

Ammonoconia to our fauna. A. badicollis Grote, referred to that genus in the List, is a true Agrotis. I have examined the two European species of this genus, and am satisfied that it can not be retained there.

I remain yours truly,

H. K. MORRISON.

Dr. Harris, writing to Hentr. (Harr. Cor., p. 11), says: "Have you ever seen a Rhagium? In January I obtained from beneath the bark of a tree nearly twenty males and females of R. lineatum Oliver."

My object in writing is to ask your readers if they have ever found R. lineatum at such a time of the year and in such a situation. In the summer of 1873 (being absent from home I cannot give the exact dates but probably in May or June) I spent a week in Baltimore, Md., and every morning captured several examples of this species on the walls of a church—none elsewhere. I learned from Mr. Baumhauer, of that city, that he also had taken the same species at the same place several years, in succession.

RARE CAPTURES.

On the 15th Sept., as my brother and myself were returning from an Entomological foray, I saw something like a flash of orange light flit past me, and turning, I saw an insect which I did not know was found here, viz., Colias eurytheme. Away it was flying like a ray of sunlight, flitting from flower to flower, resting only for about the smallest conceivable portion of time, and it was only after a long and exciting chase that I managed to capture my prize. It was in beautiful condition, apparently just fresh from chrysalis, and I consider myself very lucky in obtaining it.

Among our rarities, I would also mention a very fine specimen of Smerinthus modesta which I obtained from a friend who found it clinging to the eaves of his cottage. We have also among our Catocalidæ, a specimen of C. concumbens with abdomen of a bright pink on the upper surface, closely resembling the European C. pacta in this respect, only the color is not quite so vivid.

C. W. PEARSON, Montreal.

CORRECTIONS.—Gaspé is on the south shore of the St. Lawrence, opposite Anticosti. In my note on p. 18 regarding P. brevicanda, you make it north. Also, Mr. Edward's name should have been inserted as the writer of the leading quotation in the article on Glaucopsyche Couperi.—WM. COUPER, 67 Bonaventure St., Montreal.
