News from Simcoe Take One (From our own correspondent) Rev. S. J. Pinnock, of Toronto, will preach in the Baptist Church on the five Sundays of October. Mr. Pinnock has been a missionary in Africa, under the Southern Baptist Church conference. He has two sons in the army.

Simcoe seems to attract missionaries. Rev. R. E. S. Taylor, missionary to West China, under the Canadian Methodist Board and now on furlough, recently took a furnished home on Lynwood Avenue, and will complete his furlough here, leaving in January.

The pulpit at St. Paul's was occupied by August by W. S. Taylor on furlough from Central India. The late Dr. Jamieson, of Trinidad, made Simcoe his furlough headquarters for some years, and previous to this to China, where she had gone to take up the work which the Dr. was forced through ill-health to leave when no longer able to continue in service, retired to Simcoe, and yet Simcoe has not provided many missionaries for the home or foreign field. The Baptist Church here have two in recent years, Miss Ida Ryerse and Mr. Ralph Smith. The Anglican and Presbyterian Churches do not appear to have given any missionaries for some years.

Major Williamson, Judge Boles, Rev. A. B. Farney and Messrs. Silver Curtis, Lawson McCall, W. C. Alken and McGuire spent yesterday afternoon playing Scotch doubles with Waterloo bowlers. It was not a town against town match, but the draw gave the opening line up pretty much that of the final match. Mr. McGuire and Judge Boles won the final match. The game was over at 6.30. It is stated that Arthur Mills, of Charlotteville, threshed 180 bushels of wheat from four acres and 1,000 bushels of oats from three acres.

Rev. A. B. Farney left for London after the bowling match at Waterloo yesterday. He will attend a diocesan committee meeting on church extension, and will on Sunday preach Thanksgiving sermons at Port Rowan on Sunday. Simcoe Anglicans will hear Rev. Bloodroot of Port Rowan.

Rev. J. H. McEain will preach an anniversary sermon in Welland on Sunday.

Pte. McGarry, of Waterloo over-stayed his leave from camp, and wired in that he was ill. He was given till yesterday morning to report in, and failing to do so officers from here went over and found him fit. He is on his way to camp.

Jack Smith, who signed up in police court some months ago, as an alternative to an unknown sentence and disappeared without donning the khaki, has sent word that he will be at the family home to-morrow and is desirous of having an escort to Camp Borden.

Major W. G. Jackson, C. O. of A company, and Capt. Heath, C. O. of D company, returned from Ottawa last night after finishing their special officers' course in Musketry. They will not return to camp until after the week-end.

The 133rd spent last night in the trenches, and it is feared that they may have lost the C. O. He got out in front of the first line when last the battle was on the firing line and

The war office announced to-day that so far the defence had maintained itself in its strongly fortified position. The statement says: 'On the Danubian artillery successfully bombarded the Turunsevo station. The battle on the line of Marazui, Nemik, Arabadai, Kokarjadia, and Tuzla continued yesterday with the greatest bitterness on both sides. The enemy maintained himself in his strongly fortified position. On the Black Sea coast there was calm.'

Moral Change in London Needed

Declares Bishop of London. The ring drawing against Socialism

New York, Sept. 21.—A London cable to the Times last night says: 'A crowd which filled the churchyard of St. James in Piccadilly, was addressed to-day by the Bishop of London from an outdoor pulpit, his topic being "A moral change required in London".' The Bishop wore a khaki uniform as chaplain of the forces, and carried his pastoral staff.

He denounced the white slaves who "walk up and down this very Piccadilly street in pairs," and told his audience that shooting was too good for them. He also attacked immoral plays, and continued: "For the sake of the boys who fight for us; for the sake of the children of the future, let us free London from the curse of lust and sin and make it the ante chamber of a city which hath foundations whose builder and maker is God."

GERMANY BROODS OVER PLIGHT Under British Embargo, She Quarrels With Neutral Countries. Berlin, (via The Hague), Sept. 20.—For the past week rumors have gained wide currency in Germany that relations with Denmark are strained to a dangerous point. Similar rumors also had it that Holland was restive and war feverish. While these rumors are theoretically attributed to British agencies in neutral countries, it seems more likely that they have arisen spontaneously in a highly sensitive public mind, and are, perhaps, to be viewed as significant symptoms of the latest phase of the economic war wherein the indirect pressure of the British blockade is being more and more felt, and consequently gaining greater importance.

GRANNY'S FEATHER TREE. drawn by a pair of rabbits, a cat drove up to Granny's door and from it four elves unloaded a wonderful tree, such a tree, indeed as no one had ever seen in the fairy forest. Snow-white it was and fringed and it curled and fluffed most beautifully in the wind. Granny and the elves planted it in the garden and in almost no time there were elves and fairies and gnomes and dwarfs crowding around to stare at it. "Never was there such a tree," they cried. "Even the birch is nothing like so white and the poplar is not so fluffy." It's more beautiful than the horse-chestnut in bloom. Nobody else has ever been able to find a tree small enough for a fairy's garden. But Granny just laughed and said nothing at all and the white fringed tree in the garden tossed and curled and fluffed for the starting of eyes along the fence. "Granny," begged an old fairy, "tell where you got it, it's a beautiful tree." And then Granny laughed and laughed until her spectacles fell off her nose and caught in her kerchief of colobaw. "Why," she cried, "you silly, silly wee folk! If the giants can use a tree for a plume, can't I use an ostrich plume for a tree in my garden." And then you have the true tale of Granny's feather-tree.
