The Survivors of the Ealing's Crew.

Canso correspondence of the Halifax Herald dated the 12th inst., contains the following relative to the survivors of the ill-fated steamer Ealing, of whose loss mention is made in our news column: The Dominion government steamer Newfield arrived here this morning, having been ordered by the marine department to convey the survivors of the Ealing's crew to Halifax, where they will be placed in hospital. The condition of the shipwrecked men is all that could be hoped for, and they have reason to be most thankful for he tender treatment and careful nursing received here: The two seatener Haggart and Petersoo, it is feared, will be deprived and sail for Halifax on Tuesday. In the maxime the ship will probably be tsken on board the Newfield and sail for Halifax on Tuesday.
