London, Oct. 23, 1890. While engaged in the lumber business, about fourteen years ago, I was on top of a pile of lumber about 30 feet high, when it fell, precipitating me to the ground. Some of the lumber fell on my ankle and sprained it worse than it is now. I got a bottle of Doyle's Liniment and after using two-thirds of the bottle, my ankle is as well as ever it was. Furthermore, my horse ran away, and being hitched too short the axle broke his heels, and scraped the skin off. I used the Liniment in a few days and he was healed up. It is the best Liniment I ever used. It has no equal on the market.

QUIT WHITE BREAD.

Could Not Get Strength From It.

An Episcopalian minister of Ellenville, N. Y., who is interested not only in the spiritual welfare of his congregation, but in their physical well-being, says: "I can now do an immense amount of work and feel no fatigue, for the reason that I am using Grape-Nuts breakfast food, and have quick coffee entirely and am using Postum Food Coffee."

"Myself and family are all greatly improved in health. We have largely abandoned the use of white bread. Upwards of twenty-five persons have changed their diet, on my recommendation. It is gladly given, because I know, from personal experience, whereof I speak."

It is a well-known fact that white bread is almost entirely composed of starch and this is difficult of digestion by many people, particularly those who have weak intestinal digestion. The result of the use of much white bread is a lack of brain and nervous power, and a general weakness of the system. It is a fact that the use of Grape-Nuts breakfast food, which contains the needed starch, but in a predigested form. That is, it is transformed into grape sugar in the process of manufacture, and delivered to the package ready cooked, and in such shape that it is immediately assimilated without hard work of the digestive organs.

The food also contains the delicate particles of phosphate of potassium, which combined with albumen, is used by nature to make the gray matter that must be in the cells of the brain and the nerve centers throughout the body, in order to give strength and ability, to stand long and continuous work. Both the Postum Food Coffee and Grape-Nuts are sold by all first-class grocers.

FIRST DIVISION COURT.

—Hunter, of South London, was sued by the Northern Life Insurance Company for $54.75, the amount of a note, with interest, given in April, 1899, on a life insurance premium. The note was made payable for one month, and the defense set up was that as the policy expired when the note matured, the company was only entitled to recover a third of a year's premium. Judgment was entered.

May Musical Festival.

"Are you going to the 'Elijah'?" This question is heard on all sides as the time for the great musical festival draws near. It should be easily answered, as to miss this treat is to miss one of the best musical productions that have ever been presented to a Canadian audience. No effort or expense has been spared by the promoters of the enterprise to make it so, and they should receive the generous support of the citizens. The 300 local artists, who make up the chorus, have practiced hard twice a week for several months, and their voices blend beautifully together.

The quartet of soloists engaged to sing the roles in the "Elijah" comprises artists who have been specially chosen to take the principal parts in the spring and May festivals in the greater cities of the United States. During their seven weeks of festival engagements this season they will be called upon for some of the greatest music of the world, and their constant rehearsals together will warrant a perfection of ensemble in vocal duets, trios and quartets seldom otherwise attainable, apart from their individual reputation as soloists par excellence. Miss Flora Provan is a dramatic soprano of much force and character; Isabella Boulton, the contralto, is now a member of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company; Mr. Geo. Leon Moore is an American tenor, who bids to rival the great tenors of England, whilst Gwilym Miles is the foremost American baritone of the present time. The artists will be ably assisted at the afternoon concert by Miss Mary Jardine Thomson, soprano; Mr. H. D. Hadley, violinist, and Mr. V. Rogers, harpist.

The orchestra, drawn from Boston, of forty renowned performers, of which every member is an accomplished artist, appear in London for the first time in the United States, and only include five cities on their present tour, viz., London, Toronto, Ottawa, Kingston and Montreal. The orchestra will appear in their entire strength of forty eminent instrumentalists both afternoon and evening, after having taken part in almost all of the prominent spring and May festivals held in the United States, and for which purpose this orchestra was formed some 80 years ago by the distinguished conductor, Carl Zerrahn, who was succeeded by Emil Mollenhauer, the orchestra's present conductor, who holds the dual position of conductor of the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston and of the Boston Festival Orchestra.

IN FRENZY OF EXCITEMENT

Londoners Go Wild Over the Joyous News From South Africa.

Big Demonstration in Honor of the Relief of Mafeking.

Streets Thronged With Thousands of Cheering Citizens.

Soldiers Take Part in the Proceedings—Band Concert in the Park—The Din of Horns and Fireworks Reached Far Into the Night.

Shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the news of Mafeking's relief was received, as announced in the special issue of The Advertiser, the city hall bell commenced to ring merrily. Citizens who were on the streets stood still, wondering, hoping, and as the import of the tale told by the bells dawned upon them, they hurried to the newspaper offices and eagerly read the bulletins' confirmation of the welcome news. Mafeking was relieved! The siege that had held the attention of the world for 216 days was abandoned at last, and Baden-Powell—plucky Baden-Powell, for his name is rarely heard without the adjective—he who planned with wonderful resourcefulness, who fought with British valor, who cheered the despondent, and fought, starved and fought again in that far-off stronghold of Britain, he was free once more to grip the hands of his comrades-in-arms and restore the place that he had guarded so well. So thought the people on the streets, and cheers were heard for Mafeking and its plucky commander. The jubilant sounds attracted others. The crowds became greater. Hundreds of upturned faces looked toward the bulletin board, and the gladness with which the news was received was reflected there. Bells resounded continuously, and whistles were blown; thus the tidings were conveyed to those in the stores and workshops. At 6 o'clock they, also, streamed to the newspaper offices. The ubiquitous small boy and those who were not small in stature, but were young in spirit, used many noise-producing devices, and the air was rent with the blare of horns. Once again, as on Ladysmith Day, the laws of the city were ignored, in part, and all signs of excitement or forms of enthusiasm were permitted by the police. Fireworks of all descriptions were used, and ever and anon a great storm of red fire and the brilliancy of skyrockets lighted the now darkened streets and illuminated the happy faces of the celebrants. It disclosed to view the flags of empire that were carried, and the national colors that bedecked all. It glittered on the steel of hundreds of bicycles that streamed along the pavements, and caused to pale the sparks that shot from the steel-shod hoofs of prancing horses. The Salvation Army Band was again the first to appear, and its patriotic airs caused increased enthusiasm. Soon after the full band of the Seventh Regiment marched down Dundas street, along Richmond, and thence to Victoria Park. The crowds trooped after, moving in a long black mass. From all parts of the city the people gathered in the park, and the promised benefit concert became the focal point about which revolved the spirit of celebration. Headed by the Bugle Band, the men of No. 1 company, R. C. R. L., and the short course men, all in uniform, followed by the noble together with the great crowd about them, with bare heads and lusty lungs, they gave three tremendous cheers, and a hurrah for the noble "Widow of Windsor." Then Baden-Powell was honored similarly. At times the music of the band was almost deadened by the noise of fireworks and the din of the horns of the ardent ones. Ever and again some red fire was burned and illuminated all about so that one might almost see the veins of the maple leaves as the light spread and brightened. The red light glowed upon the top of the tall tower of St. Paul's Cathedral, and shone upon the gloomy clouds that hung above, and glimmered between the foliage of the maples. When the programme that had been provided by the band was concluded, and the people streamed in all directions towards home, their progress was impeded by the great numbers who still remained on the streets; they saw the wrecked portions of litter cans used as resonant boxes for giant firecrackers, and they saw the pavements littered with the remains of revelry.

DELIRIOUS WITH JOY

proposals will probably be put forward by the Boer governments. The recent reverses are causing despondency. There was a prolonged meeting of the Transvaal executive at Pretoria Thursday, and the destruction of the mines was again considered. It is understood that the government does not intend to destroy the mines.

According to other advices from the same point, President Kruger and the other high officials purpose leaving all immediately for Lydenburg. The British prisoners will be conveyed there and the foreign consuls at Pretoria are leaving Lydenburg in Kroonstad. It is said that President Kruger will surrender when Lord Roberts crosses the Transvaal frontier.

BOERS DEPRESSSED.

New York, May 18.—The Sun has the following special from Pretoria, under date of May 15, via Lorenzo Marquez, May 17: Recent reverses in the Orange Free State have had a most depressing effect on the Boers. There is no longer any concealment of the fact. There is reason to believe the Boers will presently sue for peace. The government has asked the correspondents to invoke their best endeavors to secure intervention by the United States.

Washington, May 18.—At the cabinet meeting today, the question of the reception of the Boer envoys was discussed. They will be received with every courtesy, but only as private citizens, and not in any diplomatic capacity.

New York, May 18.—Shortly after 6 o'clock the visiting Boers left their hotel to take train for Washington. There was no crowd to see them off and no demonstration.

General Rejoicing.

ALL OVER CANADA.

Toronto, May 18.—The relief of Mafeking was celebrated here tonight much as the relief of Ladysmith. Cheering crowds around the bulletin boards, who decorated themselves with flags, praised the magnificent stand of Col. Baden-Powell. The St. George's Society will hold a special thanksgiving service on Sunday evening, and the garrison parade on Sunday will be really a military celebration of the event.

Ottawa, May 18.—There was great rejoicing at the news of the relief of Mafeking. Flags are flying on the public buildings and the church bells ringing a merry peal.

Montreal, May 18.—There was general rejoicing in Montreal tonight over the relief of Mafeking. All the church bells in the city were rung and flags were displayed profusely. By order of the militia authorities a salvo of artillery was discharged at St. Helen's Island.

QUEBEC IN LINE

Quebec, Que., May 18.—The news of the relief of Mafeking reached here about 5 o'clock this evening, and caused great rejoicing. Tonight a big demonstration took place in the form of a military parade through the principal streets. Hundreds of patriotic citizens carrying the national colors swelled the ranks. An immense concourse of people were on the streets and great enthusiasm was manifested.

From all parts of the Dominion, dispatches announce the most enthusiastic demonstrations of joy at the relief of Mafeking's brave defenders.

But lines and columns there will be When Tommy's started fighting.
