The appearance of Mr. Hazen, the leader of the opposition, was marked with applause and cheers. Mr. Anderson, the candi-date put up by the opposition in the eastern section, was early on the scene and he had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of many electors out the other way. Many Lancaster and Musother way. Many Lancaster and Musquash electors expressed themselves well pleased with Mr. Anderson, and his speech made a telling effect. When Mr. Agar was selected as the other candidate, cheers went up for him and general regret was shown because of his inability to be present. The telegram read by Mr. Hazen from Mr. Agar signifying his willinguage to be Agar signifying his willingness to be a candidate was received with cheers. The hall was completely filled when Coun. W. J. Dean of Musquash took the chair. Mr. Hasen, Mr. Anderson,

Ald. J. B. M. Baxter and Robt. Cather wood were on the platform. Coun. Dean said all present knew what they had met to do, so that it was unnecessary for him to deliver a speech. The electors appointed a committee some time ago to select a candidate and they had already con-

F. M. ANDERSON. one of the candidates, was given cordial greeting. He began with the statement that he was a liberal and had always been one. The Telegraph announced that Hon. A. G. Blair was coming down from Ottawa to call the coming down from Ottawa to can the liberals into line. The speaker wished to hurl it back to Messrs. Blair, Pugsley and Tweedle, the would-be liberals, that they could not take the liberal party by the throat and say you must support us. (Applause.) Mr. must support us. (Applause.) Mr. Blair had no right to come here to undertake to whip the liberals into line Hundreds of liberals would take precisely the same stand he was taking in opposing the local government Many liberals in St. John county had declared that they would not stand anything of that kind. What positions did Messrs. Pugsley and Tweedie occupy with the two political parties?
Mr. Pugsley accepted the conservative nomination in Kings in 1896 and then came to St. John and ran as an in-dependent to assist in the defeat of the servative ticket. In 1900 he voted for Mr. Blair in St. John and in Kings voted for Mr. Fow-ler, the conservative candidate. Mr. Tweedle became a liberal a couple of years ago, and then in Northumberand supported the conservative candidate. Mr. Tweedie was a nice kind of a liberal. Mr. Anderson here took up the Muskoka lumber deal, showing that he had studied it up very carefully. The Campbells he pointed out.

best interests of the county would be secured by a change of government and he appealed to the electors present to do their best to bring this about.

He spoke of the canvass which would probably be used against Mr. Agar, that he was a non-resident of the county. So was Mr. Fugsley of the county is was a non-resident of the county in the represented. Mr. Dunn spent probably four-fifths of his time in the city of St. John. Mr. Agar would be as acceptable in Sj. John as if he lived in Musquash Mr. Emmerson, when premier, did not reside in Albert county, which he represented. Other instances were mentioned in this connection. The opposition were never as well prepared for a fight as now. Candidates had been selected in Madawaska, Sunbury, Restigouche, Albert, Kings, St. John city, St. John county, and Queens county. He here announced the nomination of Messrs. Woods and Camp in Queens. (Applause.) The meetings to be held this week for the selection of candidates were here announced and Mr. Hazen said in the course of a few days the opposition would have standard-bearers in svery constituency. (Applause.) If the fight were on even terms on the record of the government he would not heristate to predict that the opposition would bave standard-bearers in svery constituency. (Applause.) Messrs. Anderson, O'Connell and Rommel. In all counties liberals were found who were going to vote for the opposition. Mr. Hazen next showed up the government's extravagance, their waste of money on bridges and other services. Then he discussed the opposition platform, devoting considerable attention to some of the planks: The giving to the people of a secret ballot, a proper system of auditing the accounts, the adoption of the tender and contract system, cheaper school books, the expenditure of road money by the commissioners named by the county councils, an act to preserve the independence of members of the legislative.
