BUILD UP CHATHAM!

A vote for the new industrial by-law, when it comes out, means a boost for Chatham. The by-law will carry because there are no knockers here.

HOUSE NUMBERING.

The question of house numbering has been disposed of in a very unsatisfactory manner by the members of the City Council. For a number of years the people of this city have greatly felt the necessity for this work. It has been brought up upon several occasions, and different Councils have made a pretense at dealing with it, only to let it drop again without arriving at any definite or satisfactory conclusions. This, notwithstanding, is a very important matter, and it is a disgrace that it has not been systematically dealt with long ago. Lengthy and empty discussions which ultimately end with the presentation of excuses for doing nothing, get the citizens nothing. This kind of treatment is not what they want nor expect.

Conditions now are the same as they were years ago when Chatham was a struggling town. It is practically impossible for a stranger entering the city to be definitely directed to any residence or place of business in the whole city. Besides, it is a great inconvenience to the people right in the city. It would be a surprise to many to know what amounts of money are lost yearly by Chatham merchants and business men, who have to deal with the general public, through the valuable time spent in hunting up the addresses of their customers, to whom they have to deliver goods. The complaints from these alone would more than warrant the immediate establishment of a complete numbering system.

Only the other day The Planet was approached by one of the city's most prominent business men—L. E. Tillson—a man who is delivering orders of coal every day during the winter, and ice throughout the summer months, and he made the statement that it would pay him to personally bear the expense of numbering the houses of every one of his customers. He figures that the convenience which would follow to him afterwards would soon make up the amount of the outlay required for the work, as he would save the money he is losing under the present conditions. He went farther, by saying that if there was in existence a proper chart of the city to work on, he would be willing and anxious to undertake his part of the work immediately.

This gives some idea of the anxiety of the citizens to have this work done. There are no doubt many merchants in the same position as Mr. Tillson, and yet matters are still drifting along in a loose and indifferent fashion.

The present Council has left the matter with Engineer Jones, to prepare a chart of the city during his spare moments. Judging from the work which is heaped on the shoulders of this official in the way of public works, electric light and waterworks business, it will be some time before he finds himself idle enough to think of street numbering. But according to the last decision of the Council, the citizens will have to wait.

There is another feature which should be considered. Mayor Stone had the right idea when he suggested that the Council should get a proper census of the city. It is common knowledge that a few years ago there were many empty houses in Chatham. It was practically no trouble to get a house to rent in almost any location. Since that time innumerable houses have been built, the old ones still remain, and now it is almost impossible to get a house of any description for rent. The empty houses in Chatham at the present time can be counted in a very few minutes. In spite of all this there is very little increase in the census statistics handed in each year.

The Government announces that they are considering the granting of free mail delivery to all cities with a population over 10,000. Chatham wants a mail delivery, and there is a general feeling that as far as population is concerned this city qualifies. According to the figures on record, however, it does not. The census this year has not been handed in, and this of course may create some change. If it does not, there is evidently something wrong.

House numbering is necessary for a mail delivery, and for many other reasons. Chatham's census, in the face of existing circumstances, should show a larger population—large enough to land a mail delivery. There is a problem here which requires an immediate solution.

WHAT IS NEWS?

In a recent editorial the Orillia Packet calls attention to a matter of some interest to all publishers of newspapers, but more particularly to publishers in the smaller towns. The Packet strongly deprecates the habit prevalent among some sections of the public of sending in for free publications, as items of news, what is in reality nothing but advertising.

The Packet declares that it will refuse free publication to "all advertising notices of meetings, concerts, socials and such like where there is any monetary consideration, in the form either of an admission fee or a collection, as well as all business announcements connected with any sort of organization." The Packet points out that very often economical committees decide to "save the cost of getting out bills by putting a notice in the paper," thus making the publisher's paper the vehicle for rebelling the job department. "Insult is added to injury," says the Packet, "when the advertising notice is accompanied by an intimation that it will 'help to fill up'."

The indignation of the Packet is but just. A firm stand should be taken on the matter by all business-like publishers. It may be a trifle hard at times, to distinguish between what is news and what is advertising, but a safe guide is the method adopted by the Packet as mentioned above. No reasonable person will attempt to dispute the fact that whenever money is one of the objects of any meeting, social or concert, and the promoters thereof wish the public to know about it in advance, it is a business transaction for which advertising is required, and any newspaper space occupied by it should be paid for. When it is over, and a matter of local history, then it becomes news, and the publisher thinks his readers are interested in hearing about it—Printer and Publisher.

AULD LANG SYNE

FROM PLANET FILES OF HALF A CENTURY AGO

Taken from The Planet files from June 27, 1867, to July 4, 1867.

Saturday was a busy day in town, and we question if any other place of its size in the Dominion could show a more crowded market or a better display of garden, dairy and other produce than the Chatham market afforded on that day. There was a large supply of delicious strawberries, which sold readily at 15 cents a quart. The first green peas of the season were also for sale and were quickly disposed of.

