

12-Round Draw at Sydney, N. S.

HE'S DADDY OF ALL BASEBALL

Directly back of the home team's bench, every afternoon when the Washington American league baseball team is pastime on its home grounds, can be seen a little old man, slightly stooped, intensely interested in the game. The players all know him and they all take particular pains to speak to him.

The little old man is Nicholas Young, better known in the baseball world as "Nick" Young, the father of organized baseball and for many years the president of the National League. After leaving baseball he obtained employment in the treasury department and makes his home in Washington.

Government employees are entitled to 30 days' vacation, which may be taken as best suits the employe. "Nick" Young takes the bigger part of his vacation an hour a day, quitting work at 3.30 p. m. instead of 4.30 p. m. and hurrying out to the ball park. The extra hour is charged up against his annual leave of absence.

Controller of the Treasury Tracewell and Young are great friends, and they take in the ball game together. "Nick" always bets a glass of buttermilk on the Washington team and this wild extravagance nearly broke him last year. However, he is doing better this season, as the Nationals occasionally show symptoms of being a first class ball team.

Young organized the first league in 1871, and was a power for good in baseball until he voluntarily retired from the office of president.

CORBETT HAS FOUND A MAN

Hugh McIntosh Puts $5,000 Forfeit for Fight Between Protege of Gentleman Jim and Jack Johnson.

New York, N. Y., July 18.—James J. Corbett, has an "unknown" under cover, who he hopes will show himself fit to win the title that Jim Jeffries lost to Jack Johnson at Reno.

Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, who staged the fight between Johnson and Tommy Burns, has been sufficiently impressed to put out a challenge today in behalf of the "unknown," backed by a $5,000 forfeit, to be used later as a side bet. If Johnson declines the offer is open to any other man worthy to be considered a candidate for heavyweight honors. Corbett refuses to make known the identity of his protege and there is some doubt in sporting circles that he has anything more specific in mind than a desire to see Johnson whipped.

McIntosh who is now in New York, says in his challenge:

"The unknown will be named by Jas. J. Corbett and also will be trained by him, the fight to take place in the United States, England or Australia, and I agree to offer a purse, the amount of which to exceed that offered by any other person.

"As an evidence of good faith, I am willing to deposit the sum of $5,000 as a guarantee with Timothy Sullivan or any other responsible persons. The same deposit to go as a side bet if the unknown is to fight the contest be 20 rounds or over."

STRENGTHEN TIGERS' STAFF OF PITCHERS

Detroit, Mich., July 18.—Wilson, a right-handed pitcher, formerly with Elgin, Ill., has been engaged by President Frank Navin for the pitching staff of the Detroit Americans. With Wilson, who arrived today, came Malachi Kittridge, former manager of the Elgin team, who will do scout duty for the Detroit club.

Boston, July 18.—A home run, three two baggers, two singles and three bases on balls, in the fifth inning, gave Boston six runs, enough to win from Detroit today, but other hits made the final score 9 to 4, in favor of the locals. Collins struck out Cobb twice and kept the hits well scattered. A throw to the plate by Lewis and Speaker's home run were features.

Following are the averages of the leading batters of the American league who have taken part in 10 or more games, the figures including Saturday's games. While Lajoie and Cobb, who have been hogging the batting honors all season, were enjoying a little rest from piling up basenits and incidentally boosting their averages last week, Speaker, the wonderful centerfielder of the Red Sox, was a very busy man with his stick and is now within halting distance of the pair. His great work yesterday will bring him up closer to Tyrius, and there seems a probability that he will finish at the head of the league. The great outfielder certainly accepted all that the Cleveland and White Sox pitchers offered with great glee, and even big El Walsh, with his mystifying splitter, was treated harshly.

Charley O'Leary, who has been filling in at second base for the Tigers during Jim Delahanty's illness, is hitting better than he has for a number of seasons. He is the fourth man on the list. Five men in the league have made more than 80 hits and Cobb and Lajoie are almost tied in this respect. Daniels, the former Bucknell college star, now with the New York Highlanders, appears on the list for the first time. His batting is sensational and is great credit to a boy without minor league experience. Boston has three men in the honor list and Lewis is only a few points shy of the alluring mark. The averages:

Player	A.B.	H	Av.
Lajoie, Cleve.	254	108	.280
Cobb, Det.	300	109	.363

While it has been expected that the team would come it was only verified on receipt of a cable message from London, England, stating that thirty polo ponies belonging to the team were being shipped on the Minneapolis of the Atlantic Transport Line, sailing from London today.

