Col. McLean thought that the meeting was necessary and that public sympathy should thus find an expression. The rate of pay for men going to the Transvaal was very small. The physical requirements were so strict that none but the very strongest and best could go. If these knew that their families could be assisted and that a certain part of their pay could me distributed to those dependent on them, it would make matters easier for them. He thought that they should receive from the citizens fifty cents day besides their government pay, and that at least $150 should be given towards Red Cross work.

Ald. Macrae said that the P. E. I. government had given a bonus of $20 per man and that the Charlottetown city council would also supplement this. In answer to a question from the mayor, he said that no word had been received from the insurance companies in regard to rates, but he understood the men could be insured for $20 premium on $1,000. J. D. Hazen, M. P. P., was thoroughly in sympathy with Col. McLean's suggestion as to supplementing pay. He would aid personally and he hoped that the government would also help. Sheriff Sturdee thought that there would be no difficulty in raising two or three thousand dollars by subscription. The only question was whether it would be more advisable for the city council to vote the amount. Dr. Daniel believed that the entire New Brunswick contingent should be treated the same as the St. John men. For this reason the provincial government should be asked to assist. suitable sum should be placed in the hands of the Red Cross Society for distribution of underclothing and other comforts after the men get out. Ald. White said that the volunteers were practically receiving less than the regulars, when everything was considered. To give each of the forty or so men coming from the city 25 cents a day extra for six months would amount to $1,800. Besides this. the government should give 25 cents per day to every man of the contingent for the mane period, amounting

Mr. Richardson, rector of Trinity preached from Psalm oxliv., himself as in favor of raising as much "Blessed be the Lord my strength, hich teacheth my hands to war, and

However greatly the advocates of peace at any price may desire to shut heir eyes to the fact, there is not, said the preacher, the slightest room for doubt that the state of war is recognized in the holy scriptures; recogrized not merely as a sin, but as a necessity of human nature. In the Joshua was commanded again and for the sake of conquest and so that Israel might live comfortably at the expense of conquered neighbors, but that the earth through them might be sanctified. the earth might become holy. If any one avers that this was in the time of the Old Testament, and that now we are under the higher dispenshould therefore be obliterated. There are some things too sacred to submit to arbitration, for though no well-guided state would disturb the world for matters of secondary importance, or refuse the judgme a neutral power upon them, it is difficult to see upon a question vitally touching its own basis and safety, how it could go upon any other sense justice than its own. True, an individual accepts other judgment in the verdict or decision of a judge because worship in soliciting and to take such he cannot help himself, but a nation does not know and cannot afford to recognize such compulsion. But, asked the speaker, what shall we say of the present war in South every thought? It is not pursued from hatred, from revenge, or from greed. All Great Britain asked was equal rights for common humanity. It was a war judicially necessary, because it was the only way of obtaining justice for our countrymen. "Does any one suggest arbitration?" asked Mr. Richardson. There are cases, and this is one, which Great Britain cannot afford to submit to arbitration. Her leep jealousy of Europe, forbids it. This war is necessary, the preacher proceeded, for the protection of our Africa and for the preservation of the British empire. It was in the interest of the world at large, for the Anglo-Saxon race has ever stood for liberty and progress, and today its mission is to assert its power for good in Africa.

But say some, cannot a great nation lke England afford to be magnanimous to the puny Boers? The preacher's bring about the present state of af-

The preacher counselled them to go forward in a state of spiritual as well as physical preparedness, and expressed the fervent hope that God would watch over and care for them. At the conclusion of the service the entire congregation united in singing God Save the Queen.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH SENDS FOUR. There was a large congregation at St. Mary's church on Sunday. The Rev. W. O. Raymond preached a stirring and patriotic sermon from the words, "Shew yourselves men," with which the congregation were evidently n thorough sympathy. Only the character of the day and of the edifice prevented an outburst of applause, as ie incidentally quoted Eliza Cooke's

"Let the challenge be flung from the braggart's bold tongue. "And that challenge shall flercely be

'Our banner unfurled shall proclaim "There's life in the old dog yet."

The service was rendered peculiarly interesting by the presence of four young men of the congregation who are enlisted for service in the Transvaal, Messrs. William Unkauf, William Donahoe, Walter Irvine and Frederick Kirkpatrick. The rector's references to the parting with these young men evoked deep feeling, and at the close of the service there was a touching seene at the church door, where the congregation shook hands with them, vishing them God speed. They will be much missed in the Y. P. A., St. Andrew's Brotherhood and other organizations of St. Mary's church. FAREWELLED AT SUSSEX.

THEFT CASES DISPOSED OF. Judge Forbes on Friday morning sentenced Samuel J. Chisholm, charged with stealing a ring from an Indian during the exhibition, to two years in the penitentiary. There were also other charges of theft preferred against the prisoner for stealing from his cousin. In view of this Judge Forbes felt he could not be justified in considering the petition for leniency received in his behalf. In view of the petitions received in behalf of Archie Dixon and Oscar Copp, who acknowledged stealing $90 from the schooner Roger Deering some time ago, Judge Forbes decided to allow the prisoners to depart on their own recognizances to appear when summoned. Heretofore the men have borne excellent characters.

HOPEWELL HILL, Get. 17.—The annual exhibition of the Albert Agricultural society was held here today, and was attended by an innusually large number of visitors from the villages hereabout and the more femore sections of the country. The weather was fine and warm, and the day, was apparently enjoyed by all. The exhibition on the whole, was probably not quite up to that of some former years, but was a very creditable one, and the exhibitors considering the season, had reason to feel well satisfied with the display. There were not as many entries as on some years, but some of the cattle were not in as good condition as they have been heretofore. The horses were a fine exhibit, but the show was small. Roots and fruit were about up to the average. The butter exhibit was avery superior one, and was greatly admired, Some fine berlin work, rugs and other articles of home manufacture were shown by W. L. Peck, G. M. Russell, Allen Robinson, A. S. Mitton and Cheeley Smith. Among the visitors present during the day were his bonor Lt. Governor McClelan, Dr. W. J. Lewis, M. P. Dr. J. S. Lewis, C. J.
