

NOW A STRONG HEALTHY GIRL

Saved from the Grave by Psychine

Miss May Moore of Teeswater, Ont., says "A year or two ago my health was in a very precarious state. I was just getting over a very bad attack of 'LA GRIPPE' which had left me prostrate. I had a dreadful hacking cough, could not rest day or night because of the pain in my lungs, and frequently brought up a large quantity of blood. I consulted one of the best physicians in our town, and after sounding me thoroughly, he told me that my lungs were in a very bad state, that I was getting rapidly worse, and that Consumption would most assuredly bring me to my grave in the near future."

"My appetite was entirely gone, and I was simply wasting away to a shadow. At nights I used to perspire so that in the morning I could wring the water out of my clothes."

"At last PSYCHINE was recommended to me as a sure cure, and although feeling most discouraged, I determined to give it a trial. I was surprised at the marvelous result. I felt like a charm. My cough was relieved at once, and soon left me altogether. Neither did I have a single hemorrhage after taking the PSYCHINE. I began to put on flesh rapidly, so much so that several of my friends could hardly believe that I was the same person. PSYCHINE does its work thoroughly, and it undoubtedly brought me back from the verge of the grave and made me a strong healthy girl."

PSYCHINE is the greatest strength restorer and system builder known to medical science, and should be used for Coughs, Colds, Weak Lungs, Wasting Diseases, Loss of Appetite, etc. All druggists and stores sell PSYCHINE. 60c and $1.00 bottles. INDIAN COMES TO TRIAL FOR MURDER OF UNCLE

"Unwritten Law" May Play Big Part in Defence—Sister is the Chief Witness.

BELLEVEILLE, March 9.—(Special.)—"I expect to hang," is the way Thos. Smith, the young Mohawk Indian of Tyendinaga Township, views his chances with the jury in the case that is being tried before Justice Teetzel, starting at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Smart is to be tried for the murder of his step-uncle, James Sero, about 10 years old, who was shot down in the night while on his way to his house after putting his horses out.

The above quotation is vouched for by William Hughes, who spent ten days in close companionship with Smith on a charge of petty theft.

Hughes swears: "If God should strike me dead, that's what he said."

Hughes further explains the motive for the shooting as resulting from the accused's own lips in the fact that the uncle was too intimate with the prisoner's 15-year-old sister.

Considerable interest is manifested in the trial, as it has been intimated that defence counsel, W. L. Harrington, C. will dwell largely on the moral aspect of the case, and play up the unwritten law very strongly.

Quite a bit of speculation is going the rounds as to whether Dorothy Smart, the prisoner's sister, will stick to the story she told at the preliminary trial. She was married in January to Arthur Braff of the reserve, and on this account it is hinted she might be moved to play and alter her evidence in order to shield her brother.

ELEEN PRIVATE BILLS SENT INTO RETIREMENT

Due to Neglect of Members in Charge to Comply With Regulations and Requests.

W. H. Hoyle as chairman of the standing orders committee gave another warning to the negligent lawyers who jeopardize the interests of the clients by not conforming to the regulations of the house in the matter of private bill legislation. Members are themselves also to blame in this respect.

At the instance of Premier Whitney, Mr. Hoyle stated that of 25 bills before the house the initial step of presenting the petition had not been taken in the case of eleven of them. These would have to fall by the wayside, as he could hold out no hope of the committee extending the time allotted for receiving petitions. The other fourteen, which had been partially proceeded with, if the declarations were hastened and everything found to be correct, he hoped to get thru.

Debate Resumes.
Mr. McDougall, member for East Ottawa, in resuming the budget debate yesterday, contrasted the optimistic manner of the provincial government with the gloomy pessimism of the federal government.

He said that the provincial government, in its expenditure, was not keeping pace with the revenue of the province. In the face of this expenditure increasing day after day we should understand that the revenue of the province is not keeping pace with the expenditure.

In regard to the T. N. O. Railway Mr. McDougall expressed some concern with the statement of earnings, and said that with the building of the National Transcontinental Railway the mining boom in Cobalt and Gowanda this road should make money. If it will not make money under these conditions it never will.

He chided the government on the praise they claimed for the favorable outcome of the Soo guarantee. The benefits to the province from the rejuvenation of the Soo industries, he claimed, were ample justification of the forecast which prompted the guarantee.

