Services in Trinity Church on April 28th, 4th Sunday after Easter, will be as follows: 8 a. m. Holy Communion; 11:00 a. m. morning service and sermon; 7 p. m. evening service and sermon. Rev. J. B. Revington Jones, who is leaving for Toronto early in the week, will preach at both services.

The Unwritten Law and hundreds of other interesting motion pictures are being shown by the English Cinema Company at St. Andrew's Rink, Charlotte street. The show is pronounced one of the best in the moving picture line. Crowds are nightly attending and the enthusiasm is conclusive proof that the attraction is a good one. The show will be continued tonight and for the first half of next week.

Rev. Gleason Swin, who has been supplying the Victoria street Baptist pulpit for some time, will conclude his engagement there tomorrow. There will be baptism at the morning service and in the evening Mr. Swin will preach his farewell sermon. Only two prisoners were in the police court this morning, and both were remanded to jail. John Nagle, who has only been out of jail a few days, having served the best part of the winter and spring for abusing his sister, was this morning charged with being drunk and begging. The other prisoner was George Marshall, who was given in charge of the police by James Garnett for wilfully breaking windows in his shop at 711 Main street.

A. C. Dutton and Co., of Springfield, Mass., and John Henderson and Co., of Springfield, Mass., have purchased the A. C. McNair timber lands with shingle and saw mills at Jacquet River and Loulson, and also the timber lands of Mr. Dutch, of Jacquet River. In all 92,000 acres of valuable land and three saw mills have been purchased. The price paid for the McNair property is said to be in the neighborhood of $40,000. This has been one of the biggest transactions that has taken place along the North Shore for years.

Interest in the unique entertainment in St. David's school room on Monday evening under the auspices and in support of the Free Kindergarten is general. Tickets have been purchased. The program for the evening includes a play by the children, a play by the adults, and a play by the children. The entertainment is called a Toy Symphony and Wax Works exhibition and will be a most pleasing novelty in which some of our best known local performers will take part. The object is a most worthy one.

The roof fell to the floor of the shed yesterday morning, and Mr. Johnston considered himself lucky today that he was not detailed at work in the structure this morning. The whole building is a wreck. The entire roof has caved in and the floor has fallen down a distance of about three feet. In several places the brick walls which are about eight inches thick, have crumbled away, and repairs cannot be made.

The roof fell to the floor of the shed in the centre. On the northern side the roof would have fallen to the street had two freight cars not been on the shed when the fall occurred, as wood and bricks fell to the floor, and had any one been in the shed the occurrence would surely have ended fatally.

The collapse had been expected for some time. For this reason the shed for the past three years has been used only as a store house and regular work has not been carried on in it during that time.

David W. Johnston, an I. C. R. checker, engaged with four other men in the shed yesterday morning, and Mr. Johnston considered himself lucky today that he was not detailed at work in the structure this morning. The whole building is a wreck. The entire roof has caved in and the floor has fallen down a distance of about three feet. In several places the brick walls which are about eight inches thick, have crumbled away, and repairs cannot be made.

Only a small quantity of goods were stored in the shed. The only goods suffering from the accident were twenty-five boxes of soap and several rolls of paper consigned to the Daily Telegraph. At present it is unsafe to enter the shed, as large pieces of wood, brick and iron are hanging from the top and are liable to fall at any time. Work will not commence at removing the debris until Monday. The shed was about one hundred feet long.

EARLE THE INVENTOR STRIKES BALTIMORE

A Well Known Character Who Once Lived in St. John

Has Been for Years Floating a Luminous Mast-Head Schem—Travels from Place to Place Promoting the Affair

R. H. Earle, who claims to be an inventor by profession, and whose affairs are quite familiar to many St. John business men, particularly the patrons of a certain popular tonorial establishment, has struck no less an important burg than Baltimore, Md., and this is what the American of that place has to say about him.

