SHAW, FAIRBANKS AND THE KENTUCKY COLONEL.

(From the Hazel Greene Herald.) One of the campaign stories that floated through the cloak room recently, says the Washington Post, related to Senator Fairbanks of Indiana and Governor Shaw of Iowa, the newly appointed secretary of the treasury. According to the story these two orators were stumping Kentucky.

After a successful meeting the Kentucky colonel who had the two republican statesmen in charge, invited them into the hotel barroom for some refreshments. "What'll you have?" he asked Senator Fairbanks.

"A little cold Appollinaris," was the reply.

"And you?" said the host to Governor Shaw (who is a good Methodist, and resides in one of the best dairy counties of the Hawkeye State).

"I think I shall have a glass of Buttermilk."

The bartender turned to the Kentucky colonel.

"What shall I give you, Colonel?" he asked.

"The Kentucky gentleman heaved a long sigh. "Under the circumstances," he said, "I think you can give me a piece of pie."

Greene uses more than five thousand tons of copper sulphate per annum for killing insects, especially those that feed upon the currant bush.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 21, 1902

THE KING'S CAMPAIGN.

At the nomination proceedings at Hampton Saturday the sentiment of the majority was decidedly against the government candidate and in favor of Mr. Sprout. The latter proved his ability to cope with the orators of the rival party in debate, and gave clear evidence that if elected he will be a man to be reckoned with by the government in the proceedings of the house. It is to be regretted that Mr. King is found in his present political company, and forced by that fact into the attitude of an apologist for the attorney general in the malodorous affair of the Rotheasy lists. The people of Kings have now an opportunity to pronounce judgment upon that affair, as well as upon the general policy of the government, and it is to be hoped their verdict will be such as to give notice to our present rulers that their days of power are rapidly drawing to a close. It is time for a change. A very good beginning will be to serve notice on the attorney general, by electing the opposition candidate in Kings.

LET US GO SLOW.

It will be observed by the extracts from American papers which are quoted in today's Star, that Mr. Gourley and Mr. Bourassa have not filled the hearts of our neighbors with fire. They even refuse to take our orators seriously, any more than they do their own Mr. Wheeler of Kentucky. Perhaps it is just as well. Lying on our arms in the trenches would not be a pleasant pastime at this season, and we are still lacking those heavy guns on Fort Dufferin and Fort Howe. Of course something may be necessary to placate Mr. Gourley, but that can doubtless be arranged. Some thousands of American tourists will come down to Nova Scotia next summer and will doubtless visit the beautiful park in Truro. Mr. Gourley might easily have some traps set, and capture large numbers of them, to be grilled or hung at his good pleasure. Or he might dig a trench and pick them off with his trusty moose gun. It is really doubtful if this country wants to annex the United States, anyhow. If we did so, we would have to include Mr. Wheeler, of Kentucky; Web. Davis, Mr. Finerty, of Chicago, and many other gentlemen of vivid imagination and great lung power. It is by no means certain that we need them, and there is even a suspicion that we do not. At all events we can afford to await developments.

MISS STONE.

Spencer Eddy, of the U. S. legation at Constantinople, declares that the seizure of Miss Stone and Madame Telika was the first act in a scheme by which the Macedonians hope to attract the attention of the world and free themselves from the Turkish power. He declares that the missionaries were well cared for and that the Macedonians feel no enmity toward them. The $100,000 ransom, Mr. Eddy declares, was wanted for the Macedonian cause, and not to enrich the alleged brigands. This is an extraordinary statement, and needs confirmation.

Now that Miss Stone has been released the United States will be free to take such action as may impress upon their captors the fact that their business is not altogether a safe one. So long as she remained a captive there was danger that any hostile act might result in her death. Now that she is free the way is open for a peremptory demand for the punishment of those whose villainy has been the cause of so much anxiety and trouble.

Prince Henry will have no cause to complain of the heartiness of his reception in the United States. The American people may scoff at royalty, but they go with the procession when it comes their way. Besides they will regard it as a matter of duty and pride to make a strong impression upon the representative of a great and rival nation. The illustrated papers will have a rare subject for treatment during the stay of the prince and his party.

Although the enquiry is not yet finished, it has already been shown that in the recent election in Montreal seventeen men voted for Mr. Bergeron at one poll, while only four were returned by the deputy returning officer. The enquiry will be resumed next Wednesday. If elections are to be won by such methods as prevailed in this case, the liberal party may be willing to accept the result, but they have little cause for pride.

