At 2,30 o'clock the flames burst through the heavy fire wall that separated the big hog house from the other buildings. The hog house was the last building to the north, and the largest of all. When the bog house caught fire all streams were turned in that direction, but the water seemed like oil. In the building were 3,500 dressed hogs and 2,500,000 pounds of pork products.

At 3.25 o'clock the fire department gave up the fight. It was apparent that all its efforts were useless and that the entire plant would be destroyed.

The new plant will be much larger and finer than the one burned. The company in the meantime, will remain in the market with the cattle purchased to be distributed between Omaha, Hassas City and Chicago.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—The statement of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co., submitted to the anthractic mands of the miners, was made public today. The answer recites the development of the company from the date of its charter in 1822, refers to the expense of operation and to the com-paratively small profits, and declares the demands of the employes for an increase of 20 per cent. is unjustifiable, the reasons given in support of the demand not being founded on fact. Accompanying the statement are two exhibits. One shows the earnings of the employes of the company for one year ased on the time worked during 1901, the number of the several classes of workmen and the rates paid according to the pay roll for the first half of May, 1902. The other is a catalogue of overt acts charged to the striking employes of the company during the rec cent contest, the riots, assaults and numbered at upwards of sixty. The nswer states:

answer states:

The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co. is the oldest corporation engaged in the mining of coal in the anthracite region. It was chartered in 1822.

It owns and controls about 14,000 acres of coal lands in Carbon and Schuylkill counties; its employes number about 6,000, and its capacity of production is over 200,000 tons a month. Its capital stock and funded debt amount to upwards of $32,000,000. All of its capital bonds and stock were issued for value. The dividend upon its capital stock to date only average 4.02 per cent. Nor were the rates of freight upon the railroad exorbitant, as is shown by the fact that the company operated its own canal, but found it advantageous to send the coal to market over the railroad rather than by the canal.

Referring to the claim of the miners that better wages are paid in the bitunanous fields for substantially similar work, the answer states:

This company does not know what rate.

Secret, also seventy books for boys.

better wages are paid in the bituminous fields for substantially similar work, the answer states:

"This company does not know what rate of wages is paid in the bituminous coal fields throughout the country, but there is nowhere in any fields 'substantially similar work' to that which is done under contract in the mines of this sompany. It is a fact, however, that miners of ordinary skill and experience have always been able to go from the mines of this company to any other mining region throughout the country and obtain employment.

"In 1901 for a day or ten hours' contract miners earned an average of $3.14 per day; skilled laborers, $2.31; unskilled laborers, $1.83; boys, $1 for work under ground. The rates for outside labor average as follows: Skilled laborers, $1.96; unskilled laborers, $1.85; boys, 77 cents. The average annual earnings of adults were $475.25."

Dental is made of the claim of the miners that their earnings are insufficient to maintain the American standard of living, and concerning the employes of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co. these figures are given:

"Out of 3,043 families, 570 own their own houses: Planos will be found in 166 and house organs in 337. The company owns and rents to its employee 671 houses at an average rental of four dollars and seventy-five cents per month. The character of these houses is fully up to the average in any part of the country occupied by any other class of workmen.

"The families of the employes have ample school accommodations with capable teachers, and over 3,000 children are in attendance while over 75 per centum of the whole fund expended in the region is derived from taxes paid by this company on its coal estate."
