

Industrial Review From Many Sources

Saving and Citizenship

The man who owns his own home and takes pride in it; the man who has a bank account and saves regularly; is not stamped by the propaganda of Bolshevism or other extreme doctrines of unrest. He has proved that success and comfort can come only through honest work and self-denial. And in this respect, the man who carries a Savings Account in The Merchants Bank is a good citizen.

O. B. U. NOW ON ROCKS IN MINE FIELDS OF WEST

District 18 Now Completely Restored in United Mine Workers of America

Indianapolis, Ind.—The Mine Workers' Journal in its latest issue contains the following which tells of the death of the O. B. U. in the Western mine fields:
After a long and historic struggle, success has crowned the efforts of the International organization for the restoration of District 18 to the family of organized districts in the United Mine Workers of America. The special convention which was called for the purpose of restoring the autonomy of District 18 opened at Calgary, Alberta, on June 14, and as a result of this convention the district is now in excellent condition. All Local Unions of the district were represented. Resolutions were adopted, pledging, without reserve, compliance with all conditions laid down by the International organization, and pledging, also, co-operation and support to the end that harmony and co-operation between the various branches of the organization may be obtained.

It will be remembered that a dual organization obtained a foothold in District 18 a couple of years ago. It was known as the One Big Union. The principles of the dual organization— if it had any principles at all—were directly opposed to the fundamental principles and laws of the United Mine Workers of America. The One Big Union was an organization of that type that does nobody any good and is nothing more than a trouble maker. No person who belongs to the United Mine Workers of America and believes in its policies can be a member of the One Big Union, and no adherent of the One Big Union can hold membership in the United Mine Workers of America. Therefore, when the One Big Union sprang up in District 18 the only question was how long it could survive in its opposition against the firmly established and proved principles of the great miners' union. It was the belief of the International officials that if the real facts were brought to the attention of the coal miners of District 18 they would readily see the folly of attaching themselves to an institution of the character of the One Big Union and that once this was done the dual movement would be short-lived. And this opinion has been fully borne out by subsequent developments.

Acting on the authority of the International Executive Board, President Lewis appointed a special commission of members of the board to visit Alberta and study and report upon conditions. That commission made its investigation, and when its report was filed, President Lewis promptly revoked the autonomy of District 18, and immediately started a campaign of reorganization on a basis that would completely eliminate the influence of the One Big Union in the affairs of the United Mine Workers of America in that district. The reorganization campaign was a success. Representatives and speakers of the International Union spread the doctrines of the Union to every part of the district. They explained the unsoundness of the One Big Union movement. They made clear the splendid benefits that come to coal-mine workers from their affiliation with the United Mine Workers of America. In a short time the One Big Union was on the rocks in Disistrict 18 and the United Mine Workers was again firmly established. When this had been accomplished, the International Executive Board decided to take up the question of restoration of the autonomy of the district. A special committee consisting of John P. White, former International president, and Board Members William Daldyple and D. H. Watkins was appointed to issue the call for a special convention and to have charge of all of the proceedings in connection with the restoration of autonomy.

THE FOOLISH MAN.

There was a man in our town,
And he would never learn;
He went upon a fishing trip
And let his campfire burn.

Oh, swiftly spread that forest fire
And many homes it burned,
And from that little fishing trip
That man has ne'er returned.

Flooring That Wears

There are few floors that are subject to greater wear than those in our Sheet Metal Factory, yet they show no effects of the strain. This is because they are covered with Rock Mastic Flooring. Rock Mastic is elastic and resilient, so does not crack easily and is dust and damp-proof. Rock Mastic will withstand heavy traffic and the constant vibration from heavy machinery. Prices and particulars gladly given upon request.
