'Oh, dear, dear, what a cross it is to be a poor orphan girl!

We little thought, dear Ed, five years ago, when we were so happy, you and I, here on the dear old farm, with papa and mama, that both wou d die so soon of that cruel fever, and that Uncle lack would have to carry on the farm and pay off the mortgage as our guardian, while you went off as our guardian, while you went off set her cap at him. She met him once to the city to earn money to hely. at a ball at White Sulphur Springs. It was a cruel blow, but all the hard | and says he's grand .- Wouldn't she er to bear since aunt's cousin, Vida make a pretty governor's lady, pray, Halliburton, came here to live. She with that red head? Oh! I hate Vida, is spiteful, and she hates me-just I think, because her hair is red and straight, while mine is brown and cat! Uncle means to vote for him, curly. I know she sets Aunt Jill and so would I if I had a vote. I've against me by cunning little arts, and told Graham Prentiss he must vote for him, or I'd never speak to him it is cruel, for Vida has a better time again, so there! than I have. She has an income, and can pay her board, while I must me, you know; but I haven't promiswork for all I get.

I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to you for my cure."—Mrs. Harriet E. Wampler, 524 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider This Advice. No woman should submit to a surgi-cal operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous medicine, made only from roots and herbs, has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, confidential, and always helpful. Liniment.—july6,tf
