

cause we know that every spiritual force imprisoned in a physical or material frame always seeks to rise to the highest point as smoke ascends or as steam glides upward. The brain is the centre of spiritual power for body and soul. The human brain is an electrical battery of the most powerful sort, generating and receiving waves of spiritual electricity. The brain is the centre of thought vibration. Thought is vibration in its finest form. Thought is the connecting link between God and man. You cannot think of God without touching Him.

“Guard well thy thoughts,
For thoughts are heard in heaven.”

Health, peace and power depend on a perfect vibration between the mind of God and the mind of man. When two pianos, in perfect accord, are in the same room, one responds to the vibration of the other. The law of spiritual power is harmonious relationship with the spiritual world. An electric car moving on a dead level will make a dead stop the moment the trolley is off. It is then out of touch. The secret of power is to have the conditions right. The old saints “agonized” in prayer, but the secret of power is not “agony” but harmony. “Get right with God,” says the plain-spoken evangelist. “In tune with the Infinite” is the phraseology of the cultured penman. A Scotchman, standing on the top of the Cheviot Hills and pointing northward over Scotland, and southward over England, and eastward over the German ocean, and then backward