In refusing passports to meddlesome persons who wish to visit the concentration camps in South Africa, Secy Hay may bring upon himself the anathemas of pro-Boer agitators, but he has once more proved himself a statesman.

OUR GOURLEY

Is Compared With Mighty Wheeler of Kentucky.

Yankee Editors Make Merry at the Expense of the Truro Man.

(The New York Times.)

Hooray for Gourley! Not the grumpy John Gourley of Barbic, who lived in a house with green shutters, but S. E. Gourley of Colchester, Nova Scotia, who, with his blue nose high in the air, told the assembled statesmen of Ottawa on Wednesday that, however it might be with the British government and the British parliament, he personally yearned and pined to begin fighting the Yankees within twenty-four hours, and would promise in six months to capture Washington and annex the whole United States to Canada. That's great! It's also full of sweetest consolation for the inhabitants of this country, for it will go far toward reconciling them to their own Wheelers by removing the fearsome suspicion long entertained that the production and utilization as lawmakers of roaring maniacs was a habit not less distinctly than lamentably American. We can therefore heartily rejoice over the emergence of Gourley, pray that the aure of his proboscis may never grow pale, and wish that he may live and raucously yammer until—well, until he captures Washington and annexes the United States to Canada. He may be offensive to his own people, they may deplore his manners, and be humiliated by his folly, but on this side of the border he will be regarded with affectionate interest as a living demonstration that our burdens are no heavier than those of our neighbors. If, now, Gourley will only say something about a "wall of fire" he will magnificently prolong the parallel he has so well begun.

Boston Journal.

There seems to be "truculence" on the other side of the frontier as well as on this. Witness the case of that Nova Scotian member of the Canadian parliament who is sure that if he and his family were to go into the trenches for six months, in deadly war against the United States, they would capture Washington and annex the United States to Canada. Is the Canadian brand of whisky even more potent than the Kentucky variety?

(New York Daily Tribune.)

Members of the French Chamber of Deputies and the Austrian Reichsrath must look to their laurels. Those representatives of the effete civilizations of the Old World may have thought that they had a monopoly of parliamentary billingsgate, but the sturdy sons of the Blue Grass and the offspring of Our Lady of the Snows will convince them of their error when the American exchanges reach Paris and Vienna. Mr. Wheeler, of Kentucky, had a few days the start of Messrs. Bourassa, of Papeineauville, Quebec, and Gourley, of Truro, N. S., but with good running these gentlemen who are engaged in the innocent pastime of plunging the Dominion of Canada into war with the United States, will soon be on even terms with him. When the fiery young orator from Paducah hears of the defiance hurled at his country by Mr. Gourley, who, with his family, would "go into the trenches and stay there for two years if need be, to fight for the rights of Canada," perhaps he will train his rapid firing guns on the bloodthirsty Canuck instead of Prince Henry; and if Mr. Gourley ever really does, as he threatens, capture Washington and annex the United States to Canada, it is evident that the people of these gentlemen who are engaged in the innocent pastime of plunging the Dominion of Canada into war with the United States, will soon be on even terms with him.

MISS STONE FREE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 23.—Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary who, with Mme Telika, was captured by brigands in the district of Salonika Sept. 3 last, has been released and arrived at Strumitza, Macedonia, at 3 o'clock this morning. Nobodies at Strumitza to meet Miss Stone, as the brigands had given no indication where they proposed to release the prisoner. Mme Telika and her baby were also released at the same time. They are all well. Miss Stone immediately made herself known to the authorities at Strumitza.

The first news of Miss Stone's release was contained in a telegram received by Mr. Dickenson, the American consul general at Constantinople, from the vice-consul at Salonika. The telegram gives no details of the release.

As Strumitza is near the Salonika-Uskub railroad Miss Stone will proceed to Salonika without delay.

QUEEN SQUARE METHODIST CHURCH.

Ninety-third Anniversary of the Sunday Schools Celebrated Last Evening by a Special Service.

The 93rd anniversary of Queen square Methodist church was celebrated last evening by a special service in the church. There was a very large congregation in attendance, in addition to the scholars and officers of the school. R. Duncan Smith, the school superintendent, was in the chair. After a few introductory remarks by Mr. Smith, there was an address on the benefits of Sunday school work by Rev. Mr. Weddall, pastor of the church; the report of the school treasurer, A. B. Gilmour, which showed a most successful year; a solo by De Witt Cairns; recitation, Daisy Porter; selections by the infant class; Mrs. J. H. Welch's report of the home department; and the report of the secretary, Charles R. Racine.

