Headmaster London Tech. Gets Important Post at Sault Ste. Marie.

Canadian Press Despatch. Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 2.—A. D. Hone, M.A., of London, has been appointed principal of the Sault Ste. Marie technical school at a salary of $4,000 a year. He will report for the fall term.

While Mr. Hone has not had official communication of his appointment, it is likely that he will accept the position. Speaking on his behalf last night, Mr. Hone himself being confined to his room by a severe attack of neuritis. Mr. Hone stated that Mr. Hone was offered the post last Easter, but that he had refused to leave his classes at the technical school in the middle of a term. Mr. Hone added that if the appointment has been made now, it comes entirely unlooked upon by Mr. Hone's part.

Mr. Hone, who holds the degree of master of arts from Trinity college, Toronto, with specialist's certificate in science and physical culture, has been headmaster of the technical department at the London technical and commercial high school for the past few years. During that period the department has grown from 80 to 500 students. Meanwhile, Mr. Hone has played no small part in the splendid success achieved by the school in recent years.

Prior to coming to London in 1919, Mr. Hone was head of the science department in Peterborough college for five years. Mr. Hone was with the Coburg heavy battery during the war, and was appointed a research fellow by the honorary advisory council of research for the dominion. In this connection, Mr. Hone did some important research work in connection with agriculture, which was afterwards published by the council. The principalship of the Sault Ste. Marie technical school was rendered vacant by the resignation of L. J. Williams as an inspector.

Over Forty Officers of Western Ontario To Be in City Tomorrow.

More than 40 officers representing the 23 corps of the Salvation army in Western Ontario will be in the city tomorrow to celebrate the inauguration of funds collected during the Salvationist appeals for funds during the last few weeks.

The annual self-denial campaign carried on has met with success. Practically every corps has reached its objective. The campaign has been launched in practically all points in the district with the exception of London, where the army does not have a distinct drive, owing to its association with the grained charities here.

All the money collected at outlying points will be brought directly to the headquarters of the district, Mr. McAmmond, divisional commander, today. The requirements of the different corps will then be allocated according to submitted reports of needs.

Three city bands will provide the musical festival, which is a part of the ceremony. The instrumental numbers will be augmented with songster brigades.

$250 IS AWARDED FOR BABE'S DEATH

Judge Macbeth Upholds Jury Action in Case Against L. S. R.

Upholding the recommendations of the jury brought in yesterday afternoon, Judge Macbeth this morning assessed damages of $250 and costs against the London Street Railway company for the death of John Hugh Woodham, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodhams, who was fatally injured by a street car at Askin street and the Wharncliffe road last November.

Mrs. Woodhams, in her statement of claim, asked $2,000 damages. The jury made three attempts to arrive at a verdict extending over a period of one hour and ten minutes before finally arriving at the $250 amount.

Allege Negligence. At the outset of the Woodhams' case, counsel for the railway company, J. C. Elliott, K.C., and J. G. Gillanders, admitted liability for damages, if any, thereby admitting as stated by W. R. Henderson, counsel for the plaintiff, that the death of the child was due to negligence upon the part of the company's employees.

Mr. Henderson then called Mr. Woodhams and Dr. Arthur Post as witnesses to prove that the child was in a healthy condition at the time of his death. Mr. Woodhams, a witness, testified that the expectancy of life of a boy 20 months old is 46 years. The parents stated that they had intended educating the boy and giving him a trade, and that they were expecting him to assist them financially way at the age of 16 or 17 years.

Mr. Elliott did not call any witnesses on behalf of the company, but stated that the plaintiff had made out any claim for damages, but the jury judge urged that if they fixed damages, if any, that they should be fixed on a reasonable basis, or else the judgment would probably be upset in a higher court. His honor added that to the best of his knowledge, the plaintiff had made out a case for damages for the death of an individual as young as 20 months.

Out Three Times. After being out 40 minutes, the jury under Judge Macbeth as foreman, reported that they had been unable to agree. Judge Macbeth sent them back, however, pointing out the case against them, and charging the jury and also the fact that ten men on the jury could bring in a verdict.

