WOMAN'S WORLD.

A DRESSY WAIST IN NET. 6800-Every woman who touches so much as the hem of society life needs a dainty waist, which she may don with the suit or another skirt, and be pre sentable for any sort of afternoon or evening function. The woman of moderate means will find the simple waist of embroidered net or crepe de chine. in some delicate color like champagne, pink or blue, exceedingly becoming and very serviceable, not to mention its inexpensiveness. A suggestion for such a waist is shown, but any number of variations may be added. The yoke, which extends out a bit over the shoulder, giving that broad effect so much sought for this season, may be of tucked chiffon or silk, or even tucked organdie, with a simple lace galon as finishing. No other trimming material for the waist is needed except a girdle of velvet, if desired. The sleeves are pleasing, with their soft fulness, shirred in to arm size above the elbow The classes, the body of Baroness Burdettlong cuff may be attached, and the sleeves finished to the wrist. A veiling, chiffon, soft silk or Swiss, may be developed in this way, the medium size Abbey to-day. The Abbey was calling for 2 3-4 yards of 27-inch goods. 6800-Sizes 32 to 42 inches, bust measure

Secretary Taft Will Try to Improve

Washington, Jan. 5.-Secretary of War Taft will present to congress next week a draft of a bill for the organization of volunteer regiments in time of war, like those organized in 1899 for service in the Philippines, which were commanded by officers of the regular army.

The measure is a most comprehensive one, and is intended to end the plan of having state volunteer regi-ments organized and officered by civilian officers appointed because of their political influence.