The officers of the school are as follows: R. D. Smith, superintendent; G. S. Maxwell, assistant superintendent; Mrs. J. H. Welch, secretary; Miss J. Betts, secretary home department; Chas. R. Racine, secretary; N. A. Rogers, assistant secretary; A. B. Gilmour, treasurer; W. Bailey, assistant treasurer; C. M. Lingler, librarian; J. Stephenson, H. Taylor, assistant librarians.

The secretary in his report referred to the excellent work that had been done the past ninety-three years. So far as attendance went the last year had not been an exceptionally bright one, still they had not suffered any more than other schools. There were on the roll at the commencement of the year 291, at the close 277. There was an average attendance of 144. The average attendance for the first quarter was 161; second, 156; 3rd, 107; 4th, 153. The third quarter, the vacation season, greatly affected the general average. The secretary's report contained an additional amount of interesting data in connection with the school. Eva Dalton and Gordon Tutts were present at roll call each Sunday of the year. The temperance work, the Christmas gathering and gifts, the normal class, Rally day and annual picnic came in for a fair share of mention.

Diphtheria and scarlet fever cannot spread where Vapo-Cresolene is used. All Druggists.

THE D. R. A.

The annual report of the D. R. A. has been issued. It shows that there were 296 competitors against 377 in 1900. The total receipts were $25,039, and the expenditure $24,024. The expenditure on account of Bisley was $4,900, compared with $4,777 in 1900. Col. Tilton urges the need of steady practice at long range firing before a team goes to Bisley, and condemns the practice of some men accepting places on the team and then after several weeks declining to go. He also urges that the team be sent to Bisley at least a week earlier, or assemble at Rockcliffe for a week's practice before embarking. The commandant and adjutant of the team should be named at the earliest possible moment, and the members of the team, and systematic practice entered upon as soon as possible thereafter.

MONTREAL, Feb. 23.—James Ross returned yesterday from a trip to Sydney. He stated in an interview that the control of the Dominion Coal Co. was now in Canadian hands, and that its amalgamation with the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. would not take place in the near future, as rumored. Discussing the steel company, he said people expected too much as regards the complete development of the company's plans. Delays had occurred. Three furnaces had now to be re-lined, while some other matters which tended to delay had to be attended to, but nothing serious, and Mr. Ross expects the complete plant will be in stalled before the end of the present year. One of the ten steel furnaces were working and the fourth was ready. There was no possible doubt as to the quality of the output. The blooming mill was working well and the steel rail mill was well along. Rails would be rolled before the end of the year.

AN ONTARIO TOWN.

Brantford Merchants Take a Live Interest in Its Affairs.

A recent issue of the Brantford, Ont., Courier contains the annual report of J. S. Hamilton, president of the board of trade. It shows that Brantford is an enterprising and growing town, and that the merchants are very much alive to its interests. The following are extracts from Mr. Hamilton's address to the board: During the year new members were added at every regular meeting and our membership at the close of the year had increased to 244. 1901 has been a prosperous year to the business men and manufacturers of Brantford, and I understand that in the export trade the manufacturers have held their own.

The Adams Wagon Company have erected fine buildings and have done a steadily increasing trade. The Canadian Farmers' Corgage Co., who took over the old Consumers' Corgage Company's buildings, commenced active operations during the summer. Another Brantford concern, the Bailey Cutlery Company, has taken over the old Winney Mill property, and are preparing to increase their output.

In addition to these improvements extensions have been made by other Brantford factories.

The following figures regarding Brantford's factories show reasonable increase in the number of employes, and corresponding increase in the wages paid to them: Employees 1900, 3,896, increase over 1899, 381. Employees 1901, 4,038, increase over 1900, 142. Wages 1900, $1,323,017, increase over 1899, $98,129.00. Wages 1901, $1,377,436, increase over 1900, $54,419.00.

The Parks Commission, which the Brantford Board of Trade assisted to bring into being, has taken over the control of the city parks, and appears to be working in order with the city council. The splendid gift by the family of the late Ignatius Cockshutt, to the city of the Agricultural Park will add a further responsibility to the park commissioners.

The Retail Merchants' committee has, I am glad to say, secured the cooperation of all the leading retail merchants in the city and done away with the trading stamp nuisance.