Fifteen minutes later the jury brought in a verdict for damages, but the railway company to pay the expenses of the court, meaning all the costs of the case, pointing out that it was his province to fix the costs, the judge again sent the jury back. Fifteen minutes later the jury brought in its third verdict, this time for $250 damages.

Mr. Henderson immediately moved that judgment be entered, but Mr. Elliott reiterated his opinion that no case has been made out and that accordingly the action should be dismissed.

Judge Macbeth intimated that he personally would not have allowed any damages, but added that since the jury had seen fit to bring in a verdict for $250 he could hardly disregard that verdict.

The members of the jury sitting on the case were: Henry McLellan (foreman), Francis Putnam, Edward Heath, Wilfred Campbell, Lewis Chertoff, Clifford Freer, Earl Whitling, J. H. Kilbourne, R. H. McDonald, Norman Scott, Edward Yorke and Elmer Hughes.

The members of the grand jury were: Wilbert Young (foreman), A. C. Bateman, Wm. Bowden, C. R. Carachod, Donald Dewar, J. D. Galbraith, Hubert Head, V. Hodgins, H. K. McCormick, D. C. McTavish, C. W. Reddick, Frank Westman and E. Vining.

of the danger which threatened, until Mr. Gilchrist broke in their front door. At that time the fire was gaining fast headway, and Mr. Fournier and Mr. Cartwright had to leap from the upstairs windows.

Leaps With Babe in Arms. Mr. Cartwright made the jump with his 16-month-old baby in his arms. Neighbors have been very kind to the family and are caring for the children while the parents secure a permanent residence. Mr. Gilchrist works on the section of the C. N. R., earning a wage of $3.20 a day, which hardly meets his family requirements. Joseph, the oldest boy, is working in the city and is able to care for himself but the rest of the family are dependents. A public subscription headed by Mayor Sloggett is opened on behalf of the two families and relief is at hand.

TECUMSEH CLERK GOING TO PRINCE EDWARD HOTEL

C. B. Musselman, chief clerk of the Tecumseh House, leaves for Windsor tomorrow, where he will take up a new position as assistant manager at the Prince Edward hotel.

Mr. Musselman has been with the Tecumseh House for eleven years, during which time he has made many friends in this city and among the travelling public.

Letter Is Received Certifying South London Work As Real Necessity.

STILL SOME DOUBT

Delay Until City Decides If Letter Is an Order.

Commencement at an early date of the construction of a $63,000 sewer on Wharncliffe road and Beaconsfield avenue is forecasted in a letter received by the city clerk this morning from the provincial board of health. The letter certifies that the construction of an out-fall sewer on the above-named street to connect with the main sewer and sewage disposal plant is deemed to be in the interests of public health.

"City Engineer Near is of the opinion that this practically amounts to a mandatory order to proceed with the work without delay. Mr. Baker, on the other hand, takes the view that it is not a certificate, but that the provincial board approves of the construction of such a sewer."

The matter will come up for discussion at the next meeting of No. 2 committee on Tuesday of next week.

The estimated cost of the work is $63,000. The city has agreed to make a special fund on hand to take care of the work. The difficulty has been that the expenditure of an amount of this size cannot be undertaken without a vote of the ratepayers, unless the provincial board of health issues an order that the work should be proceeded with.

The situation was laid before the provincial health authorities by the city council, with the expectation that an order would be issued which would leave the city no choice but to go ahead with this needed construction. The certificate received today is, therefore, of considerable importance, but all doubt as to its meaning will have to be cleared up before any action can be taken.

of the shipping room, of wooden construction, was completely destroyed. Shortly after 6 o'clock this morning the blaze had spread itself, but a large amount of smoking straw, used as packing material, continued to smolder and necessitated constant watch for fear of a second outbreak.

Destruction of the shipping-room and art glass display will create a little inconvenience so far as business is concerned, officials of the company said today. Shipping operations will probably be temporarily stopped. Carpenters were at work constructing new quarters this morning. The most valuable parts of the building, the plate glass department and machinery shops, were saved.

Blaze Spectacular. For one hour while the blaze was at its height with flames shooting high into the air and wood and straw burning furiously, the fire threatened neighboring buildings. A strong north wind prevented spread of the blaze as the fire slowly crept towards the south into an open space near the C. N. R. tracks. It was one of the most spectacular fires Chief of firemen experienced, he said today, although it was not difficult to fight due to modern factory construction.

