The two cartoons featured this week were done by Joseph Pivato, a third year Vanier student in honours English and French. During his years at York, he has produced cartoons for Excalibur, Vando and for the Yearbook, Century II.

This marks the first graphic arts contribution to Montage. If you can draw — especially caricatures or illustrations — submit your work in pen and ink to Excalibur.

The cartoons were inspired by the Pritchard-Goldstein gambit and require no further comment.
