Thanksgiving services were held in St. James' Anglican Church, Clande-boye, October 2. Rev. Mr. Shore of Ilderton conducted both morning and evening services, which were largely attended in spite of rather inclement weather. The church was appropriate-ly decorated with autumn leaves, flow ers, fruits and grain. The annual harvest home, fowl supper will be held in the schoolroom of St. James' Church on the evening of October 4, and as an attractive program has been arranged for by the rector, the Rev. Mr. Mc-Goun, a large attendance is expected.

The rain of Saturday night was very welcome, but a much heavier fall is needed, as several farmers have been drawing water for the stock for weeks past, and the fall plowing is very heavy owing to the dryness of the ground.

Mushroms have not been as plentiful as usual this year, but they are now ppearing in satisfactory quantities in the clover fields and pastures. Both the pink and the large white varieties are plentiful this week, and many otorists have been seen gathering hem from fields along the road,
