YANKEE NOT GREATEST TRADER NOW.

[Congressman Mondell, Wisconsin, April 20.] "I take off my hat to the gentlemen who, on behalf of the Dominion of Canada, negotiated this treaty. No longer may the Yankee pride himself on being the great trader of the world. I commend to him our Canadian cousin. Those gentlemen knew the trade and industries of their country, and trey drew the agreement every line of which gave them the advantage of the wonderful markets of the most wonderful country on earth in change for seeming advantages in the markets of a land where, in spite of all preferential tariffs against us, we now practically control all representatives with the utmost courtesy. They have proposals to make, we want to know what they are. They should be made as openly as if they were submitted to Parliament. Public opinion should be heard upon them, and there the matter should rest until the United States Congress had given its sanction and approval to the action of its representatives. It would then be the duty of the Parliament to take similar action if in the public interest so to do. Only in this way can we preserve perfect freedom from the possible entanglements of a treaty, which, no matter how carefully drafted, is liable to be misunderstood and misinterpreted.

The Ottawa Government took the course favored by Sir George when he wrote as follows last Sentember:

"Theirs (the Americans') is the first move on the commercial chess board. We gave Great Britain a preference without any treaty or negotiations; why should we treat the Americans with greater formality? At the same time, let us receive their states.