The London Gazette contains the announcement of Lord Monck's appointment to be viceroy of the Dominion of Canada. It reads as follows:

Downing Street, June 4.
The Queen has been pleased to appoint Viscount Monck to be Governor General of the Dominion of Canada and after the first of July, 1867, under the provisions of the Act 30 of Victoria, chapter 3, for the union of Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick, and the Government thereof, and for purposes connected therewith.

The English Parliament enacted in 1770 that, "Whoever shall impose upon, seduce and betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's male subjects by scents, paints, cosmetic washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish wool, iron stays, hoops, high heeled shoes, or blemished hips," should be prosecuted for witchcraft, and that the marriage should be null and void.

Two young men by the names of Knight and Napoleon opened the grave of Mrs. McDougall, an old lady aged 80 years, who was buried in the cemetery at Wallaceburg. The act was done on Wednesday night. Young Knight was engaged as an apprentice with Lalonde, an undertaker of Wallaceburg, and when Mr. McDougall called for the coffin the boy gave it to him. Lalonde then told the boy that he would hold him responsible and that he must pay the money himself or get the coffin. The boy could not pay for the coffin so went to work and dug up the remains of the old lady. He placed her back in the rough casket and laid the soles over her again, and then journeyed to the undertakers with the casket.

The expedition to follow Dr. Livingstone's track to Lake Xosasa, left England on the 10th of June. Sir Roderick Murcheson has every hope of Livingstone being alive, and at any rate the present expedition will follow up the discoveries of the latter.

The Free and Open Churches Association has been formed in London, England, with Tom Hughes, member of Parliament, as its president, the object being to make the sittings in the churches free to all comers.

Two Protestant missionaries have just made a tour of from 2,000 to 3,000 miles in the interior of China, report an open door everywhere for preaching and the sale of Christian books.

A well known physician at Albany called upon a lady the other day to administer medicine. He commenced operations by kissing her lady friend up and told her husband, a husband called a lawyer, lawyer dropped a note to the physician, physician responded, pleaded guilty to the kiss, asked pardon, paid $50, and left for home.

In Paris a widow of 45 summers married a young man aged eighteen. By her first husband she had a son whose age at the time of her second marriage was twenty-one. She recently died, and by her will left her fortune to her son and husband, as her husband was not of age, her son was appointed his guardian.

A detachment of Royal Canadian rifles arrived at Quebec on Saturday last from St. Johns, N. E., by the steamer St. George, consisting of 70 men, 33 women and 61 children.

A Mrs. Wilkins, a resident of Balclish, dropped dead in front of Mr. McCully's drug store this afternoon. An inquest will be held.

The Great Western Railway will, on Thursday, run an excursion to Detroit. Round trip tickets $1.50.

Seventy persons were released from the city jail at Chicago one day last week to make room for later comers.

A Constitutional Association has been formed in South Oxford. The second and third articles of the constitution read as follows:

2. To unite moderate men of all parties in such a manner that, by combined action, their political influence may be brought to bear in every political contest.

3. To use its best endeavors to extend those principles which will be most certain to insure to us the glorious privileges of British subjects, and to strengthen the golden chain of British connection.

Larder Lake Goldfields

As stated in my news letters last summer I then began investigating the Larder Lake district north of Cobalt. I have done so thoroughly, and from personal investigation on the ground, the employment of reliable engineers and a corps of experienced prospectors, I and my associates have now ample proof of the great value of this field.

We know so surely what is there (and what immense possibilities there are as well) that we have already put nearly $500,000.00 cash into the field.

Our employees on the ground number nearly one hundred, and our stamp mill will very soon be in operation.

I am a practical mining man, and I need hardly say that we would not put in such money and work unless fully justified.

The width of the veins or reefs in sight, and the values they bear when each width is considered, is extraordinary. In Africa such reefs are probably mined when bearing but a few pennyweights of gold to the ton—at Larder Lake average assays from across many reefs run ounces of gold to the ton. An ounce is equal to 320, and the cost of mining and milling should not exceed $2.50.

I and my associates see many millions of dollars of clean legitimate profits before us in these goldfields.

By forming a company, putting up our hard cash, as stated above, and getting in first, we have secured thirty-seven forty-acre claims which we believe to be the cream of the Larder Lake Goldfields.

Our present stamp mill is a small one. We want a larger mill—from 100 to 200 stamps—and we must spend money in opening up our large acreage.

We have put in considerable money, and, indeed, would carry the whole thing ourselves but that, like everything else, we have other interests as well to take care of.

We are therefore affording others the opportunity of joining us and sharing with us the large profits we are going to make—profits from dividends, and also from the increase of market value in our stock.