"Mr. R. H. Earle, of St. John, Newfoundland, stopped off in Baltimore yesterday en route from Hummelstown, Pa., to Washington. Mr. Earle is the inventor of two marine distress signals for use on vessels and boats of all descriptions, submarine in particular. His inventions have been endorsed by experts in the navy and merchant service, and also by French and British experts. He is going to Washington to consult with the United States naval experts, who have promised him a hearing and an opportunity to demonstrate his inventions. From Washington he will proceed to Canada and Great Britain, where he will give demonstrations of his inventions. This is Mr. Earle's first visit to this city for 14 years. He said he had no idea it was so far superior to Boston."

To those who have run up against this travelling man with the invention, the quotations were such, indeed, so very low, that the price of a clam chowder or other light refreshment would close the deal.

Inventor Earle is a man of rather good address, talkatively but of no particular address geographically. Wherever he hangs his hat, that's home, and he never leaves his hat in his inside pocket. His stock certificates are made out in regular printed form, and in numerous other ways he is conducting his flotation enterprise quite as cleverly and every whit as "substantially" as many a more pretentious promoter.

INTERCOLONIAL FREIGHT SHED COLLAPSED THIS MORNING

No. 3, at the Foot of Sewell Street, Has Tumbled at Last—Was Not Used for Regular Work

No. 3 I. C. R. car shed is no more. At 9 o'clock this morning the structure collapsed, and it now presents the appearance of a building after an earthquake has wrought havoc with it. Fortunately no men were working in the shed when the fall occurred, as wood and bricks fell to the floor, and had any one been in the shed the occurrence would surely have ended fatally.

The collapse had been expected for some time. For this reason the shed for the past three years has been used only as a store house and regular work has not been carried on in it during that time.

Rev. J. W. Kierstead Will Come to Tabernacle Church

Begins His Work Here June First—Rev. P. J. Stackhouse Leaves Next Week for Campbellton

Word has been received by the trustees of Tabernacle Baptist church from Rev. J. W. Kierstead, of Oxford, N. S., to the effect that he has decided to accept the call extended to him a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Kierstead intimates that he will be prepared to enter upon his duties here on the first Sunday in June. Rev. P. J. Stackhouse, who has so ably filled the pulpit of the Tabernacle church for the past six or seven years, will preach his farewell sermon tomorrow evening and with Mrs. Stackhouse and family will leave early next week for Campbellton to take up his new charge. In this transfer, Rev. Mr. Stackhouse goes to a pulpit formerly occupied by Mr. Kierstead, while the latter comes to the church Mr. Stackhouse is leaving.

LOTS OF LOGS ARE NOW READY FOR THE MILLS

River Practically Clear Everywhere—Freshet at Indiantown Coming up Rapidly.

The freshet reached a high point at Indiantown today. The water was over the public wharves and a swift current was running. The steamers have no trouble now in getting up as far as they wish. The Crystal Stream left on her first trip of the season this morning at ten o'clock. H. H. Mott was a passenger. He took several horses up to his stock farm on the Washdemok Lake.

The Springfield and Elaine left at noon.

The tug Murray left Indiantown at nine o'clock this morning. She went as far as South Bay where she succeeded in freeing a large number of logs.

The local mills will resume operations on Monday, as plenty of logs have arrived. The river from Millidgeville to Baywater is now open, but the Maggie Miller has not yet gone on the route. The river at this place will probably be choked with drift ice for several days yet, as it is the junction of the two rivers and the ice accumulates.

THE EMPRESS OF BRITAIN DOCKED LAST EVENING

The C. P. R. liner Empress of Britain arrived in port from Liverpool last evening. This is the last arrival of an Empress boat this season.

The Britain brought out 1,204 passengers, 106 first-class, 477 second-class and 511 steerage. The first and second cabin passengers were landed last night and the steerage passengers were landed early this morning. The majority proceeded west on a special train.

Among the passengers who arrived on the Empress were Mr. and Mrs. George McKean, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilmet, of Ormococt. There were also on board, seventy young Englishmen who are going west to serve as catechists or religious teachers under the direction of Archdeacon Lloyd, at one time principal of Rothesay College. The young men will be placed in charge of districts along the lines of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific.