Chief Aitken believes the fire broke out at about 3 o'clock. No evidence of fire was noticed by the company's watchmen when he inspected the shipping-room at 9 o'clock last night. Two serious fires occurred in the city last night. It was only one hour after the firemen had left the scene of a blaze at the W. A. Jenkins Manufacturing Co. that an alarm was received from the Hobbs Co.

Several thousand dollars damage, chiefly to stock, was suffered by the W. A. Jenkins Manufacturing Co. (See Also Page 12.)

forego the denominational luxury which appeals to all, deliberately removed their aloof and separate existence, their distinguishing name and policy, in order to banish what they deem the sham of sectarian waste and strife, and to prove the sovereignty of the greater by the surrender of the lesser, thus to lead the world in a practical of special allegiance to the visibility of the Christian brotherhood of man.

Will Avoid Friction

This will be a great assembly. The temper of the leaders is fine and forbearing. Anti-unionists will be there in substantial numbers, and they too will, it seems, almost certain, seek in no way to mar the solemnity of this gathering with needless division and contention. I confidently predict that this assembly will remind us all of the great Lincoln's great appeal "with malice towards none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us seek to finish the work we have begun."

KING'S BIRTHDAY IS OBSERVED QUIETLY

The king's birthday was observed here quietly today, commercial houses, except banks conducting business as usual. Government offices operated on a reduced schedule, most of the civil servants employed in London enjoying the holiday.

Flags flew from several staffs in honor of the British sovereign, but no public demonstrations were held. Morning drills of the various military units stationed here saw a touch of special allegiance to the king. Slackened activities marked the day, however, in military quarters.

"Getting Married" Process Now Real Obstacle Race With New Hurdle In Sight

June 13 Will See Three-Day Delay in Force—Need Birth Certificate.

"CERTAINLY I'M 18"

Amendment Will Aid Son Escape Mother's Grip, City Clerk Predicts.

The process of getting married is becoming more and more of an obstacle race, is the plaint from those with misty eyes on the vista of conjugal bliss. The murmur of grievances is again bearing one of the flood tide of noise with the newest barrier even now in sight.

This obstruction looms about as inviting as a forty-foot jump in a steepchase and must be faced on June 13. The government says it isn't cricket to try and round the nice new hurdle. There is even the nasty hint of jail.

"Why certainly I'm 18" (indignant) will no longer win for a pretty miss the faith of the license clerk. Tell it on paper is the new order. Birth certificates must be presented before the magic parchment is handed out. This will bind "the boy" as well. Where birth certificates are not procurable, affidavits must be sworn to. White lies are passed on marriage licenses, and the law will take its course should youth boost its status by a few years.

Real Bad Bogey. Gone is the day when John can hustle into the city clerk's office, pay five dollars for a script, hustle Mary to the minister and call himself a married man in five minutes. A real bad bogey slides up in the form of a government ruling which says that three days must elapse from the time the license is bought to the ethereal hour of ceremony.

City Clerk Baker tells how many a mother has taken a healthy grip on the neck of her wayward George, marched him to the license wicket, then to the altar and the harness. Mr. Baker chuckles. "I've been thinking of the three-day delay. Three days will give a fairly smart George time to shake off that well-meaning grip."

Some Busybody. "Someone with nothing else to do and with no idea of his subject properly thought out," says the clerk, "is the city clerk's succinct comment. 'It's a puzzle to me.'"

A marriage license means five dollars in cash. An extra five-spot opens the gate of the fast chute, if one is in a terrible hurry. Mr. Baker explains that the "why" plan can be broken by sending ten dollars to Toronto. The license will then make good time.

Many Canadians who have moved to the United States grow sentimental when times come to leave up. Mr. Baker says, and come to the home land for the ceremony. The amendment will discourage this laudatory spirit of sentimentalism, predicts, and all round, the last state will be worse than the first.

CRIPPLE SUSPENDED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Judge Macbeth Frees Richard Brock On Bond of $100.

Richard Brock, who pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Talbot Macbeth on a charge of assaulting W. A. Hayden of the McClary Manufacturing Company, was allowed out on suspended sentence by the court this morning, after he had provided a $100 bond that he would keep the peace for one year.

