

IMPORTED.

Oh, why is the Anglo-American proud? His style is imported, you know. But why is his manner insufferably loud? That's also imported, you know. With "Lunnon-made" raiment he cuts a great dash. For everything "Hinglish" he shells out his cash. No matter the value, to him all is trash. That is not imported, you know.

AMERICA'S BLACK O'CONNELL.

FRED DOUGLASS CONVULSES AN IRISH ASSEMBLY WITH LAUGHTER. A few nights ago Fred Douglass was one of the speakers (and the best one) at the reception given to O'Connell and Esmonds in Masonic Hall. His wit and eloquence never showed more brightly, and he kept the great audience in shouts of laughter and applause from the moment he began until he closed.

THE LUGGACURRAN TENANTS.

Mr. Kilbride had an important statement to make, and satisfactory news for all his hearers when on Sunday he made his first appearance before them since he was struck down by sickness in their midst shortly after his famous Canadian Campaign. His statement showed how completely the tenants were justified in adopting the Plan of Campaign, and how moderate were their demands. All they asked for at the outset were 30 per cent. off non-judicial rents, and 20 per cent. off judicial rents. They were willing some time ago—but we doubt that they are so now—to abate those demands to 20 per cent. and 15 per cent. respectively. The Landlord Commission again had those order an outcry has been raised all over the country because of the insufficiency of the reductions they have decreed, have awarded 13 per cent. on the rents fixed in 1883 on the properties in the Luggacurran district. This is ample justification for the demands of the judicial holders. But the leaseholders had no opportunity of going into the Land Court. The justice of their demands is fully established by the decision of the Land Court. In 1883 the reductions that were allowed the tenants all round them, who were entitled to bring their landlord into court, averaged 20 per cent. The recent order of the Commissioners gives a further reduction on this of 13 per cent. That means a total of 33 per cent. But the tenants demanded only 30 per cent. Therefore, taking the figure of the Landlord's Commission, which have been universally condemned throughout the country, the tenants erred on the side of moderation to the extent of 3 per cent. But everyone who knows anything of the property, or even of the methods of Mr. Trench & Co., knows that the tenants' demands were much more moderate than these figures show.

Mr. Kilbride also exposed Townsend Trench's lie about the statement he had offered not being for Campaigning tenants. He also upset the strategies of the agent, who, by circulating vague reports that something was about to happen to upset the Plan of Campaign, sought to frighten the tenants from their combination, and he reminded those who were taking gloomy views of the tenants' prospects that the Irish delegates in America have received for the Irish tenants subscriptions amounting to £100,000, and he announced that Mr. A. O'Connell, one of the delegates, will visit Luggacurran in about a month.

THE UNIONISTS ENDORSE BALFOUR.

LONDON, JAN. 26.—Lord Hartington and the whole body of Liberal Unionists are absolutely in favour of approving and endorsing Mr. Balfour in his administration of the Coercion Act. They approve his general policy; they approve the methods by which he enforced the law. They regard coercion as a success so far as success is possible within the period during which the Crimes Act has been really in good working order. They will not apologize for the action of the prison authorities or of Dublin Castle. They eulogize them all, and they will meet Parliament with every appearance of confidence, whether they feel it or not. Mr. Balfour himself, though unmoved either by the accusations constantly made against him or by the deadly peril in which he undoubtedly stands, will welcome an opportunity of meeting all accusations in the House itself.

THE ARREST OF MR. COX, M.P.

LONDON, JAN. 26.—Mr. Balfour's decision to arrest Mr. Cox, an Irish member of Parliament, in London, seems a surprise to Mr. Cox's friends and the public generally. Mr. Cox eluded arrest in Ireland and supposed himself safe in London, but an Act passed in 1881, called the Fugitive Offenders Act, confers the power of arrest in most express terms where the accused person for whom a warrant is out has escaped to another part of the kingdom.

A WOULD-BE ASSASSIN OF THE PRESIDENT OF FRANCE.

PARIS, JAN. 25.—A student Carnot had an escape from being murdered yesterday. A man presented himself at the Elysee and insisted on delivering a letter into the President's hands. He was arrested and a loaded revolver was found in his pocket. His name is Gresel and he is evidently insane.

THE IRISH LEADER'S HEALTH.

LONDON, JAN. 26.—Mr. Parnell's health has decidedly improved, and though the organic disease remains he has obtained comparative relief from pain, and as a consequence has gained in weight and improved in appearance. He has been ordered to take horseback exercise and can be seen frequently on the Knightsbridge side of Rotten Row, mounted on a big bay horse. His delicacy is indicated by his amount of wraps and the large ulster that he wears shows that in matter of dress and comfort he has no narrow provincial prejudices.

A ROMANCE OF THE BLIZZARD.

STONX CITY, JAN. 25.—The recent blizzard was not without romantic features. Nestling close to the Cheyenne River, within the shades of the rugged bluffs of that treacherous stream, was once a rude log cabin in which dwelt what in Western parlance was known as "a squaw man," one of the worst renegades and desperadoes that terrorize that section of country. He was a French-Canadian, known as Robesau, and he married a comely Indian woman. They had one child, a rosy-cheeked, brown-eyed girl, known as Lillian. Old Robesau was hanged by a band of vigilantes and his wife soon after died. The young girl became the protegee of a family at Chamberlain and grew up a handsome and accomplished young woman. Just previous to the recent blizzard Lillian visited friends at Huron, and on the day of the storm had gone a short distance in the country to see a friend.

Among the arrivals at Huron on Jan. 11 was Harry Ogilbee, a traveller for a St. Louis wholesale house. The day of that dreadful day he found himself in the suburbs of Huron. The blizzard came upon him. After wandering about for half an hour, he was astonished to come across, in a deep drift, a woman leaving her home from that most likely to have a sheltered temporary garage, the pair set out together to seek for shelter. After struggling through the snow for nearly an hour, they reached a farm house, where kindly care restored them. The woman was Lillian Robesau. Last night, train to this city had aboard a beautiful young lady, at the hotel a quiet wedding took place. Lillian, the handsome daughter of the once notorious Robesau, became the wife of Harry Ogilbee.

IT MAKES THE BURDEN LIGHTER.

"Let me carry your pain, my dear, Brimming over with water!" "No! I'll take hold and you take hold." Answered the farmer's daughter. And she would have her own sweet way, As her merry eyes grew brighter; She took a hold and he took a hold, And it made the burden lighter. And now they're at the eve of life, While the western skies grew brighter; For she took hold and he took hold, And it made the burdens lighter.

OBITUARY.

The Kingston Canadian Freeman of this week contains an obituary of the late Alexander Cicolari, father of Mr. Frank Cicolari, one of the proprietors of that paper. Mr. Cicolari was born in Montreal, of Italian parentage, and removed to this city when ten years of age. He entered the employ of Mr. Bolinger, and in time commenced business where the Colendar Hotel now stands. His upright business principles gained for him scores of friends and patrons, and when, having realized a competence, he retired into private life, he did so with the respect and esteem of all with whom he had come in contact. In early life he married Ann O'Neil, and with her he lived happily until some years ago, when death robbed him of one who had indeed proved herself a "ministering angel" in his hours of "pain and anguish." The deceased gentleman leaves behind him two sons and two daughters. His sons are the Rev. Father Cicolari, of Erieville, and Mr. Frank Cicolari, of the Freeman. His daughters are both married and are Mrs. Doroch and Mrs. Frank Conway.

which is Scrofulin of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvellous power over this terrible fatal disease, since first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, and bilious, pectoral, and other excretory medicines, is so well adapted as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.
