Be a Copy of these Resolutions Forwarded to the Delegates of the Labor Day Convention.

The credentials of the delegates from the Typographical Union, Messrs. W. G. McNeil and Wilson, and the Teamsters Union, Messrs. Freeman, Coulson and Clark, were received.

Vancouver, Aug. 7.—(Special)—Mr. McNicol, of Vancouver, was a passenger on the Islander from Skagway this morning. Mr. McNicol claims to have made the quickest round trip on record. Steamer Moana Arrives at 8 p.m. Yester Day From Sydney Via Brisbane and Honolulu.

Steamer Moana arrived about 8 p.m. yesterday from Sydney via Brisbane and Honolulu. When she sailed from Sydney it was arranged that she would make a fast trip, and arriving here two days ahead of time, catch the Atlantic steamer Campania, and make a record trip for her mails, beating the mails which were despatched by the planes, the engineers reported a slight accident to the steamer's boilers after leaving Brisbane, and the vessel could not make the test run she had intended. She left Sydney on July 15, Brisbane on the 17th and arriving at Honolulu on the 30th, sailed again the same day for Victoria, and had strong northwest winds up the coast. It was intended on her arrival that she would leave for Vancouver last night, but finding that the mail connections could not be made owing to the delay, Capt. Carey, granted the request of a deputation of passengers who waited upon him when the steamer arrived here, and decided to remain over until 5 p.m. Sunday, thus giving the passengers some time to spend in Victoria and giving them a chance to see the scenery of the Gulf, of which they had heard.

Steamer Islander Arrived Back From Skagway Yesterday Afternoon After Another Fast Trip.

Steamer Islander arrived back from Skagway yesterday afternoon after another fast trip. She sailed from Skagway on Sunday, and landed her passengers bound to the United States in Vancouver yesterday morning in time to catch the south-bound train. She brought down about $100,000 in gold, of which Purse Bishop had his share on the voyage about $30,000. Of the gold brought down by the Islander, John La France, who has been taking in cattle to the Yukon district, and who departed at Vancouver, brought down $100,000, M. T. Brewer, a Seattle gold passenger had $7,000, including fine looking nugget valued at $125; O. Henderson, also bound to Seattle, brought out $5,000; John Box, of Vancouver, had $2,500; J. H. Miller, of Seattle, had $2,500; a number of others of the 57 passengers, 31 en route to United States points and thirteen for Victoria, and a similar number for Vancouver, brought large or small amounts of gold and money in drafts. The Victoria passengers were Miss Shrapnell and Miss Conway, who made the round trip; J. Campbell, Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, R. S. Shier, Capt. Parsons, P. Craig, Miss E. Watson, Miss Nesbitt and L. C. Winward.

Passengers Brought One Hundred Thousand Dollars in Treasure.

News was brought by the Islander from Dawson on date of Friday, last, that George O'Brien, the condemned murderer Clayton Olson and Reife, made an attempt to escape on Friday night. A Dawson despatch says: "A handkerchief around his throat and sprang out of bed and battered his head against the wall. O'Brien is sentenced to hang on August 23rd next. He will probably be placed in the electric chair. A despatch from White Horse to the Skagway News under last Saturday's date says:

The Laying off of the Steamers of the B. N. C. Co. has caused many of the steamer men out of employment, and they are beginning to get out of the city.

Some of the men have contracts for the season, but there is a clause in their contract which lets the company out of responsibility, in case the man is discharged or the steamer is laid off.

As the men were all employed in Victoria or Vancouver and came up expecting to work the season through, some of them are now complaining over being turned off and may sue the company for a full season's pay.

The captains and pilots are in better shape than the balance of the crews and will probably be able to find employment elsewhere. As the men were all employed in Victoria or Vancouver and came up expecting to work the season through, some of them are now complaining over being turned off and may sue the company for a full season's pay.
