There can never be any other than you and so long as life lasts I will be yours. It is impossible that I could or should ever give to another the love that belongs to you. Accident to Gordon Erskine at Cook-Fitz perald Shoe Factory.

Gordon Erskine, a young man em-ployed as a shipper at the Cook-Fitzgerald shoe factory, is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken nose and a badly lacerated face as a result of an explosion in a barrel of ubber cement containing a large percentage of naphtha.

Shortly before 6 o'clock, Erskine snoruy before 6 o'clock, Erskine was engaged in removing a steel faucet from the barrel. It is customary when doing this to use a wooden mallet, but Erskine took a steel hammer, with the result that a spark flew into the cement as soon as a blow was struck.

into the cement as soon as a blow was struck.

Instantly there was a terrific explosion, which blew both ends out of the barrel, and caused a noise that was heard throughout the shop. Pieces of the barrel flew up and struck Erskine in the face and inflicted a number of cuts of a painful nature, and broke his nose. He was dazed for some time by the force of the concussion, and was hurried to St. Joseph's Hospital, as it was feared his eyes had been injured. Examination showed, however, that the optics were not hurt. Erskine spent a restful night at the hospital, and today, it is stated, that he will be around again all right shortly.
