Local Market.

London, Saturday, Dec. 2. There was a very good market this morning, but not quite up to those of recent Sakurday markets in the point of attendance and supplies, although a very general offering of staples was made. The monthly change in the hide and wool market was announced this morning. There is a sharp rise in the prices. The wool market has been unusually active during the past week, doubtless on account of the reports of shortages in foreign coun-tries. This morning's provision mart was brisk. All the first-class butter obtainable found ready sale. During the past week a large quantity of No. 2 cold storage eggs from the Aylmer district have glutted the local marke and were sold off very cheaply, and forced the wholesale market away down. The exploiting of a large stock from the local cold storage plant also tended towards this result

LONDON GIRL'S SUDDEN DEATH

Miss Lulu Fawcett Dead of Heart Failure, at Whitby College.

This morning about 10 o'clock Mr. D. W. Fawcett, J. P., of 53 Elmwood avenue, received the sad news that his daughter, Miss Lulu, had died very suddenly in Whitby. The particulars to hand are very meager. All that is known is that Miss Fawcett, who was attending Whikby College, went to her breakfast this morning, apparently in her usual health and spirits. Very her usual health and spirits. Very soon afterwards she was taken ill, and a doctor was sent for. Before he arrived she had died. He said that death had resulted from heart failure. A telegram was sent to Mr. Fawcett, telling him of his daughter's serious illness, but before it was received a telephone message told him of her death. She had been attending Whitby College since October standing very high in her studies. Miss Fawcett was in her her usual health and spirits. her studies. Miss Fawcett was in her 19th year. Her winning disposition had endeared her to very many friends in London and elsewhere, who will learn of her death with very deep sorrow. Her father and mother, two brothers— Will, who is studying medicine here and Harry—and one sister, Alice, survive. They will have the heartfelt sympathy of the whole community in their sad bereavemet.

Obituary.

MR. GEORGE F. ALLINSON. Many Londoners will learn with painful surprise of the death yesterday of Mr. George F. Allinson, at St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Allinson was a son of Mr. John Allinson, of the Grand Trunk here, and his death at the early age of 22 years terminates a career full of promise. He was a young man of exceptional ability, and for some time past had been private secretary to F. X. Roederer, president of the Bridge Terminal Association Railway. of St. Louis. A few weeks ago he was stricken with typhoid fever, and laterly the family were informed daily of his condition. Just before the end the young man's recovery was confident of the property of the strick of the str fidently expected. Prior to going South a few years ago, Mr. Allinson was a student in the law office of Mr. W. H. Bartram. He was in London last summer on a visit to his relatives. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Allinson, of 358 Horton street, two brothers, John, of the G. T. R. and William, printer, and three sisters, Mrs. John McLean and Misses Emily and Millie, all of London, survive. They will have wide-spread sympathy in their sad be-reavement. The remains will arrive in London at 10 a.m. tomorrow, and the funeral services will be conducted at the family residence by Rev. Dr. Johnston. Interment will take place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Matrimonial.

PUGH-MIDDLETON.

On Thursday evening a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mrs. O. J. Bridle, 10 Wharn-cliffe road, West London, when Mrs. Bridle's sister, Miss Mabel Middleton, val W. Pugh, of this city. The bride entered the room leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Wm. Middleton, bridesmaids were Miss Lucy Bridle, of Dundas street, city, and Miss Annie Dundas street, city, and miss per-Middleton. The ceremony was per-formed by the Rev. Mr. Morrison, of Methodist Church. The bride was handsomely attired in a lemon-colored silk dress with overdress of white chiffon, and carried a large bouquet of white roses. bridesmaids wore pink silk, with overdress of white chiffon and carried large bouquets of pink carnations. After Mr. and Mrs. Pugh received the congratulations of the guests the wedding repast was served. About 50 guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Pugh received many costly and useful pres-

LIKE MOTHER MADE.

"You're pretty good in your line, and all that," said Snickers, "but you can't make the biscuits mother used to 'Is that so?" said Mrs. Snickers, coldly.

