proved to be one of the best melodramas seen here in some time. It has never been presented in Hamilton before, and patrons knew nothing of the author, Pierce Kingsley. The piece was well received, and so successful that it contains a story of exceptional interest, well told. The characters are diversified, and are introduced in a natural way. The company is quite clever, and makes the most of what is entrusted to it. The scenic and mechanical effects are above the average.

STODDARD STOCK COMPANY.
A screaming farce-comedy of the present day "A Friend in Need" will be produced at the Grand Opera House, dramatic organization, Stoddard Stock Company. The action of this play takes place in England and hinges on the exploits of a young Englishman who has been sent to America in order to reform him, and is based on a cattle ranch "near Buffalo." The play is a comedy, and the most entertaining vaudeville will be introduced, the performance being a continuous one. There is not a dull moment during the entire run of the play, and between the acts the people will be given no time to regret that they have not come. All who desire to forget the cares of life should not fail to see "A Friend in Need." Bargain prices will prevail.

Curious Not to Be Admitted to Home for Sick on Sundays
Superintendent Heard said that many of the visitors are people who come out of curiosity, and they gaze at the sick lying in the wards, much as they would at animals in the menageries.

It was finally agreed to insert an advertisement in the daily papers notifying the public that only the immediate relatives of the sick will in future be admitted to the hospital on Sundays.

Superintendent Heard's report for September was as follows: Patients admitted, 59 males, 48 females, 23 children, 22 total; discharges, 57 males, 51 females and 19 children, total of 127. Births, 7; deaths, 9; number receiving treatment during the month, 104; operations, 30; public health, 14, total 24; cash receipts, $1,542.25.

Superintendent Heard reported that owing to illness, Dr. Alison Turner, chief nurse surgeon, had been compelled to resign. It is Dr. Turner's intention to leave for the south at once.

The resignation was reluctantly accepted, and Mr. Heard stated that the hospital was being made to secure a capable surgeon from a hospital in another city.

After a thorough inspection of several large hospitals, I came away thoroughly satisfied with our own hospital," he concluded.

Work on the new boiler-house is proceeding satisfactorily.

Superintendent Heard, who has lately returned from Boston, where he attended the convention of hospital superintendents, told the trust that while he had seen finer hospital buildings in Boston, he had seen none that exceeded Victoria Hospital in cleanliness or efficiency.