There also was a letter, and from its contents it is understood that Lord Rocksavage and R. Grenfall will be members of the English team. These two players were to have been members of the challenging team for the international cup.

Jeffries Could Whip Johnson at Any Time Says Tip Wright

White Champion's Nervous System Was Shattered and Collapse Was Mental Not Physical.

Sporting Writer Declares That Jeff's Best Friend Lost Him the Fight.

By Tip Wright

"But there is neither east nor west, border, nor breed, nor birth. When two strong men stand face to face. Though they come from the ends of the earth."

In Reno, the night of the great tragedy I wrote, "It is doubtful if Jeffries, at his best, could have defeated Johnson of today."

This was written with the picture of that last round fresh in my mind. It wasn't many hours before I changed my mind.

I want to retract the statement that Johnson could have defeated Jeffries at any stage of his career. I don't believe Johnson can defeat Jeffries today. I don't believe he could have defeated the Los Angeles man a week before the fourth.

As sure as original sin, Johnson caught Jeffries at the psychological moment when Jeff, his nervous system shattered, was as helpless as a babe. Johnson was lucky. How lucky only he and the men who know how good Jeffries really was before he succumbed, really appreciate.

Jeffries was the victim of suggestion, just as is the subject of a hypnotist.

The dearest friends of the "big fellow" lost the fight for him.

Possibly, had Jeff followed the training plans some of his advisers wanted him to, the result would have been different. Possibly it would have been the same. But one thing is absolutely certain, the great fighter went to pieces like soap bubble and from no cause apparent to the public. Only he who were with him could see behind the curtain, and this only after the fight.

To begin with, I want to say that Jim Jeffries, a week, yes, three days before the fourth, was an ideal fighting machine. He had speed, strength, stamina and that bulldog determination which carried him home in front in all his previous fights.

To all appearances he was the Jeffries who battered down Fitzsimmons, Rubin, Sharkey and Corbett.

We were as confident as men could be that he would win, because with Jeff right, none of us could see Johnson, even with his marvelous defense, standing off the undefeatable one.

But who could imagine Jeffries, the impassive, the stolid, entering the ring in a nervous wreck? Not even the physicians who examined him, including Dr. W. S. Porter, who for six years has been Jeff's personal physician and who lived in the camp for a week prior to the battle.

I said Jeff's friends lost the fight for him, and I'll tell you how. To begin with there was Bob Vernon and Hector McKenzie, old friends of the Jeffries family. They wagged all they could afford and probably more on the "big fellow" there was Jack Kipper, partner of Jeffries in the Los Angeles cafe; there was Dick Adams of Oakland; there was Eddie Leonard, the minstrel, and Walter Kelly, "The Virginia Judge." There were others, but these stand out.

All of these men, with the possible exception of Adams, tried to encourage Jeff, as they thought, as fight day approached. They would slap him on the shoulder and say, "Well, Jeff, it's up to you. You've got to show us you can defeat Johnson and the eyes of the world are upon you."

And then they'd add, "And you're carrying all of our money."

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

WELL, NOW, I WAS IN RENO, AND I SEEN THE WHOLE BUSINESS— ANYHOW, WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT PRIZE FIGHTING?

SINCE YOU'VE ASKED ME I'LL SHOW YOU! THIS ONE IS A LEFT TO THE JAW! I KNOW SIX OTHER BLOWS, AND I'LL HAND THEM TO YOU AFTER YOU GET AWAKE!!

This thing continued day after day, added to Gov. Gillett's action in chasing the fighters out of California, where Jeffries was ideally situated and happy, to say nothing of the statements of that great "panner," John L. Sullivan, who declared that if Jeffries won, the fight was a fake, worked upon Jeffries' mind until he gave way.

Every day that last week we sat in the enclosure outside Jeff's cottage and played cards. Apparently fighting was farthest from his mind. We remembered afterward, however, that he was preoccupied and listless the morning of the fourth. Little things, unnoticed before the fight, stood out with startling distinctness afterward.

Jeff's collapse wasn't physical. He entered the ring with every muscle developed to the height of working efficiency. His heart and wind were perfect. He trained faithfully and he "came back" all right. But his nervous system couldn't stand the strain, and when he realized that he was carrying upon his shoulders the fortunes of his closest friends, he began to waver.

Since the fight I have read several times that Jeffries "dogged" and that he showed a "yellow streak" in the ring.

