on a hundred jobs. The iron men erect steelwork structure unhindered by the temperature.

CAN RATS CLIMB A CABLE?

Feat of Rodent Gymnastics Mentioned in Complaint of Depredations by Market Butchers.

"The cellar under the market is used for storing hay and miscellaneous mat-ter, and the rats have congregated there in large numbers and come up the stairway and elevator shaft at night and commit depredations." wrote Solicitor J. M. Thurston in a letter read before the civic property committee yes-

Mr. Thurston voiced a grievance of St. Lawrence Market butchers in general and George H. Waller & Son in particular. Meat to the value of from $10. to $15 per night was destroyed, so claim was made, and Mr. Thurston readit as the duty of the city to "citner clear out the celiar or put safeguards on the staircase and elevator shaft."

Property Commissioner Harris & plained that he had grappled with the problem by ordering a number of traps, but that the rodents were with and too up-to-date to be taken in by old-tash ioned methods. Mr. Harris, however, expressed doubts as to the ability of even the market rats to get up the elevator shaft. There was only a cable by which they could do it.

Ald. Adams, who is just starting out on a clwic career, gave his first opinion as an alderman. It was an expression of scepticism as to the cable feat credited to the rats.

Mr. Harris will cast about for some way full of guile of putting an end to the nocturnal feasting.

Mr. Harris said that to make it fit for convention uses, a niew celling and a gallery would have to be put in. Ald. Church made a plea that Toronto as a convention city needed a proper hall, and the committee agreed that $25,000 might well the spent and will so recommend.

Ald. Harrison's notice of motion about establishing a public shower bath near the city hall was favorably greeted. Mr. Harrison had inspected one in Buffalo, and said it would be a godsend.

"It certainly would to this part of the town," chippied in Ald. McBride, Ald. Dunn had an ideal spot in mind. It was a block of land running east from McCaul-street, back of St. Patrick's Market. Ald. Chisholm thought it should be iccated on Teraulay, Elizabeth or Chestnut-streets. The property, commissioner will survey the situation.

The Butchers' Worries.

Ald. Church wanijed to have the committee visit St. Lawrence Market to get a line on the feeling among the butchers about moving their stalls to the north end, but Mr. Harris asterted that to do so would re-open an old trouble. The lessees were doing better than in the old market, and practically all were satisfied. It was agreed to let things stand until something more definite is known about the entrance of the radials.

The property commissioner was given an appropriation of $24.000 to go on with until the estimates are struck, Of this $5000 for the cattle market, $10.000 for the cattle market, $10.000 for markets in general work, and $4000 for markets in general. An interim appropriation of $6000 was also passed for Toronto jail. The crowded state of the jail was referred to by Ald. Chisholm, who said that lately there were sixty prisoners there awarding accommodation at the Central. This led Ald. Dunn to complain that there lacked proper room for divine worship in the jail, and he proposed that the committee pay a visit. This will be done next Tuesday afternoon.

As the city's apparatus for life-saving was agreed to be insufficient, it was recommended that chain loops be hung at Yonge-street. Geddes, Brock and Bay-street wharvies. Mr. Rust will re-port on the cost of keeping a life-sav-ing crew summer and winter. The Board of Control.

The Hoard of Control.

Mayor Coatsworth's pet project, the trunk sewer, was sprung upon the board of control yesterday, in the nequest that fresh reports be got from Dr. Sheard and Mr. Rust. Controller Hubbard held that the city's health was good, so that there was no hurry, and suggested that the waterworks improvements be first finished. The trunk sewer might be built during "hard times," giving work to the unemployed. The mayor retorted that the city might not then have the money.

Controller Ward will accompany the mayor to Montreal to attend the funeral of Hon. Raymond Prefontaine.

Mr. Fullerton wrote, complaining that by enactment the York Radial Company had power to locate markets within the had power to locate markets within the city limits should it so desire, and suggested that it be considered whether or not to allow this.

These interim appropriations were granted: Medical health street clean-ing, etc., $78.000; city treasurer. $227,750. of which $269.350 is uncontrollable; fire department, $77,000; city architect, $3500.
