Hon. W. T. White at Kingston Speaks on Struggle for Freedom of Globe.

Special to The Toronto World, KINGSTON, Dec. 29.—Hon. W. T. White, minister of finance, was the guest of honor tonight at the 15th annual banquet of the local knights of the grip. The affair was a brilliant one, held at the Randolph Hotel, where several hundred people gathered around the festive board. W. G. McArthur, chief grip man, presided. Among the other speakers of the evening were: W. F. Nickle, M.P.; Mayor Shaw and Ald. R. D. Sutherland. Mr. White, president of the grip, and Robert Meek, president of the board of trade, Mr. White arrived in the city late this afternoon from Ottawa, and on inspection of the 21st Battalion in the armories, the weather being unfavorable for an outdoor review. Mr. White has a son, Lieut. White, in the 21st Battalion. He is attached to the mechanical gun section.

His address Mr. White dealt with the cause of the war, Prussian military ambition, which had left her without a friend in the world.

Mr. White said that the war had cast its shadow and its gloom over the Yuletide festivities throughout the world. This year was going out in flames and blood. The humanity was not extinguished in Flanders and in Poland was due to the spirit of Christ, the spirit of sacrifice, being done by innumerable hands throughout the world for the relief of distress, for the comfort of soldiers, in the charity, the self-sacrifice, the magnanimity of those on the firing line, that spirit was shining as brightly as it shone in the star of Bethlehem.

Dealing with the outbreak of the war and the relations between Great Britain and Germany which preceded it, he said that those relations had become strained only after Germany's departure from the traditional friendly policy of British neutrality, having as its officially avowed object the creation of a fleet of such strength that conflict with the strongest naval power, that is, Great Britain, would involve risks threatening the supremacy of that power. The fixed and steadfast policy of Great Britain had been to maintain the balance of power in continental Europe and her own supremacy at sea. Both, and especially the latter, were vital to her existence and that of the empire.

Not a friend in World. Germany claimed that Great Britain had acquired her colonies by aggression and asks why she should not by aggression strip them from her. The premise is false. The colonies which Britain has acquired from other nations were obtained incidentally to the settlement of wars which she had provoked in defence of her own liberties and the liberties of Europe against the ambitious designs of Spanish and French despots.

Germany had calculated that Great Britain might stand aloof in this war. Despotism government usually miscast because of its insomniac passions.

Under the leadership of the latter-day ambitious Kaiser and the Prussian war party surrounding him, Germany had added world-policy to British policy, and pressed it with such selfish and high-handed aggressiveness that she found herself without a friend in the world. There had been no courtesy, no civility, no magnanimity in her dealings with other nations. It had been the ruthless, the unscrupulous, the branding of the mailed fist, until the whole world had become alarmed and armaments were multiplied until the nations groaned beneath the load.

False German Claims. Germany claimed that Great Britain had acquired her colonies by aggression and asks why she should not by aggression strip them from her. The premise is false. The colonies which Britain has acquired from other nations were obtained incidentally to the settlement of wars which she had provoked in defence of her own liberties and the liberties of Europe against the ambitious designs of Spanish and French despots.