I hope no one with sense believes this although it has appeared under the name of some prominent writers. Such statements are falsehoods. They were written by disgruntled ones who found it impossible to break past Jeffries' reserve and resented it in this manner.

It is human nature perhaps to string with a victor, and most of us are cursed with too many human weaknesses, but to deliberate charge Jeffries with cowardice is too false a statement to let pass unchallenged.

I said before the fight for days, that Jeffries was in splendid physical condition. I want to point out that I was correct, and to prove it merely recall the beating Johnson handed Jeffries. I believe some one counted 86 clouts to the jaw.

I don't think any other pugilist could have lasted as long as Jeffries did. He proved his condition by taking terrific punishment. And he always kept coming in, knowing as he must have, that with his slight practicality some after the second round, and unable to get started, the end was only a matter of time.

I say that Jim Jeffries showed all of his vaunted courage by his fighting. If he realized his condition before he entered the ring, all the more credit to him, for he went to certain defeat.

It was the day after the fight, or the evening rather, when we were going to Oakland in Jeffries' car, that the truth came out.

Charley (Jack) Jeffries, who has been with Jim in every fight, declared that the big fellow sat up all night before the fight and vomited time after time.

This was a revelation. It adds weight to the statement that Jeff's nerves went to pieces trying to carry the burden of suggestion.

Had Jim Corbett or Bob Fitzsimmons been matched with Johnson the result would have been different. When these men became nervous, they fought like wildcats. They fought on nerve force alone. With Jeff it was different. He is of anything but a nervous temperament and instead of arousing him to fighting pitch the result was exactly opposite, and he entered the ring a beaten man.

However, really believe that had Jeffries and Johnson been tossed into a ring without a preliminary warning a week before July 4, or were they to meet today, that Jeffries would have no difficulty in winning.

WOODSTOCK IX WILL PLAY TWO ST. JOHN TEAMS

Woodstock, July 18.—Arrangements have been made to play two games with the All St. John baseball team on Wednesday, and two with the St. Peter's club on Friday. Great interest is manifested in the game on Wednesday. Peaseley will pitch in the afternoon game, and Dow in the evening game.

Chief Tilley and his band of braves are on the warpath today. They will take up the trail for Woodstock where they will make war upon Chief Milmore's warriors and are confident of carrying off their scalps.

Among others who are going to make the journey to the Carleton Co. town will be that seasoned warrior, Henderson, who was a great chief in olden days when the famous Albert tribe were in their prime. The Woodstock braves are preparing to make a desperate stand, it is said, and a great battle is being looked forward to. Following are the warriors who will make up the expedition: Humphries, catcher; Bovard, Nesbit, Henderson and Case, pitchers; Lynch, 1st base; E. Ramsey, 2nd base; A. Ramsey, 3rd base; Copeland, shortstop; Riley, left field; Carson, centre field; Cribbs, right field.

The Puddington field was the scene of an interesting baseball match last evening when the Rockwoods defeated the Acadians by a score of 14 to 11. Batteries for the winners: Coffey and McLellan; for the losers Buckle and Ritchie.

AUTO NOTES

American automobiles are being introduced in Russia, and according to the consul general at St. Petersburg, are popular and liked better than the machines made in Europe.

Officials of Anderson, Ind., are experimenting with a gasoline motor street car. If the tests are successful it is planned to do away with the electric street cars.

Young women drivers are becoming popular in England. The work is light and the wages good, so many young English women are learning to drive cars.

Standard Oil chemists are making experiments looking towards getting cheaper gasoline, by extracting the fuel from natural gas. The experiments are being conducted at Glade Mills, near Butler, Pa.

Pittsburg motorists are discussing plans for the building of a motordrome in their city.

Polishing valves and valve seats with flake graphite largely prevents burning and pitting, and obviates leaking and loss of compression.

Gov. Hay, of Washington proposes to levy a tax of $1 on all automobiles in the state and use the money thus derived for building and repairing roads.

Tinted glasses should always be used when driving against the sun.

PUBLIC SCHOOL LEAGUE IS PROGRESSING

The public school baseball league is away to a good start and games are being played daily.

The standing up to date is as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Points
St. Malachi	4	0	100
Aberdeen	3	1	75
Leinster	1	1	50
Winter Street	1	2	23-1-3
Hebrews	0	3	00

The biggest game of the month will come off Thursday when St. Malachi will play Aberdeen. St. Malachi has not lost a game yet, while Aberdeen has only met defeat once, and that was when it went up against the champion nine.