Brock's counsel, J. M. McEvoy, K.C., pleaded for leniency, asking his honor to recall the representations that he had made to him on a previous occasion. Counsel pointed out that Brock had become a cripple through an accident at the McClary foundry, and was still a sick man requiring medical treatment. McClary had been to some considerable expense in the matter and a quarrel over payment of money had resulted in the assault.

Judge Macbeth pointed out to Brock the seriousness of the offence, and stated that he could sentence him to a long period of imprisonment.

"You commit a crime, and a brutal assault on a man considerably older than yourself," declared the judge. "However, you have been very unfortunate in many ways, and I have come to the conclusion, with some hesitation, that it will not be necessary to send you to prison."

"You are a cripple, and cannot do any work if you were sent to jail, and I am not satisfied that your mental condition is all that it should be. I understand that you have no money to pay a fine, and I am going to suspend sentence on you. However you must understand that you have to control your temper."

REV. JOHN GALLOWAY INDUCTED AT GLENCOE

Former Ilderton Minister Takes Charge of Presbyterian Church.

Special to The Advertiser. Glencoe, June 3.—The induction of Rev. John Galloway into the Presbyterian church here took place yesterday afternoon. Mr. Galloway comes to Glencoe from the charge of Ilderton, Bethel and Bryanston.

The service yesterday was conducted by Rev. T. A. Symington, London, moderator of the London Presbytery. Rev. James Anthony, recently inducted as pastor at Thamesford, preached the sermon. Rev. John McNair, D.D., London, addressed the minister, while Rev. James MacKay, B.D., London, addressed the people.

Mr. Galloway has been a consistent anti-unionist and comes to the Glencoe church, which voted strongly not to enter the United church of Canada. The former pastor Rev. D. G. Paton, unionist, resigned when the church voted non-concurrence.

Ministers in the Presbytery who attended the induction in addition to those already mentioned were: Rev. Dr. Stalker, Argyle, Rev. D. G. Paton, Teeswater, Rev. W. M. Smith, Knollwood park, London, Rev. N. Stevenson, Appin. At the conclusion of the service supper was served and Mr. and Mrs. Galloway were introduced to the members of their new charge.

JACKSON-COWAN NUPTIALS SMART EVENT OF TODAY

Miss Kathleen Cowan Becomes Bride of B. T. Jackson of Simcoe.

IN FIRST CHURCH

Golden summer sunshine graced the wedding of one of London's loveliest brides this afternoon, when Kathleen Gordon Hadley Cowan, daughter of Mrs. Cowan and the late David James Cowan, became the bride of Bruce Thornley Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jackson of Simcoe, the Rev. (Col.) Wm. Beattie officiating.

The first Presbyterian church, scene of the wedding ceremony, was a bower of early summer bloom for the occasion. Guests numbering two hundred occupied the central pews of the church, which were marked off by clusters of mauve and white iris and shell-pink peonies, tied with large white chignon bows. Tall standards of pink Darwin tulips, pink gladioli, iris and honeysuckle were placed in the front of the church, while the altar was banked with palms and ferns.

The bride was lovely in her nuptial robe of ivory French crepe satin, fashioned with new low, rodels of rare old Florentine lace and trailers and knots of garden blossoms. The long, close-fitting bodice was trimmed with white lace, while the skirt, lined with apple-green georgette, fell gracefully from the shoulders, where it was caught with pearl ornaments.

Rose Point Trimming. The bride's veil was of point d'esprit edged with rose point lace. Three and a half yards long, it was caught to the head, coronet fashion, falling to the tip of the train, where the rose point embroidery was seen again in a point of rich loveliness. The flow of rare old Florentine lace and trailers and knots of garden blossoms. The long, close-fitting bodice was trimmed with white lace, while the skirt, lined with apple-green georgette, fell gracefully from the shoulders, where it was caught with pearl ornaments.

The bride's table was centered with a lovely Italian garden with Venetian bowls filled with sweet peas, and long, close-fitting bodice was trimmed with white lace, while the skirt, lined with apple-green georgette, fell gracefully from the shoulders, where it was caught with pearl ornaments.

