A Mean Retort. Bertha - I'm sorry you asked me to marry you. It pains me to refuse.

The food value of a pound of veal is little more than half that of a pound of beef. Eggs and lean beef have the same value in equal weight.

A Yorkshire Man and a Lancashire man were conversing together the other day.

The Lancashire man said to the Yorkshire man, "Well, Bill, do you know the best way to find a Yorkshire man's left fingers?"

"No," says Bill. "Well, I will tell you what happened at our place the other day. Yorkshire Dan had two of his fingers cut off with a steam saw, and they got lost among the sawdust, and two of my mates were down on their hands and knees looking for them when the foreman came up and asked what they were doing."

"One of them said: 'We are looking for Dan's fingers.' 'Oh, come out of the road,' said the foreman. 'That's not the way to find a Yorkshire man's fingers,' at the same time taking a shilling out of his pocket and throwing it among the sawdust, when the two fingers at once popped up after it."

"There," said the foreman, "that's the way to find a Yorkshire man's lost fingers."

Modern Surgery. Your modern surgeon of note is a "sterile" man. The operating room, almost hermetically sealed and at a temperature of 100 degrees or thereabout, is purified daily by means of a hose throwing a solution of bichloride of mercury over ceiling, walls and floors.

The surgeon arrives in an anteroom in his civilian's garb. He is required to be clean shaven, like a monk, says the New York Press. His clothes are removed. Two attendants in the sterilizing room hand him a white duck gown reaching from collar to heel and a cowl of the same material which covers tightly every part of his head except eyes, nose and mouth. The sleeves of the gown reach to his elbows. He incases his hands in the thinnest, finest sterilized rubber gloves. These garments are handed to him in sterilized tongs. There has been no human contact. Thus equipped he is prepared to saw and slice.

How the Earth Changes. How does one generation of men succeed another? The fathers are not swept away in a body to make room for the children, but one by one the old drop off and the young come on until a day is reached when none of those remain that once were here. How does some form of human speech become extinct? About 100 years ago an old lady named Dolly Dentreath died in Cornwall. She could speak the Cornish language. After her death there was nobody that could. Thus quietly did the living Cornish language become a dead language. And in a like unobtrusive manner have been wrought most of the new becomings which have changed and are changing the earth.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Little Done in the Commons Last Week Except Debate the Grand Trunk Pacific Resolutions.

Ottawa, Aug. 17. - The Grand Trunk Pacific resolutions were the sole business of the House to-day, and speeches were made by Hon. Laurier, Anley Morrison, Hon. Col. Sam Hughes, and Dr. Russell, the latter not having concluded when the House rose.

Ottawa, Aug. 18. - The Leader of the Opposition, R. L. Borden, today advocated the purchase of the Canada Atlantic Railway; the nationalization by purchase of the section of the C. P. R. between North Bay and Port Arthur; the improvement of one or both the railways between those points and Winnipeg; and the acquisition of running rights over them, and the control of the Government railways by a commission.

Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick followed, and Dr. Russell and Hon. John Costigan also participated in the debate.

Ottawa, Aug. 19. - After Sir William Mulock's bill to increase the salaries of Deputy Ministers, the Grand Trunk Pacific debate was resumed by Hugh Guthrie and A. W. Puttee moved an amendment to the Government's plan setting forth the desirability of railways being owned and operated by the Government. His amendment also declared that the time is now opportune for Government construction and operation of railways, under a properly safeguarded civil service, placed beyond the influence of party politics.

Messrs. Kemp, Hughes of Prince Edward, and Bennett continued the debate. Before the adjournment, on the third reading of the bill for the relief of Ellen McDermid, Mr. Charlton advocated the establishment of a divorce court for Canada.

Ottawa, Aug. 20. - Rather better progress was made with the debate upon the Grand Trunk Pacific resolution to-day, half a dozen speeches being delivered. The speakers were Mr. McPherson (Burrard, B.C.), Mr. J. H. Logan (Cumberland), Mr. E. B. Oiler (West Toronto), Mr. C. B. Hoyt (Bramford), Mr. Ganong followed, and the debate was adjourned by Mr. Charles Macell (Bonaventure).

