The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CARRISON

A man whom I know has recently obtained a position as an "efficiency engineer."

Do you know what that means? It means that his duties are to carefully and scientifically study the whole workings of the various plants in which he is employed and tell their owners in just what ways they are losing efficiency.

He will tell one man that he ought to abolish roll top desks because his clerks are wasting time behind them. He will tell another that his machinery could be arranged so as to save his mill's time.

He will suggest to another that he might save money by utilizing some by-product which he is allowing to go to waste.

When the efficiency engineer's recommendations are followed the firm which employs him often saves many thousands of dollars a year.

Now how many hundreds of thousands, nay hundreds of millions of volts of human energy—or whatever other unit you care to measure energy by—would be saved if every man and woman would be his or her own "efficiency engineer?"

Do you see what I mean? Each of us possesses a certain given amount of energy. Some have more than others but all have a goodly share.

Our minds and bodies are the plants in which we use this energy.

Our pleasure in life, our characters and our achievements are the products we manufacture.

Now if each one of us were his own efficiency engineer he would overhaul that plant about once in so often and see in how many ways he was falling to get full results from that energy, in how many ways he could increase his efficiency.

One girl would say—"I am wearing high heeled shoes which tire me needlessly and take that much away from my pleasure in life and my ability to achieve."

Another girl would say—"I am wearing insufficient clothing in winter. Consequently I have to use my vitality to keep warm and cannot have it for other purposes."

A business man would say—"I am not taking enough exercise. I ride whenever I can whereas I ought to walk. The result is that my brain does not do as good work as it could."

A house mother would say—"I do not get out outdoors enough and the lack of fresh air and change of scene makes me cross and nervous and incapable of enjoying my family and my work as I ought."

An apprehensive and nervous person would say—"I waste half my energy in worrying. I will remember that there are two kinds of things not to worry about—those you can help and those you can't, and I will utilize that energy in trying to help those that can be helped."

And now—if by any chance you should decide that your plant needed overhauling and should engage yourself as YOUR efficiency engineer, I wonder what YOU would say?

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and credits Dr. Pierce to the greatest record in the history of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as with-out fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gowns of all-over-lace—some of the exceedingly costly—have the highest approval in fashion.

The general tendency in handbags fashions is toward the small compact bag with rich fittings.

Tulle and lace are largely used for fichus on evening gowns. These are edged with head fringe.

Eyelet designs in laces are expected to be one of the strongest features of the winter fashions.

Algrettes are being used extensively again. They are dyed now to carry out a color scheme of a hat.

Maline is still high in favor. Huge crowns of it in white or in exquisite color combinations are seen.

Flat ruffles of pleated tulle in black and white are placed on the crowns of many velvet oval-shaped hats.

Cluny and the heavy macramé laces are in great favor and may be said to practically lead the new lace vogue.

Many blouses of striped mousseline de sole are being shown to be worn with the tailored suits of linen or serge.

Eyelet embroidery trims silk suits and dresses. It is in ecru, white or colors, and can be removed to be cleaned.

Everywhere in the realm of fashion first favor is given to the softest of fabrics in dress goods, silks and suitings.

After a season of feathers, robes

Velour hats are proving strong favorites in early fall millinery.

The vogue for black and white all-ances shows but little abatement.

The jumper design has been furiously revived for dressy shirtwaists.

Collarettes of black or white tulle are used to wear with afternoon gowns.

Extensive use is made of all kinds of laces and even lace robes are coming to the front.

Blue and white combinations are coming to the front.

Large black velvet hats are still worn with lingerie gowns.

Skirts, especially on lingerie dresses, are showing more fullness.

Double veillings are being used to give lovely iridescent effects.

and ribbons, hats are again trimmed with birds' wings. They are mostly milliner-made.

Hats of satin, caps of satin and lace, designed for the theatre, satin scarfs and satin muffs, will be seen in varying styles.

Very short tunics are shown on many of the new dresses. The effect is of a double skirt, which is becoming decidedly into favor.

A silk and linen season is passing and in its wake will follow a season that will see satin on the crest of the wave of popularity.

On some of the fine new evening gowns fur appears on tunics, skirt edge and waist and is shown in contrasting color to the dress.

Ecru mousseline veils, black silk or satin. This vies with white chiffon or satin over black for evening and formal afternoon wear.

"Have I the Right to Vote?"

Dr. Robertson Emphasizes the Sacredness of the Franchise.

"Have I the right to vote?" was the theme of the discourse delivered by Rev. Dr. Andrew Robertson to a large congregation at St. James' Presbyterian Church last night.

"I make no apology for considering this subject in the pulpit," said the reverend gentleman. "The right to vote is a religious right, and there is no religious right that ought not to be considered in the quiet and unperverted atmosphere of the church."

"The right to vote should be rooted in your knowledge of the past," proceeded Dr. Robertson. "No man can be a decent citizen who does not know something of the human agony of divine wisdom and grace."

"Then again, your right should be rooted in your knowledge of the law of national life. I am not asking that the average citizen should blossom into a philosophic politician, but what I do urge is that every citizen who dares to lift his voice in connection with national affairs ought to have some acquaintance with the law of which nations will find their life."

Concluding, Dr. Robertson said he had tried to give them principles. The right of the franchise was not theirs, because of age; not because they were caught in the toils of party, but by virtue of their acknowledgement of the Book, and their sense of the sacred responsibility to which it kept them in pledge.—Toronto Telegram.

College Men as Stokers

One Travelled 3,000 Miles in Europe on $140 and Bicycle.

New York, Sept. 9.—Fourteen college students stood patiently in line of stokers, stewards and coal passers in State street yesterday waiting to be paid for their services aboard the White Star liner Adriatic, which arrived here from Liverpool.

Edgar V. Beebe, of Hammondsport, N.Y., one of the fourteen, worked his way across last July with $190 in his clothes. On reaching England he bought a bicycle for $50 and rode three thousand miles in England, Belgium, Germany, Holland, Switzerland and France on it, spending the $140 he had left on hotel accommodations.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP, 1912.

The Qualifying Examination for this Scholarship will be held in the Colonial Building, on Tuesday, October 17th, and Wednesday, October 18th, next.

Candidates for Examination are requested to have their applications lodged with the undersigned not later than Saturday, the 14th of October. The accompanying extract from a letter received from Dr. Parkin of the Rhodes Trust is published for the information of intending candidates.

"By a recent decree of Oxford University it is now possible for a candidate who may have passed the Rhodes Qualifying Examination in Latin and Mathematics, but not in Greek, to remove the Greek 'condition' by passing in that language at some subsequent Rhodes Qualifying Examination.

For example, a candidate who may have passed in Latin and Mathematics in October, 1909, may offer himself at the Examination of October 1910 for Examination in Greek only; and, if he pass, will not be required to pass in Responsions Greek at Oxford."
