

LONDON.
-WATSON. 232

n the "fantasies,"
ect. . . . We may

lar.
it there is more in
read nothing more
second fantasy, or
nd each one is full
olish a little gem
y great stone into

e.
Weekly Sun.
is all his own, a
probability irritate
er to frenzy; but
is of pleasure and
; it has an aptness,
nd its quaintness
he uses of words,
who rejoice in all
ish prose is chief
on's book will be

By W. E.
tc. With Six
vn 8vo, 3s. 6d.
[Ready.

s perpetual good
s author's pen.'—

en of Mr. W. E.
saying that the
unt and readable

humorous, softly
digies, and they
okseller who is
ure.'—Newcastle

cate vignette of
nd, and happy
ks, but it is full
of literary form,
eal life, and the
o is supposed to
autocratic old-
fortunes of the
she is a very
more of her.'—

is's accustomed

ON, W.C.