Ottawa, Aug. 21. - The close of the week in Parliament saw the Grand Trunk Pacific debate still in full swing. Speeches were to-day delivered on the subject of the resolutions by Messrs. A. J. Broder (Dundas), Urwin Wilson, Chas. Lavelle of Leeds and Grenville, and R. F. Sutherland of North Essex. Mr. Hackett of Prince Edward Island has the floor in the debate when the House meets next Monday.

MISS CURZON DROWNED. Was Professor of Chemistry at Lillian Massey Training School, Toronto.

Pentagonisho, Aug. 24. - Miss E. M. Curzon, B.A., professor of chemistry in the Lillian Massey School of Domestic Science, was accidentally drowned yesterday morning at Georgetown, Georgian Bay, on the island where she was camping. She was in bathing attire at the time and got into water beyond her depth. Her friends on the island were not aware of her danger in time to rescue her. Help was summoned with all haste from the nearest island, Prof. McCurdy's, some distance away, and promptly on arrival Mr. McCurdy dived for the body and brought it to the surface. It was lying in ten or twelve feet of water, and some twenty-five feet from the shore. Over half an hour had, however, elapsed, and although prolonged efforts at resuscitation were made by several physicians, who were soon at hand, these were unavailing.

Keaper Severed Boy's Leg. Morden, Man., Aug. 24. - A shocking accident which occurred near Greenwood terminated fatally in the death of Saturday evening. Late on Wednesday afternoon, Norman, the three-year-old son of William Harman, wandered into a field of grain around which his father was cutting. The child was not as tall as the father till the machine had done its horrible work. One little leg was completely severed below the knee. He succumbed to the shock. The father is heart-broken.

Two Men Drowned. The bodies were found about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Bradley's people are residents of Mount Forest, and Maddock's living in Ingersoll. Neither of the young men could swim.

NUMBERED WITH THE DEAD

A Great Figure Gone From the Imperial Stage.

Lord Salisbury Died on Saturday, His End Coming on the 50th Anniversary of His Entrance Into Public Life - Who Made Much of the England the Public Committed to His Care and Direction.

London, Aug. 24. - Lord Salisbury died peacefully at 9.05 o'clock Saturday night. For forty-eight hours it was seen that the end was inevitable. Even the administration of oxygen failed of effect that evening. A few minutes after 9 o'clock the former Premier turned slightly towards his favorite daughter, Lady Gwendolen Cecil, who was kneeling beside him, and then quietly breathed his last. All the members of His Lordship's family, except Lord Cecil, were at the bedside.

The Village of Hatfield, which still retains many features of the feudal period, was filled with anxious residents waiting the news of Salisbury's demise. Finally the news came, when a hatless servant dashed down the gravelled roadway, saying:

NITRO-GLYCERINE EXPLOSION.

Two Men Blown to Atoms While Preparing to Shoot a Well.

Leamington, Aug. 24. - A terrible accident occurred here Saturday at No. 2 oil well, owned by the Leamington Oil Co. While making preparations for shooting the well a premature explosion of nitro-glycerine occurred and two men were blown to atoms.

The dead are: William Booth, an expert from Petrolia, Ont. William Kennedy, a driller from Kingsville, Ont.

The cause of the explosion has not as yet ascertained, but it is thought that the can slipped out of the expert's hand. They had lowered one quart of the nitro-glycerine to the bottom of the well, and were in the act of placing twenty quarts more when they exploded.

The derrick was blown to pieces, and a hole 15 feet square and 20 feet deep torn up around the well. Pieces of the derrick and casing were blown for twenty rods in every direction.

There were some very narrow escapes. Ed. Winters, one of the principal stockholders and promoters of the company, only left the well about a minute before the explosion occurred, and was only a rod or so away at the time. His escaping the falling timbers is miraculous. The other directors arrived on a special from Detroit a short time after the accident happened.

Gray Hair

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over thirty years. It has kept my scalp free from dandruff and has prevented my hair from turning gray." - Mrs. F. A. Soule, Billings, Mont.

There is this peculiar thing about Ayer's Hair Vigor - it is a hair food, not a dye. Your hair does not suddenly turn black, look dead and lifeless. But gradually the old color comes back, - all the rich, dark color it used to have. The hair stops falling, too. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.