Concluding Mr. McDougall called upon the Liberal party throughout Ontario to rally around the little band that represent them in the legislature, and every member of the opposition would pledge himself to give his best time and attention to the interests of the party and province.

No Criticisms to Criticize.
The members for North York, H. T. Lennox, followed. He found it difficult to reply to the criticisms of opposition members, because they had been unable to criticize any act of the present government.

The member for East Ottawa could hardly find fault with the expenditure of the Ontario Government, while he supported his friends in Ottawa.

The member for West Northumberland (S. Clarke) was not sincere when he said that this government, in following in the steps of its predecessor in the four years in which the annual revenue has increased from five to nine millions of dollars, had not given away. Timber was not sold by tender, but by secret measure, and during the tenure of office of the present minister of lands and mines the highest price ever realized has been paid to the government.

Discussing the augmentation in revenues, Mr. Lennox pointed out that during the last four years of the late Liberal government the revenues of the province were $287,000, while, from 1903-5, it amounted to $2,612,206.

In the provincial secretary's department the revenue had increased from $114,900 to $165,000. From woods and forests the revenue had risen from $4,282,000 to $5,884,902.

The railway tax, deportation of criminals, grants to colonization roads and the government's liberality to the cause of education were other matters upon which Mr. Lennox drew comparisons, and showed that the present government had conspicuously departed from the policy of its predecessors.

Municipalities Benefit.
In concluding Mr. Lennox pointed out that $411,000 had been paid to the municipalities out of the license fees by the present government, while under the old government $182,000 only would have been returned.

D. C. Ross rose to attack the government on increasing the list of municipalities from 250 to 335 in 1908. He considered this to be the true cause of the inflation of the civil list, instead of any generosity towards the old servants.

A YOUTHFUL OCTOGENARIAN.
From Leslie's Weekly.

A remarkable instance of youthfulness preserved in an advanced age is that of Dr. Frederick James Furnivall, the famous English lexicographer and author. Dr. Furnivall, who recently celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday, has been for sixty-four years noted as an oarsman, and once a week he still rows a ten-mile spin on the Thames with three men young enough to be his grandsons.

He also acts as coxswain to a working girls' sculling club which he founded. Mentally he is the designer. He is an eminent record of work and health is "Keep steady; take exercise; don't drink; don't smoke."

Dr. Furnivall would probably also be willing to admit that he has been favored in his environment and calling, and that he inherited a constitution of the kind fitted for longevity.

Open air meetings I know will not be permitted, but with that exception I believe we shall find no obstacle to our operations."

GEN. BOOTH SETS OUT ON A VISIT TO RUSSIA

W. T. Stead Tells Some Interesting Facts About the Veteran Leader of Salvation Army.

W. T. Stead cables The American from London: Thirty years ago, when I first came to London, one of my first journalistic duties was to patrol the streets on Sunday nights in order to report the attacks made upon the Salvation Army processions by the mob.

In those days General Booth was regarded as a nuisance, and Salvationists were held in contempt.

Now a wonderful change has come over the spirit of our dream. Since Mr. Gladstone's death General Booth has become the Grand Old Man par excellence of Great Britain. No one attacks the Salvation Army in the press.

Very few critics are left in the press. General Booth is still reported within inverted commas as "General" by The Times, but the last surviving relic of what was nearly thirty years ago as a general tone of contempt in society about the man.

I saw General Booth for an hour just before his departure for a tour in Scandinavia, which is to lead up to his first visit to Russia. He is now eighty years old, but he has made a good recovery from an operation for cataract on one eye, but the other is unimpaired. He is frail, but his spirit is unabated. He is everywhere, and by no means so heartily as by the sovereigns and statesmen of Europe.

When I saw him he had just had an hour and a half's intimate conversation with the Prince and Princess of Wales, with the Prince and Princess of Denmark. After seeing the Kings of Norway and Sweden he will, I hope, be in the Czar at St. Petersburg.

Yet all these crowding honors have not the great of this world, for his heart is ever with the fallen and the weak. His sympathies are much more with the sinners than with the saints. He loves the Good Shepherd, who left the ninety and nine in the wilderness to seek and to save the one which was lost.