Friday morning Aberdeen "licked splinters" out of the Hebrews, while St. Malachi hope to do the same thing to the Leinster St. aggregation this morning. Tomorrow the two teams at the foot of the league come together and next day the leading two do battle.

The other games during the month are as follows:

July 22—Leinster vs. Winter.
26—Hebrew vs. Leinster.
27—Aberdeen vs. Winter.
28—St. Malachi vs. Hebrew.
29—Aberdeen vs. Leinster.

Owing to rain, Leinster has been forced to drop two games during the month, which accounts for its only playing two games to the four of St. Malachi and Aberdeen.

St. Johns at Woodstock

ST. JOHNS, JR. JOCKEY HAS WANT SCALPS

North End Team is Ambitious and Failing All Others Will Play the Semi-Professional Seniors.

The young St. John baseball team is getting ambitious. Having with not much difficulty obtained a small slice out of the big apple pie of victory, its appetite craves more. If it keeps on at its present lively pace it is bound in the nature of things to arrive somewhere either at the top or bottom, not improbably on top.

The Standard has received the following specific challenge from the former Fort Howe Stars to about all the baseball teams in the city: To the Sporting Editor of The Standard:

Dear Sir,—Recognizing The Standard as the best sporting paper in St. John we ask you to publish the following challenge in tomorrow morning's paper:

The Young St. John baseball team, formerly known as the Fort Howe Stars, challenge any of the teams of the following leagues to a game or series of games on the latter's grounds as soon as possible, the exact time to be arranged between the managers or captains of the two nines, namely, Y.M.C.A. Junior League, North End Junior League, Junior Intersociety League, West End Senior League, Commercial and I.C.R. League or teams not belonging to any league.

Upon our defeating or upon the non-acceptance of all of the teams the Young St. Johns hereby challenge the teams of the Senior Intersociety and the St. John-Clippers Leagues to a friendly non-professional game.

We think that we can defeat at least the niners of the first seven of the leagues and make a good showing against the last two. Although we were beaten a couple of times at our starting out, the tune of our last dozen games shows what is in us. Our recent series with the Victorians ended with a score of 4 to 1, some of the games resulted in a score of over 10 runs over the score of the Victorians. We claim that in Britain and Totten we have the best batters in St. John, excluding the senior leagues.

SHEEHAN DRAWS WITH M'INTYRE

Sydney Sports See Fast 12-Round-Go Between Well-Trained Men—Sheehan Fights at Portland.

Sydney, N. S., July 18.—The twelve round bout tonight between Mickey McIntyre of Glace Bay, and Kid Sheehan of Manchester, N. H., resulted in a draw, being called in the twelfth round. There were about 200 spectators at the Rosalie rink where the bout took place. Both men showed the effects of hard training and the exhibition throughout was fast and exciting. The bout was one of the best and most interesting seen here for many years and the crowd was well pleased with the exhibition.

The bout was refereed by Joe Francis of Bridgeport, and his decisions were popular. Sheehan is a quick hard man and landed many heavy blows, but McIntyre took them easily and returned them with force.

Sheehan leaves tonight for Portland, Me., where he has a bout this week.

H. R. McLellan has purchased the pretty black mare, Anna Smith, which was among the money getters at the Moosepath meeting last week. The horse was formerly owned by Mr. Hunter. Mr. McLellan will add the mare to his already fine string.

J. E. WILSON, Ltd,
17 SYDNEY STREET, ST. JOHN, N. B.

Danny Maher, American jockey, who for the past 10 years has been riding in England and standing at the head of winning riders at the close of each season, has written friends in this country of his intention to retire at the close of the present season. Maher says he will never again ride on the flat, although he intimates he may go in for cross-country riding, following the example of Winnie O'Connor, who became a star at the jumping game after he became too heavy to ride on the flat. From a bootblack stand in Hartford, Conn., to the possessor of a million dollars and the ownership of a fine estate in County Kildare, Ireland, near the birthplace of his parents, tells the story of Danny Maher's remarkable career. Maher is now about thirty-four years old, has saved his money, avoided trouble with the English racing stewards, the gentleman who put Tod Sloan out of business and is worth well over a million dollars.

"Pa" Daily, who has started more good jockeys on the high road to success and fame, started Maher. Danny left this country when he began having trouble making the weight required and went to England, where the weights are higher. He was a star from the start, and despite his being an American, is popular and well liked. He says he will establish a breeding farm on his estate in Ireland. During the time he has been riding in England he has put over 1000 winners.
