The garden party given by Mr. and Mrs. Dunlop on Saturday was a tremendous success, and the company of geologists and friends stayed until long after the time on the invitation, which is a proof of the party having been appreciated. The beautiful grounds were looking even better than usual from the morning's rain, and the lawn, terraces, and flower beds were green and fresh. The garden was edged with marigolds, and the flower beds were full of flowers of all sorts, making a riot of color. Mr. and Mrs. Dunlop received on the terrace near the front of the house. The hostess, who is a great favorite, looked handsome in a French gown of gold satin with deep hem of white satin, with real lace tunic, a platinum and diamond necklace and earrings, and a large black lace hat with white Brussels lace across the crown, inset with medallions of pink velvet roses, and a strap under the chin of black velvet. Also receiving were Mrs. J. B. Tyrrell, who always has a nice word for everybody, and who looked very well in a Dresden gown over white satin, with little puffs of pale blue satin, a wide brimmed black hat with blue velvet and flowers, and a necklace of gold nuggets, from the Klondike, with the added interest of having been washed out by herself. Mrs. Adams, wife of the president of the Geological Society, from Montreal, who wore a very handsome draped gown of deep blue crepe broche, and straw hat with gold and blue feathers and a wreath of yellow cowslips and velvet, forged no notes. Mrs. Parks, who wore black satin with lace and pale blue satin and a black hat with willow plumes. Tea was dispensed from a large marquee on the east side of the spacious lawn, the long table decorated with many silver bowls and vases of flowers, and the men of the 48th Highlanders' band brightened the lower terrace with their uniforms, and during the afternoon the band, headed by the pipers, Master Moffat Dunlop in kilts, and all the rest of the smartest Highlanders, played the most delightful music. A few of the hundreds present were: Dr. Adams, Dr. A. F. Coleman, Miss Coleman, Dr. A. H. Phillips, Princeton; Mr. and Mrs. John Murray Clark, the latter wearing a very handsome white gown trimmed with real lace and diamond and pearl ornaments; Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Holman, Penn, the latter wearing a black gown, the lace bodice over white lace, and a small black hat and pearl ornaments; the president of Toronto University, M. Chalmers, Dr. and Mrs. F. R. C. Reed, Cambridge; Dr. Kwong Yung Kwang, Dr. Strachan, England; Mr. Bedford MacNeill, Mrs. MacNeill, in a gown of flowered chiffon over satin; Dr. and Mrs. Kemp (England), the latter in King's blue crepe de chine and a black hat; Dr. and Mrs. Matthews (St. John, N.B.), the latter in black silk and a black bonnet with tulle and tiny yellow roses; Mrs. John King, Mr. Claude Fox, Mrs. Fox, in a very handsome gown of real lace and blue satin with hat to match; Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Ely, Mr. Fudger and Miss Martha Fudger, Madame Hoffman, in a frock of Valenciennes lace and pale blue and white Napoleon hat; Miss Hoffman, in white; Mrs. Gerhard Heintzman, looking very well in a gown of white and blue; Mrs. Bascom, Mrs. Palm, St. Henry Miers, Mr. and Mrs. Ferrier, Mr. A. G. Charleton, Mrs. Charleton, in mauve with white Brussels lace and a small black hat; Dr. Caddell (Scotland), Mrs. Arthur Meredith, Mrs. Burden, in a gown of white and blue; Mrs. Burden and Miss Margaret Burden occupying their cottage near Windsor, Mrs. Greta Burden is expected to join them this week.

Care of Baby in Summer

So far our summer has been fairly good to the baby. We have had very little of that prostrating heat that plays such havoc with the young, the weak, and the aged. It is not likely, however, that we can get thru August and September without some hot days, and from the number of anxious queries I am receiving, I take it that many young mothers are living from day to day in dread of a hot spell. There is absolutely no need for worry if you exercise ordinary judgment. Of course I know that in the case of sickly babies, the summer is a hard time, but remember the nursery gives directions and advice for well babies unless otherwise stated. The question of weaning a baby in summer has already been discussed, but evidently there are still some in doubt upon this point. I believe it is easier and safer to wean a baby in summer than to let him starve on insufficient mother's milk. The danger is much less. Then comes the question, what shall take the place of mother's milk? Modified cow's milk, gradually introduced into the diet. If you are to continue to nurse your baby thru the hot weather you must, first of all, stop worrying. Worry is the worst possible thing for your milk, and might be enough alone to cause illness in the baby. Summer is trying for mothers who have to remain in the city, but there are many things you can do to make it easier, so that you and baby may pass a fairly comfortable season.

In the first place, always remember that on a very warm day the baby's digestive organs are not so strong as in the cool weather. Therefore you must help him by making the food a little weaker and easier to digest. If you are nursing the baby the food must be diluted in his stomach instead of before it goes there, as in the case of bottle-fed babies. Every very hot day give your baby one ounce of barley water for each nursing. And between feedings offer him one ounce of cool water—boiled, then cooled.

After the very latest fashion, the edges are lapped in place on being seamed and at the front, they can be curved or straight at the lower edge. Gatherings at the upper edge are found in the latest and most fashionable models. When made with the high waist line, the skirt is arranged over webbing with the natural waist line, it is joined to a belt after the regulation manner.
