B. F. O'Neill, editor of the Sporting Editor of the Recorder this morning, asking to publish a challenge to match his unknown horse against Fern Hal, John A. Hal, Our Colored, White Sox, Peter Farren, Bob Mac, or any other free-for-aller in the provinces, or James Albert, of Boston, who has been talked of as coming to the provinces, for a sweepstakes of $1,000 each winner to take all race to take place about the middle of October.
O'Neill says he will not name his horse until later. Asked if it was Addio Guy coming here again, he said it was not. When O'Neill returned from New York, after selling Addio Guy, he said he had purchased another fast one, but did not give his name.

KINGS COUNTY PRODUCERS

BOOST PRICE OF MILK
Sussex, Sept. 26.—A meeting of the Kings County Milk and Cream Producers' Association was held last evening at Public Hall, Apohaqui. The following officers were elected: H. N. Flewelling, Apohaqui, president; J. Titus Barnes, Apohaqui, vice-president; W. Huber Hugard, Norton, secretary.

The production of milk was discussed, and they decided to ask the milk dealers in St. John for seventy-six cents for an eight-quart can of milk and $3.50 for eight-quart cans of cream twenty per cent.
A large delegation was appointed to meet milk dealers in St. John on Monday evening next.

"The best sergemakers in England say they can beat the Irish weavers of Irish Serge."
"They say Somerset Serge proves it."
"And we have the exclusive sale of Somerset Serge in Canada."
"You can buy it only in a Semi-ready tailored suit."
"It's nice to get the monopoly of a good thing; but it's far nicer to sell it at a better-than-ordinary value."
"Semi-ready bought so much yardage that they secured an inside price—and they give their customers free advantage of this."
"The price in the pocket of a Semi-ready suit is always based on the exact cost of the cloth."
"There's no profiteering."

STAGE IS BEING SET FOR WORLD'S BASEBALL CLASSIC

Many Local Fans Disappointed—
Had Planned on Seeing
This Year's Series

WHITE SOX HAVE EDGE

White Sox Outfield Appears Strongest—Cincinnati Reds Have Shade in Base Running—Reds Also Have More Pitchers In Condition to Work—Should Be Great Series

As October 1 draws near the stage is being set for the great battle between the Cincinnati Reds, winners of the National League, and the Chicago White Sox, winners of the American League, which is to decide the championship of the world. As has already been announced, the first two games will be played in Cincinnati and the following three in Chicago. If more are required to decide the issue the following game will be played in Cincinnati and the next day in Chicago.

While there are no fans in St. John who begrudge the Cincinnati Reds their hard won victory in the older organization, nor the Chicago White Sox their triumph in the American League, there are many who are sorely disappointed. Many a fan set aside his holidays for the famous world's series, hoping that some team in the eastern states would win out, but as the season drew to a close they realized that they had little or no chance to see the game. As a result a few determined to go through with their original plans and see at least a few of the games in Chicago. Others have decided to save their money and go on a hunting trip and await the result of the conflict through news channels.

Who Will Win?

The question of the day is, who will win the series? There are many fans who are convinced that the American League champions will win, while others are willing to take a chance on the Reds coming across and clinching the honor for the National League. In a short series a lot will depend on what some call luck, but what ball players term the breaks of the game. Both teams have strong pitching staffs although only three of the Chicago twirlers have been winning consistently, namely, Cletto, Williams and Kerr. The Reds have five pitchers who have been showing class and the three leaders, Sallee, Reuther and Eller should be able to work in regular turns. In the complete strength the Chicago team looms up ahead of the Reds. The White Sox have four hitters over the 400 mark and others hitting better than .275. The team has a batting average for the season of .283, which is exceptionally good. On the other hand the Reds show up favorably with their rivals in fielding. During the season the Reds have excelled the White Sox in base running, although the advantage is small. An advantage, which the Chicago team has, is that the players have been together for a number of years and are well versed in one another's style of play. Moran has what might be termed a make-shift aggregation, although they have shown real class this season under the capable management of Fri Moran.

As mentioned above the White Sox are a bit shy on dependable twirlers. Eddie Cletto is the pitching ace with Claude Williams running him a close second. The former is a right hander and the latter a "port sider." Urban Fisher, who did great work for the White Sox when they faced the Giants in the 1917 world's series, has not had such success this season and it is not expected that he will take any part in the series. His work this season has been poor in comparison with that of Dick Kerr, another one of Gleason's southpaws. He is expected to make a good showing. James Mayer and Lowdermilk are not considered as possibilities unless they go in to relieve after a game is hopelessly lost. Sallee should cause the Chicago batters a lot of trouble, and is looked upon as more formidable than Reuther, while Eller, if going right, will be a hard nut to crack, as he is effective against both right and left handers. Luque, Fisher and Ring are also in good condition and may be put in case any of the others weaken.