Gowns of Bridesmaids. The bridesmaids wore prettily fashioned imported gowns of ecru georgette, made with a low flare at the knees and straight bodice, falling to the floor. Shell pink roses on shoulder and marking the waistline, added an attractive touch. Miss Kathleen wore her gown above a slip of white, while Miss Margaret McQueen of Toronto, the second bridesmaid, wore an under-slip of palest peach tone.

Their hats were made after the same pattern as the hat of the matron of honor, Miss White's, lined with green and cream, and showing a pale yellow lining. Gold shoes completed their costume, while bouquets of Columbia roses, mauve sweetpeas and lilies of the valley, caught with mauve tulle and mauve ribbons from which fell tiny showers of mauve sweetpeas.

Mr. Gordon Jackson of Simcoe, brother of the groom, acted as best man, while the ushers were Mr. Beverly Anderson and Mr. Pat Innes of Simcoe. Mr. Bill Cowley and Mr. George Grange.

Sings "Until." During the signing of the register Miss Eleanor Kerr sang delightfully "Until." Her gown was of georgette in shades of roses shade, trimmed with lace, and she wore a corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Birkhill, home of the bride's mother, on Talbot street. The house was fragrant with summer flowers, tall standards of Columbia roses and Laddie carnations being

Mr. Judd. "I think it is," replied Mr. McEvoy gently, with one eye roving in the direction of the bench.

"The amount is correct," announced the crown attorney, whereas Hardy joined his smiling friends in the spectators' seats.

Reduced Charge. Yesterday afternoon the grand jury threw out the charge against Hardy of attempted robbery with violence, but found a true bill against him on a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm. Hardy then decided to plead guilty to the assault charge which was read to him this morning by the crown attorney.

"Your counsel has made representations to me of your case which has caused me to take a more lenient view," the judge told Hardy, "stopping to speak to newspapermen in the court house corridor."

The court then imposed a $50 fine and $50 court costs.

BANKERS' PICNIC STARTS SEASON

Nearly 200 Members of Royal Bank Staffs Gather at Springbank.

The velvet lawns of Springbank, with their over-hanging boughs of shady foliage, today greeted the first official picnicers of the season. Drawn from 25 places between Brantford and Glencoe, nearly 200 members and friends of the Royal bank staffs met on one of the eastern picnic locations and started the ball of picnics rolling for the summer of 1925.

They could not have chosen a lovelier day for introducing visiting officials from as far east as Montreal to the glories of London's celebrated park, for the sun-drenched lawns looked their best this year.

Several picnics, large and small, were held today. Races, softball and novelty games made an enthusiastic start for the thousands who spent the half-holiday by the Thames.

The sport card of the Royal bank staff was made up of six races and three soft ball games. Middlesex nine played the Oxford county team and Woodstock played London, with a playoff between the two winning teams.

The races were for boys and girls and managers. Two novelty races, a sack race and chesspin race, completed the sport card.

Among those who attended were: G. B. Sloan of Montreal, representing the general manager's department; Mr. J. H. R. Hillier, superintendent of the Ontario branches; H. C. Sootheran, staff supervisor of Ontario.

The program started at 2 o'clock. A pavilion lunch was served in the cafeteria.

G. E. Wemp was convener. The sports committee was made up of Miss B. F. Fysh, Miss B. McLean, J. H. R. Hillier, R. Robertson, and the luncheon committee, Miss M. G. Massey and J. H. Ferrin.

CHURCHES TO UNITE IN SUMMER SERVICES

Wortley Road Baptist and Elmwood Avenue Congregations Complete Plans.

Arrangements have been completed, whereby Wortley Road Baptist church and the newly-organized Elmwood Avenue Continuing Presbyterian church will hold joint services during the summer months.

Since the Elmwood avenue church has no church edifice as yet, the joint services will be held in the Wortley road church. Rev. R. J. Murphy of the Wortley road church will have charge of these services during July, while the Presbyterians are making arrangements for the pulpit supply during August.

Incidentally the Elmwood avenue church has been informally hearing a number of ministers during recent Sundays and hopes to appoint a pastor shortly after June 10, in which case the new appointee would be on the ground to take charge of the joint service during August.