"No," said Snickers. "You lack the subtle touch; you don't seem to have the insight that mother had. A woman's intuition is all right, but it don't teach her how to make biscuits—not like mother used to make." "I'm glad to hear it," said Mrs. "I'm telling you for your own good," said Snickers.

"Of course," said Mrs. Snickers.

"You don't understand—you can't grasp the inner meaning of a biscuit," said Snickers. "There is something looking about your biscuits. You miss the effect somehow." "Probably you'd better get your breakfast down town," suggested Mrs. Snickers. "I doubt if I could do any better if I did," sighed Mr. Snickers. "The art is lost. Mother's gone, and I'm afraid the secret of mother's biscuits has gone with her."

"It's a wonder you're not ashamed to talk like that," exclaimed Mrs. Snickers. "Alas! alas! We shall never look upon her like again," said Snickers.

"As a biscuit-maker and good general cook, mother was unsumpassed." "Before I'd talk about my dead mother like that," said Mrs. Snickers.

DECLINES

To Serve on a Committee in Re Unity Negotiations.

From Office.

DILLON WON'T DO IT. London, Dec. 2.-Mr. John Dillon, M. P., declines to serve on the committee appointed by the recent Dub-lin meeting to carry on the unity negotiations. In a letter to Mr. Timothy Healy he say he believes the country has lost faith in the possibility of the reconstruction of the Irish parliamentary party by negotiations between the members of parliament, and adds that he does not believe the country will accept a settlement so reached. Hence, while wishing well for the efforts at unity, he declines to serve on the com-

DISLOYAL OFFICIALS DEPOSED. Two Irish magistrates have been deprived of their offices by Lord Ash-bourne, the lord chancellor of Ireland, on account of anti-British comments on the Boer war. The proceeding is most unusual, especially as one of the delinquents was a nobleman, Lord Emly, who, speaking to some laborers flee from Tarlac, but the American at Limerick, inferred that Great Britops pressed him so hard that he tain might have another Ladysmith in was unable to carry out his intention. Ireland. Lord Asbourne asked for an explanation, but Lord Emly haughtily refused, whereupon he was removed. Lord Emly is prominent in Ireland, both socially and politically, and an ardent Home Ruler. The only instance on record is when Mr. Gladstone, years ago, deprived Lord Rossmore of a magistracy for similar utterances.

SURRENDER OF 800 FILIPINOS

Capture Bayonbong and Province of Neuva Vizaya

Two Disloyal Magistrates Removed With a Quantity of Arms and Ammunition-Spanish and American Prisoners Released.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.-Gen. Otis informed the war Lepartment to-day of the surrender of Bayombong, in the following dispatch: "Manila, Dec. 2.-Reports received that Bayonbong, with Provinces of Neuva Vizaya surrendered Nov. 28 to

Lieut Monroe. "The insurgent, Gen. Cannon, surrendered his entire force, numbering 800 men, armed with Mausers, and a number of officers; 70 Spanish and 2 American prisoners, secured and probable in the secured and probable in the secured are proportional to the secured and probable in the secured and probable in the secured are proportional to the secured and probable in the secured are secured as a secured as ably considerable insurgent property."
Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—Considerable interest is felt here in the news that the insurgents at Bayonbong have surrendered, particularly as the number is said to exceed that captured by the United States troops at any Bayonbong is the city to which Aguinaldo at one time contemplated re-treating for the purpose of locating the rebell capital after he was forced to Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.-Gen. Jos. Wheeler, in a personal letter received here today, dated at Angeles, Luzon, says: "There are more than twenty different tribes on this island, and very few of them would submit to Aguinaldo's rule. Aguinaldo and his generals would like to govern, because it would give them greater power, and many of his soldiers like the war because, for the first time in their lives, they have authority to carry a gun. They live by taking what they want from the people. If we should with-

THE RULING PASSION. "This morning-"

The gent in the arrowed suit looked very much pleased as he soliloquized.
"The guard told me that I was beof the buying, selling and advertising ginning to be a model prisoner."

His singularly acute face brightened. "I trust," he went on, "that I shall soon be a chainless model." Once more he began to file away at the manacles that adorned his well-