BABE RUTH GETS LONGEST HIT IN BASEBALL HISTORY

New York, Sept. 24.—Babe Ruth of the Boston Red Sox broke all home run records at the Polo Grounds in the ninth inning of the second game with the Yankees here today. His twenty-eighth home run for the season cleared the top edge. Jackson, Felch and Leibold are clever fly chasers and all good consistent hitters. Jackson leading with 350, Leibold coming second with 296, and Felch third with 274. The Reds have a star in Rousch, who was hitting at the close for .322. Neale, the right fielder, is not a very good hitter while Magee only a percentage of .342. In the infield Eddie Collins is in a class by himself. He is captain of the White Sox and is conceded to be one of the brainiest players in the major league. In addition he is a wonderful fielder and a good hitter, having a percentage of .329 for the season. Groh, who covers second for Cincinnati, is also a good stick, ending the season above the 300, but he is not as clever a fielder as Collins. There is not much choice between Gandil and Daubert on first. Both are experienced players and are dangerous hitters. Weaver shows up better than Ruth on third and is a better hitter as well as a more versatile player. In case of an accident to Risberg he can go to short and play equally as well as the "hot corner." Risberg seems to be a bit faster than Kopf, but is weaker with the stick. Both are good short stops and will undoubtedly be given a chance to fight it out for honors in the series.

On the whole, it would seem that the White Sox have an edge, but it must be taken into consideration that Moran has drilled his aggregation into a steady, hard fighting machine with a lot of speed, and much baseball brains. Moran has them well drilled and they are pretty steady under pressure. In addition they have an abundance of courage in baseball. The coming series is looked upon as the making of one of the best in years and it is felt that it will run for at least seven games.

of the right field grandstand, the longest hit that was ever seen since the days when the goats roamed Coogan's Bluff, and even before that. Numerically it placed Ruth's home run record one beyond the twenty-seven achieved by Ed Williamson in 1884.

A Casual Walker.
The blow came in the ninth inning, with the Yanks leading by one run in a tight pitching duel between young Wall Hoyt and Bob Shawkey of the Yankees. Ruth had been making desperate efforts to break the record all afternoon and had been swinging wildly in his eagerness. He was the first man up and his huge frame was shaking with anxiety to swing his huge bat on something tangible.

The first ball was high and wide and Ruth let it go by with a scowl. The second one was a slow surrled ball and it drifted by the port side of the young giant about waist high. Every ounce of the huge body went into the swing. He met the ball fairly and it shot toward the roof of the grandstand with such speed that few could follow its course. It cleared the roof and Ruth started to trot around the bases.

High on the corner of the roof a boy who had gone up to furl the flags waved his hands excitedly to indicate that the ball had gone out of the stadium into the lot next door. The announcer ran down the field to verify this by word of mouth.

Longest Hit in History.

Some years back Shoeless Joe Jackson held the record for long hits at the Polo Grounds. His hit landed in the space between the left field stands and the bleachers. Ruth's hit went fairly out of the grounds, the first time that a ball has been driven out of the place since it was built.

There is no way of measuring the exact distance of the hit, but the writer is

THE FIRST CIGARETTE

YOU EVER SMOKED

Do you remember when you first smoked a cigarette? Of course, you do. Very few smokers forget the occasion when they first started to smoke. Probably in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the first cigarette smoked was not one which was bought, but one which was offered by a friend.

And now, do you remember the taste and flavor of that cigarette? Probably not, because it is hard to appreciate the very first smoke. However, it is reasonable to conclude that it was a Virginia cigarette, because ninety percent of Canada's cigarette smokers favor Virginia tobacco.

Since smoking your first cigarette you too, have probably developed a taste for Virginia cigarettes which cannot be changed.

Of the many Virginia cigarette brands on the market, Tuxedo Virginia Cigarettes are the most popular among the smokers in Canada. Tuxedo are made of pure Virginia leaf, and blended in a way as to make the smoke delicious and satisfying.

Ask for a package when you're in a hurry— you'll like them.

WHY SMOKERS LIKE VIRGINIA CIGARETTES

Have you ever asked yourself why you prefer Virginia cigarettes to Turkish? You probably have, because you have willing to believe that it is the longest distance covered by a batted ball. Ruth once hit for 566 feet at Tampa, Fla., during a spring session.

Being cheered out of his record by Quinn in the first game seemed to make Babe more furious. He whaled Bob the Gob victory all through the game. In the sixth inning he drove the ball out to the centre field fence for a three-bagger. He was traveling so rapidly that in his eagerness to turn it into a home run he emulated the storied boss of Fred Merkle, forgetting to touch second, and was called out.

In the twelfth inning Ruth came pretty close to making another home run. He got another of those slow curves and drove it out to far centre field. Chick Fewster was leaning against the centre field wall when he caught the ball. It is not good to feed the Babe slow curves.

"What kind of a ball did you pitch him?" they demanded in the press box after Ruth had crowned himself king and supreme monarch of all home run kings.

"It was a slow curve," replied Robert moodily.

If Ruth had not taken all of the limelight in that second game and for the entire afternoon there would have been another Red Sox hero worthy of considerable space. The other player is young Waite Hoyt, the boy pitcher, who was first discovered by McGraw. Hoyt held the Yankees hitless for nine innings after they scored their first run. He not only held them hitless, but he didn't let a single one of them reach first base. Which is some achievement for a boy pitcher engaged in a pitchers' duel with Bob Shawkey, one of the best in the league.

Hoyt got his first pasting in the second inning. Waite Pipp rolled one down toward first and best it to the bag. Pratt drove a long hit to left field, sending Pipp to third and taking second on the throw in. Duffy Lewis drove one to centre and scored Pipp. Then the pitchers' duel started in earnest, and it was the tightest sort of a game until the ninth when, as the playwright and Ring Lardner have observed, "along came Ruth."

It's a pretty strong claim to say a cigar is the best on the Continent.

But we claim this distinction in the 7c field for the Pippin.
