FRANCE REQUIRES MUCH OCEAN TONNAGE

Government May Purchase Such Shipping as is Available for Carrying Raw Materials.

Paris, Nov. 27. (By the A. P.)—The question of conducting the proceedings of the peace conference in English is being discussed, with some prospect that this innovation will be brought about.

For practical reasons, it is said, the use of the English language would be more convenient to a larger number of the delegates than French, for during the sessions of the inter-allied conference all but two of the delegates spoke English.

Economic questions are coming prominently to the front in connection with the presence here of Herbert C. Hoover, the American food administrator, who was joined today by Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the shipping board.

There has been considerable discussion also concerning the amount of tonnage likely to come from the United States, following on Captain Tardieu's statement recently that he had been assured of 100,000 tons.

London, Nov. 27.—There is a struggle going on between two distinct Germanies, namely the Social Democrats, who are aiming at the establishment of a republic, and the Spartacus group, which is ready under the leadership of Liebknecht to end the so-called temporary victory of their former enemies.

Paris, Friday, Nov. 22.—A detailed account of conditions in Southeastern Europe where the presence of a million Austrian army deserters who have established themselves in fortified camps in various districts, as well as of hordes of released prisoners, has created a dangerous situation, is given in the report recently prepared for Colonel E. M. House by Wm. J. Rose, an agent of the Slovene government, now in Laibach, the new capital of Slovakia, and of the Polish provisional government in Austrian Silesia.

FOCH IN STRASBURG.

Paris, Nov. 27.—Marshal Foch, accompanied by General De Castelnau, arrived at Strasbourg today and reviewed the army of occupation, the war office announces tonight.

German Delegates To Armistice Conference Were Treated With Impoliteness—Say They Could See Hatred Sticking Out of Everything

"We entered a train, with blinds drawn, in the evening, and awoke in the morning in the midst of the forest of Compeigne, surrounded by soldiers."

"There were two trains, one occupied by Marshal Foch and his staff, and the other by the Germans. In these we lived, worked and negotiated for three days. We had everything in abundance. There was nothing to find fault with. The great enmity and hatred that apparently prevailed against us were shown, however, in the negotiations and in the terms imposed."

"The narrator remarks that the French officers and Vice-Admiral Wemyss, British representative, maintained a cold attitude. 'Never tempered by a friendly word.'"

"Marshal Foch, whom we only saw twice, at the beginning and at the end of the conference is a stern, plain man. He did not speak a single word to us in the tone which formerly distinguished the chivalrous French nation."

"It is not true that Foch told us there could not be any question of negotiations, only the imposition of conditions, and whatever conditions he displayed was never ill-mannered or rough."

"Really, there was nothing to negotiate. We pointed out the technical impossibility of some conditions."

"Finally we were obliged to sign."

"During the discussion the French handed the Germans the Paris newspapers announcing the abdication of Emperor William."

"We observed no smiles of triumph on their faces," adds the writer, "but could discern their hatred."

Say the Crown Prince is Entirely Too Well Treated in Holland

Amsterdam, Nov. 25.—William Hohenzollern did not attend divine service yesterday. He made a short excursion with his host around the environs of Amerongen today.

Because of French and British newspaper criticism the Handelsblad demands that the Dutch government define exactly the former emperor's position and the extent of his liberty of movement here, as nothing official so far has been made public, except that Count Von Bentinck, at the government's request, extended his hospitality to the refugee.

As regards Frederick Hohenzollern, the former crown prince, the papers say he undoubtedly is a military person and has been interned as such. Wieringen was selected for his abode because its remoteness as an island excludes contact with members of the old regime in Germany.

Amerongen, Holland, Friday, Nov. 22.—The former German emperor went for a drive this afternoon with his host, Count Von Bentinck, accompanied by the usual police guard. He almost daily receives flowers and dainties from friends, but as often letters or post-cards are delivered at the castle addressed "William Hohenzollern," in which the senders express hatred, contempt or execration. The missives probably are carefully withheld from the one-time emperor.

German inmates of the Wolfswaen internment camp recently came to blows over the former emperor's portrait which newly arrived sailors from the Flanders coast insisted should be removed or turned face to the wall. The opposing parties had to be forcibly separated.
