REFORM ON THE INTERCOLONIAL

The Transcript is worried because the Sun has expressed the opinion that there has been great need of a reformsays: ation in the government management of the Intercolonial. We would not have thought that this conclusion would have come upon the Transcript with the shock of a great surprise. the right road in assaulting lecturer Mage, she was speaking what leading Montreal French journals had said at the time. It was not an adequate reply for the Quebec Laval students to throw things at Mme. Bernhardt.

The people of Quebec who read the French papers should know Madame nhardt as well as English, Irish, and Scotch Canadians do. But while her observations were in themselves offensive to these as Canadians who speke to 28 her own language, they would think of stoning her on the streets, if she had said ten times as It was formerly said that much. Humanity was divided into men, women and Beechers. Similarly it may be said that men, women and Bernhardts appear on the stage. This is not the Mr. Varney went out into the barn-first time that the Divine Sarah has yard to attend to the chores. As he appear on the stage. This is not the said insolent and insulting things. But it is perhaps the first time that she has been accustomed to help in this has been mobbed. The woman is exceedingly ignorant him to the barnyard, following some

In recent some of the most notable h men of letters have Uton her return she found a stream years French visited this country, and have not reported that they found Quebec have destitute of literary culture. The French press of Montreal is not conculture. The sidered inferior to the press of French cities outside of Paris. Thoughtful and serious French men of letters do not expect to find more than one Paris. But let them compare the people of Quebec city and those of a French seaport of the same size, or a Quebec farming population with the agricultural population of France, and the difin culture and education is probably not so great as this actress supposes. Perhaps in the French seaport the people would even throw stones if they became excited.

But the truth is that these recent demonstrations are likely to give much pain to the leaders who are pleading for toleration and calmness, and who are continually scolding about the violprejudices of the Ontario population. It ought to be possible to convince the students that such proceedings are not patriotic. Moreover, the statements all agree somewhat deaf. No foot prints were found. The barn is seventy-five yards