Our Company is known as the LARDER LAKE PROPRIETARY GOLD FIELDS, LIMITED, and among the directors and gentlemen identified with it are the following:—Col. C. Sterling Ryerson, Ex-M.P.; Senator L. V. Urey, Lieut.-Col. A. N. Worthington, Member Dominion Parliament; T. Herbert Lennox, Member Provincial Parliament; Chas. H. Waterous, Ex-Mayor of Brantford; E. P. Bucke, of "Granby" fame; Dr. D. H. Piper, of London; P. Kirkgaard, M.B., Member National Geographic Society; Sylvester Jenckes, President Jenckes Machine Company; William Farwell, President Eastern Township Bank; C. P. Brown, of Toronto; Dr. Preston, Member Provincial Parliament, and others of like standing.

For the purposes mentioned above a limited amount of stock is offered by the underwriters (Canada Mines Limited) at their first ground floor price of $1.00 per share. This is being subscribed for rapidly, and the next allotment will be at a materially advanced price. The stock will then be listed on the exchanges and placed on the New York and Boston curb, when, as in every proposition I have been connected with, it will, without doubt, command a legitimate market at a still higher price.

This opportunity will not last long.

HERE AND THERE.

More Glory For the Jumper Frock
Shepherd Plaid Suits.

The jumper frock has in a measure taken on the glory that was formerly bestowed upon the shirt waist suit and abounds in a variety of styles. Some very pretty frocks of this description are made up in plain colored linens trimmed with elany and tord lace, the little lingerie blouse being adorned with the same pattern.

Many of the spring tailor made gowns are of a large shepherd's plaid cloth, the skirt arranged in six wide plaits from the hips and the hem finished with a bias strapping of the cloth.

The panamas are here again, but a great many fabrics adopt the name. The old time bunting is seen, too, but under newer titles.

Striped materials will vie with checked fabrics for the first position, but for morning costumes plain satin finished mohairs as well as plain cloths still remain in favor.

The big French dressmakers have been buying up quantities of mohairs for use in tailor made dresses for spring and summer travelling gowns. So say people deep in the secrets of the dry goods trade who have recently come from Paris.

For summer dresses marquisettes, ninos, grenadines and chiffon voiles, both plain and in self colored checks and other fancy effects, will be popular.

The chemise illustrated is of linen muslin and is a charming material for summer wear, being fine and soft without any bulkiness. The neck in the design is cut square and trimmed with beading and German valencien lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT TO WEAR.

Natty Chiffon Shoulder Capes—Lace Coats Smart.

There are a number of styles in small shoulder capes to wear with this white spring of chiffon ruffles over foundation of silk. There is no collar, thus giving an opportunity to display the handsome collar of the gown.

Lace coats will be just as popular next summer as they were last season. They are of three-quarter length, light fitting and are not becoming unless one is slender. The sleeves are short. Then there are lots of bolero jackets in all the fashionable laces.

The imitations of laces used for tailored frocks are numerous and to be distinguished from pure linen only by the difference of shading in the more difficult tones, such as flamingo, apricot, etc. The manufacturers have "handed" us some delicious shades of lemon, though, and a semitailored frock in an imitation linen has a smart plaited skirt inset with medallions of machine embroidery further embellished with tiny buttons and wash braid. Accompanying the skirt is a little square Eton jacket plaited and lace trimmed, worn over a blouse of lawn.

The curved yoke is seen on the new spring suits. There is still the wide-shoulder effect with sleeves of the kimono shape, wide and loose like the sleeves of the orient.

Narrow Swiss embroidery makes a pretty collar. Two pieces may be joined with insertion at the edge. Velvet bands trimmed with lace medallions also make good collars. The neckpiece that comes with the average ready made waist is seldom dainty enough to be worn, so a more elaborate arrangement is substituted.

Here is one of the new plain shirt waists. It is made perfectly plain and depends upon the little Marie Antoinette frills for chicness. It is hardly necessary to add that only rather heavy materials make up well in this design. JUDIC CHOLLET.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS BAD BEACONS.

Lizard Lighthouse Often Invisible When Other Lights Are Seen.

London, April 26.—The familiar complaint of the unsuitability of electric lamps for lighthouses is again made. At the Government enquiry into the stranding of the steamer Suevic, the marine superintendent of the White Star Line and other nautical witnesses declared that the electric light at the Lizard was sometimes obscured by fog when lights in the houses ashore on the same level were visible. They contended that electric lamps in lighthouses were not comparable with oil lamps, and said that the former might actually add to the dangers of the coast.

Kind of fierce to be tied up in a knot at midnight with cramps. Keep Nerviline handy. Ten drops quiets cramps instantly. Used occasionally Nerviline prevents this trouble entirely. From Stratford, Ont., Wm. Dee writes: "Nothing I know of will give such quick relief to cramps, colic or pain in the stomach as Nerviline. If you feel queasy, or sick, just ten drops of Nerviline in water, and you're well next minute." Think of the protection and comfort contained in a 25c. bottle of Nerviline, and get it to-day.
