ber of the government without portfolio, his dropping out being at his own request on the reorganization of the government, his wish for a long time having been to devote his whole attention to the hydro electric development with which his name is so prominently associated.

The Hon. W. K. Hearst, K. C., M.L.A. was born in the town of Arrar, Bruce County, in 1863, and was educated at the local schools and the University of Toronto. He was called to the bar in 1888, and has acted as counsel in all the important civil and criminal cases tried in Algoma. In 1894, when he had already made a fair reputation for himself he was chosen Conservative candidate for East Algoma, but was defeated by C. E. Fawcett. In 1905, on the formation of the Whitney government, Mr Hearst was appointed government agent in connection with the guarantee loan to the Lake Superior corporation. This position he held until 1908, when he resigned to contest the riding of Sault Ste Marie. In this election he was the successful candidate and has remained its representative until the present time.

Upon the promotion of the Hon. Frank Cochrane to Ottawa in 1911, Mr Hearst became minister of lands, mines and forests in the Ontario government which position he has filled with great credit to himself and his government, while in the House he has through out shown himself a hard and able worker.

THE ADAMS SHOE CO.

AT THE POLICE COURT

Standing room was at a premium at Police Court this morning and the door leading to the walk on the west side of City hall was filled with men who craned their necks to see what was going on. The door that communicates with the Chief of Police's office and other departments of City was filled and a row or more stood behind those who had the favored positions. The audience thinned out after the case of a young woman against a young man for using insulting language was remanded but one couldn't judge by that, if it was that spectacle which had drawn the crowd. It was after twelve when that case was finished for the time being so that the hard working spectators whose entertainment is found in police court hearings, possibly felt the call of the dinner bell. Those whose duties keep them at court, found no time to respond to that summons and Magistrate Bates was not only kept busy until nearly one o'clock but had more work for himself marked out with remanded cases this afternoon.

Annie Mykola was the complainant against Bill Siminuk for whom W. N. Kerr was counsel. Mr. Kerr wanted the case dismissed and when this result was withheld, he declared he would bring in new testimony so that the case was remanded until tomorrow morning at 10. There were two witnesses for the young woman and their corroborated her testimony that Siminuk had called her an indecent name. The defendant himself was wholly immovable and unperturbed though he had been a sweetheart of the prosecutor's for years up to three months ago. That there had been some inebriety at a Christening was brought out but this was not considered a provocation for the language used. The case was heard through an interpreter and was long drawn out with a sequel to go through tomorrow.

Two drunks were fined $2 and costs and John Steele an interdict was fined $10 and costs. There were eight as brought into the dock at once and a Greek had to be remanded until this afternoon, so that an interpreter could be secured. In the same group were three Russians and one Finlander. One of the English speaking vags had the attention of the court room fixed upon him when he inquired: "What constitutes a vagrant." "Constitutes" isn't what one expects from a man found wandering abroad with no visible means of support. He and two others were given four hours to quit town or get work. Two others were given 14 days in jail and two more were given seven days in jail. Outside of this octette Jefferson Kerway was given the spot light for his individual entrance though he too was charged with no visible means of support. Kerway said he arrived in town Monday and slept at one hotel that night, a different hotel Tuesday night and Wednesday was taken to a private house by a young man. He had no idea where the house is, the name of the street or the name of the young man who took him to his room mate and he was promptly sent back to his cell where it is a certainty he spent Thursday night. He will appear again before his worship this afternoon.

In the meantime, with the Court having an unusual docket and furnishing all that was necessary for everybody's attention, there were sounds from the side of the station that nearly drowned out any conversation in the court room.

There was no lull in the tone or words until finally Magistrate Bates left the bench and sought the exuberant and volatile one. The noise was thus abated though Wm. Norcott who was the nuisance will have to answer for this drunkenness tomorrow. He has already been before the Court twice this week.

Albert Hardaker for having no tail light on his automobile was fined $1 and costs and another motor vehicle violation charge will be heard this afternoon.

Slaughter Of German Cavalry

French Gunner Displayed Great Courage When Nearly Cornered by Germans

Bordeaux, Oct. 2.—The defeat of 15,000 Prussian guards who attacked the French corps on Sept. 26 is described in the Petite Girondine.

As soon as news of the German advance was received French cavalry was sent to head the enemy at Auberville, department of Marne, to give the artillery and infantry time to come up from Souain, a place near Auberville. But, while the French dragons were preparing for the defence of Auberville, a brigade of Death's Head Hussars, avoiding the village, came across the vineyards and fields with the intention of surprising the French artillery on the march.

It was a critical moment. The French dragons were two miles ahead and the infantry two miles behind the guns who were in danger of being sabred across their guns. The Hussars were only three quarters of a mile away, galloping furiously. In two minutes the guns were unlimbered and in a few seconds the road. The enemy then was only 500 yards away.

Death At Close Quarters

When they were 200 yards away the French gunners aimed and there was a dash of fire. Through the blue smoke the artillerymen could see the enemy's horses rearing and officers trying vainly to rally the broken lines.

A second time the battery vomited death into the doomed brigade. A great silence succeeded the thunder of hoofs and the shouting of men. Two thousand horsemen lay as if struck by lightning. Here and there a wounded horse struggled to shake himself clear from the heaped dead.

But the artillerymen did not wait to gaze long on this scene of carnage. They limbered up the guns and rattled off to aid the dragons who were hard pressed and falling back along the highway. This time the struggle was more even. The German quick fire returned the fire with interest, but the French infantry arrived and deployed among the vines, a single rang out and their bayonets flashed in the sun as they dashed forward. Without cavalry to aid it the Prussian guard was obliged to fall back.

patch to the Daily Telegraph says:

"The Germans in Rotterdam are agitated at the tone of the German newspapers which arrived today. Only one meaning can be attached to what they contain, they are preparing the German people for defeat and the ruin of their hopes."

"Official messages ask that judgment be suspended if news should arrive that the German troops have been compelled to abandon certain positions."

"The British troops are mentioned as pushing by the sheer weight of their masses, and the French are admitted to have taught a severe lesson. A week ago such statements would have meant the suppression of the newspapers publishing it."
